MISS DREIER FINDS SHE IS NOT A WIFE

Edward Trumbull, Artist, Not Legally Free When He Married Brooklyn Society Girl.

WEDDING CARDS RECALLED

Immediately After Ceremony Trumbull Went West to See Sick Mother—Miss Dreier Followed and Learned Truth.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Edward Dreier of 6 Montague Terrace, Brooklyn, through their lawyer, George D. Beattys of 49 Wall Street, issued a formal statement yesterday recalling the cards sent out by them announcing the marriage on Aug. 8 last of Miss Katherine S. Dreier, Mr. Dreier's sister, to Edward Trumbull, an artist. In explanation Mr. Beattys said it had been ascertained that Mr. Trumbull was not legally free from a former wife, as he had believed when he married Miss Dreier.

Miss Dreier is one of the most prominent young women socially in Brooklyn, and is a sister of Miss Mary Dreier, President of the Woman's Trades Union League in Manhattan. Mr. Trumbull, who is about 27 years old, several years the junior of Miss Dreier, belongs to one of the oldest families in Connecticut, being a member of the Trumbull-Smith family of Stonington and a descendant of Jonathan Trumbull, the famous "Brother Jonathan," who was one of the Colonial Governors of Connecticut.

In addition to the facts given above, the statement issued from the office of Mr. Beattys said:

> Mr. Trumbull left the city for the West immediately after the ceremony, being called there by the serious illness of his mother, and has not returned here. Miss Dreier has left on an extended trip, and will be gone several months.

Last night Mr. Beattys was asked to amplify his statement about the case.

"When did Miss Dreier find out," he was asked, "that Mr. Trumbull had been married in England, from which, as you say in the statement, he had not been legally freed?"

"I do not know positively, but as I understand it, she learned it when she went to Detroit some days after the departure of Mr. Trumbull."

Mr. Beattys added in answer to another question that he understood that it was Mr. Trumbull himself who told Miss Dreier of the serious error he had committed when he married her. Mr. Beattys also said that he understood that Mr. Trumbull had a child in England.

"What action will the family take in the matter?" Mr. Beattys was asked.

"None is contemplated that I know of," he answered, "and, anyway, that matter is one for the State and not us."

At the home of Mr. Dreier on Montague Terrace a young woman who said she was Miss Dreier's secretary talked with a TIMES reporter. She said Miss Dreier was not in New York, and added that she was not at liberty to say where she was. She did say, however, that Mr. Trumbull had not communicated with Miss Dreier recently, and that the family had no information as to his present whereabouts. She said there was no present intention of bringing any action against Mr. Trumbull.

Miss Dreier met Mr. Trumbull about two years ago at Stonington, Conn., near which place the Dreiers have a Summer home, and where many of Mr. Trumbull's relatives live. She is said to have met him also during a trip to Europe.

Mr. Trumbull married Miss Dreier at her home on the afternoon of Aug. 8. The wedding was to have taken place the following afternoon in the German Church, in Schermerhorn Street, but was advanced, as announced at the time, owing to the serious illness in Detroit of Mrs. Faxon, the mother of Mr. Trumbull. Preparations had been completed for the church wedding and a reception to follow at the Dreier home when Mr. Trumbull received a telegram from Detroit telling him that his mother had been taken suddenly ill and was in a serious condition. Mr. Trumbull called up the family physician in Detroit on the telephone and was told that if he wished to see his mother alive he had better take the first train.

Mr. Trumbull communicated with Miss Dreier, and it was decided to have the ceremony performed at once and in time for him to take the 5:30 P. M. train for Detroit. The bride's relatives were summoned, and also a Miss Smith who is said to be Mr. Trumbull's only relative in New York. The ceremony was then performed, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. Raymond Robins, a brother-in-law of Miss Dreier. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. Trumbull bade his bride good-bye and hurried to the Grand Central Station, arriving there just in time to catch his train for the West.

A day or two later Mr. Trumbull telegraphed to Miss Dreier to come to Detroit, and she did so, accompanied by Mr. Robins. It was on her arrival there, Mr. Beattys states, that she learned for the first time that Mr. Trumbull had been previously married and that he was not legally free from that wife, who was then and, according to the statement, is still somewhere in England, London being supposed to be the place, because it was in London that Mr. Trumbull has worked as an artist during most of the time in recent years.

At the Dreier home Mr. Trumbull was described by Miss Dreier's secretary as a pleasant-appearing young man who looked to be about 25 years old, clean shaven, slender, and very cultured. He is said to have made a very good reputation in London as a mural painter. He dropped the Smith part of his name, it is said, because he thought that Trumbull sounded better for artistic purposes than Trumbull-Smith. At the time of the marriage of Mr. Trumbull and Miss Dreier it was stated that the couple would eventually go to London, where it was said that some of Miss Dreier's paintings, she too, being an artist, would be hung at the October exhibition in the Doré Gallery.

Miss Katherine S. Dreier is the youngest of the four daughters of the late Theodore Dreier. Misses Katherine and Dorothea are both devoted to painting, while Miss Mary Dreier and Mrs. Robins have been prominent in social betterment work for many years. Miss Katherine has also been identified with many social and charitable movements for the betterment of workingwomen.

$12,000,000 POWER PROJECT.

Company to Dam the Deerfield River Near Shelburne Falls, Vt.

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—A project for the hydro-electric development of the Deerfield River, promoted by interests connected with a Connecticut River power company, was launched here to-day by the completion of an underwriting agreement for the issuance of $3,000,000 5 per cent. forty year gold bonds, and $750,000 6 per cent. cumulative preferred stock. It is understood that the ultimate expenditures will reach $12,000,000.

The engineering estimates for the first stages of development provide for the generation of 25,000 horse power. Initial construction will result in damming the Deerfield River in four places near Shelburne Falls, Vt., as well as the creation of a reservoir at Somerset, Vt., where water will be impounded to a height of [illegible] feet over an area of [illegible] square miles.

CHILD DIES OF FRIGHT.

Thought Mother, Hurt in Auto and Wagon Crash, Had Been Killed.

Special to The New York Times.

MATTEAWAN, N. Y., Aug. 21.—When she was told that the wagon in which her father and mother were riding to this village from Tioronda, a suburb, yesterday afternoon, had been struck by an automobile, Adelle Kourhi, 8 years old, immediately went into convulsions and died a few hours later. Doctors who were called to attend the child said she died of fright.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kourhi, well-known residents of Tioronda, were driving to this village and were coming down a steep hill, when a large touring car struck the rear of their wagon, throwing Mrs. Kourhi out and badly injuring her. She was picked up by the autoists, placed in their machine, and hurried to the Highland Hospital in this village. Her injuries were not serious. Mr. Kourhi was not hurt.

When the news of the accident was told to the little girl she sobbed, "Then my mamma's killed," and before any one could pacify her and inform her that her mother would be all right in a few days, she fainted away, and then went into hysterics, from which she died.

FIND FIRE WHILE DRILLING.

Crew of John Sylvester at Practice Discover Smoke in Engine Room.

While the United States Steamboat Inspectors were watching the crew of the excursion steamboat John Sylvester going through their fire drill about 3:30 yesterday afternoon a fire was discovered among some waste in the engine room and a volume of smoke rolled up out of the hatch. The vessel was bound for Rockaway Beach with 200 passengers on board and was off Fort Hamilton. The crew had the hose run out at the time and it was an easy matter to play on the smoking waste and get the fire under control before any damage had been done.

Women who had children with them became uneasy and Capt. Risley put into Fort Hamilton. The John Sylvester remained there an hour while those passengers who wished to do so, went ashore and at 4:30 she started again for Rockaway, arriving there at 5:30 and leaving at 6 P. M. with 900 passengers on board who were landed at the Battery at 7:40, the schedule hour for returning.

MONEYLESS IN EUROPE.

Many American Students Eager to Borrow Enough to Get Home.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 21.—Europe is full of penniless American college men anxious to borrow enough money to get home, according to Frank P. Bagnall, son of A. C. Bagnall, Principal of East School, Lakewood, who has just returned from a European tour which cost him exactly $80 in cash.

Bagnall made the trip in company with Carlton Small, son of a Jamestown, N. Y., minister, who, like himself, is a student at Adelbert College here. Starting out early in July with only $25 in their pockets they visited London, Paris, and other European points for 26 days and then returned to America. They worked their way across the ocean, going and coming, earned a little money after arriving, and borrowed the remainder of the sum required to pay their expenses from friends they met in Paris.

"We met American college men doing Europe like ourselves wherever we went," said Bagnall to-day. "Almost invariably they were 'broke' and wanted to borrow money to get home."

Bagnall and Small had 6 cents apiece when they arrived in Paris.

HUNT FOR KERMIT ROOSEVELT

Troops Asked to Look for Him Along Lower California Border.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 21.—Kermit Roosevelt, son of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, is believed to be near Campo, in Lower California. Word was sent to Lieut. Frank Drake of the 115th Coast Artillery Corps at Campo this morning, asking that his troops be instructed to keep a lookout for the young man and give aid if he is in trouble. The word has been sent all along the border as far as Imperial Valley, and all Americans along the line are on the lookout.

Young Roosevelt is accompanied by Francesco Dominguez, a Mexican, who is well known on the peninsula. Fear for the Colonel's son is felt because it is believed he is in the vicinity of the rebel rendezvous in Lower California. The American troops reached the border at 11 o'clock this morning.

No word has been had directly from the Roosevelt party since they crossed the boundary more than a week ago. While the authorities do not think the young man is in trouble, it is realized by every one along the border that he is in a dangerous position, as a number of bands of robbers are at large in Lower California and the rebels, unorganized and lawless, are active in the very territory in which the hunting party is supposed to be.

NEW CHICAGO SKYSCRAPERS.

Two, Which Will Cost $6,000,000, Authorized by the City.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Chicago is to have two new skyscrapers, the estimated cost of which will aggregate $6,000,000. Permits for their construction were issued to-day by the Commissioner of Buildings.

The Continental and Commercial National Bank will proceed at once with the construction of a large office building, covering the block bounded by Quincy, West Adams, and South La Salle Streets and South Fifth Avenue, which will be the largest office building in Chicago. It will have three stories below ground, twenty stories above, reaching to a height of 260 feet, and on top of these will be the coping and spires.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company will erect a new building for railroad and general office purposes at the southwest corner of West Jackson Boulevard and South Clinton Street at a cost of $1,500,000. It will be 260 feet high, containing twenty stories, all of which will be used by the road. The first floor will be ticket and real estate offices and telegraph and telephone rooms. The building will be Gothic in type. It will occupy 5,368,875 cubic feet of space and give 320,000 square feet of floor space.

To Break Open Bidwell's Desk.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 21.—The State Racing Commission issued a call to-day for a meeting in this city next Wednesday to consider the disappearance of W. E. Bidwell, Secretary of that body, who has not been heard from since early in July. His place will be declared vacant and his desk and safe will be broken open unless word is received from him before the meeting. Bidwell was formerly Assistant Secretary of [illegible].

LYNCHING SUSPECT FIGHTS ARREST

Man Said to be a Leader of Mob Which Burned Negro Caught at Railroad Station.

HOSPITAL DOOR NOT FORCED

Evidence Now Said to Show It Was Opened by a Leader of the Coatesville Mob from Inside.

Special to The New York Times.

COATESVILLE, Penn., Aug. 21.—What is expected to be one of the most important arrests since the investigation into the lynching of "Zack" Walker, the negro slayer of Policeman Edgar Rice, began, was made here to-night. A man who said his name was H. Smith and that he lived in Philadelphia, was taken into custody. While District Attorney Gawthrop would say little more than that Smith was charged with murder, his manner as he left the police station after the arrest showed it was of more than usual importance. Pressed for a statement, Mr. Gawthrop said:

"All I will say at this time is that Smith is charged with murder. I will not say what part he took or how we came to suspect him. We have the evidence dead against him, however."

Soon after the arrest it was reported that Smith was one of the leaders of the mob which lynched the negro.

Smith was arrested through a description which it is said was furnished the District Attorney by one of the men now in prison. It was learned this afternoon that he was about to leave town, and a policeman was sent to find him. The policeman caught Smith at the Pennsylvania Railroad station. First he said he was going to Lancaster, and later to Philadelphia, and when the policeman told him he was wanted at the police station he refused to go, and had to be taken by force.

Later, when District Attorney Gawthrop ordered him held, he refused to allow the handcuffs to be put upon him, and cried:

"You haven't got anything on me. I want a hearing. You're not the Squire. You cannot lock me up without a hearing. What do you take me for, a poor kid that cannot take care of himself?"

He continued to resist until he was put on a trolley car by Policeman Branson and one of the State police.

Deputy Attorney General W. W. Trinkle, representing Gov. Tener and the Attorney General's department, called unexpectedly on the county officials this evening and went over the lynching case thoroughly.

After his visit it was announced that although it has been testified by witnesses that the door of the hospital was broken in on the night of the lynching, not a scratch could be found about the door or the latch which showed that it had been forced. A pane of glass was found to have been broken in a window opening from the basement of the hospital which would allow a man to reach in, unhook the latch, and swing the window open. This window is on a level with the ground.

The theory now advanced is that one of the leaders of the mob entered the hospital in this way, proceeded from the nurses' dining room into which the window opened into the basement proper, and thence by means of a corridor and stairway to the first floor, where he opened the main door to the lynchers. If this was so, the man must have passed in full view of every one and in front of the policeman in charge. There is a chandelier hanging in the hall.

Stanley Howe, the policeman on duty at the hospital on the night of the lynching, said this evening that it was impossible for him to tell who the leaders of the mob were, for, as the arrests seem to indicate, they were men from out of town whom he did not know.

KILLED UNDER FIRE TRUCK.

Newark Driver Thrown from His Seat—Other Firemen Hurt.

Hook and Lader Truck 3 of the Newark Fire Department, racing to a fire yesterday afternoon, ran into a worn spot in the road at Bruce Street and Prospect Place. Alfred L. Biebel, the driver, was tossed from his seat, and the rear wheels of the truck ran over him.

The horses raced ahead, and Fireman Henry Royer tried to climb over the swaying piece of apparatus and catch the reins. He, too, was thrown to the ground, where he lay unconscious. Fireman Fred Menger was catapulted from the speeding truck and struck the pavement heavily.

At Fifteenth Avenue the horses ran into a fire hydrant, wrecking the truck and tossing off the remaining firemen, six in number. All were bruised and battered. Biebel, Royer, and Menger meantime had been picked up and hurried to the City Hospital. There it was found that Biebel had internal injuries, and he died within a few hours. Royer's leg was found to be broken. Menger, battered and bruised, was able to go home after his wounds had been dressed.

The fire to which the truck had been going was a small one in a kitchen in 8 Fairview Avenue.

RAIDERS FIND 40 MEN.

Five Arrests for Gambling in 43d Street House—Axes Used.

A large crowd from Broadway gathered in front of 120 West Forty-third Street yesterday afternoon to watch a raid on an alleged gambling house on the first floor of the old-fashioned dwelling. Deputy Police Commissioner McKay, with Lieut. Becker and eleven detectives, made the raid.

Several men were sent to the roof through adjoining buildings, others to the rear yard, and then several more, armed with axes, attacked the front door. When this was battered down they found another ice box door inside. Finally the officers reached the inner room, where forty men were gathered.

According to the detectives, there was a crap table, racing charts, telephones, and other paraphernalia of a gambling house and poolroom. The raiders had six warrants, issued by Chief Magistrate McAdoo, but they served only five of them. The others in the room were allowed to go.

A policeman obtained the evidence against the place. In the pocket of one of the prisoners was found a $5 bill which is said to have been initialed by the policeman who obtained the evidence.

PARSONS STOP BULLFIGHT.

March to Ground in Body When Sunday Contest is Advertised.

Special to The New York Times.

HELENA, Ark., Aug. 21.—Protest on the part of the Helena Ministers' Association, which marched in a body to West End Park, prevented the holding of a bullfight which had been heralded for a week or more to take place yesterday afternoon. The demonstration served to convince both the Sunday audience and the management, and the elaborately planned and advertised contest was called off. The ministers threatened to ask for the militia, if necessary, to enforce the laws of Arkansas.

The spectators' money was refunded.

FRANCE IS MAKING WAR PREPARATIONS

Papers Refrain from Emphasizing Them So as Not to Embarrass Government.

ACTIVITY AT NAVAL PORTS

Officials Intimate Agreement with Germany Will Be Reached if French Moderation Can Effect It.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Although the negotiations between France and Germany looking to a settlement of the Moroccan dispute have been suspended for the present, the attitude of the French Foreign Office is that a settlement will be arranged ultimately if inexhaustible patience and moderation on the part of France can bring it about.

Conferences between Premier Caillaux and Foreign Minister de Selves upon the subject are frequent. Public opinion appears to trust the Government implicitly.

The newspapers are cautious in their comment to a degree that is rare in France. They refrain, because of a desire not to embarrass the Government, from emphasizing in the least degree the quiet military preparations which are being made steadily in consequence of Ministerial orders.

The naval ports are busy making the vessels ready for active service. This activity is partly explained as preparation for the naval review off Toulon on Sept. 4, when President Fallières will review eighteen battleships, six of which are of the Dreadnought type; nine armored cruisers, and thirty war vessels of the smaller classes.

HOUNDS FIND LOST CHILD.

Traced Five Miles from Beach Where Webbers Left Baby Daughter.

Special to The New York Times.

NORTHPORT, L. I., Aug. 21.—Through the keen scent of two bloodhounds, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Webber of this place, who had been missing for twenty-seven hours, was restored this evening to her parents.

The Webbers went to Fort Solonga Beach yesterday for an outing. Later in the evening they left the child playing in the sand, while they walked along the beach. Some time later, when they looked for the child, she had disappeared. A searching party was formed and the neighborhood was scoured, but without result.

To-day the Long Island Railroad police were asked to loan bloodhounds to assist in the search, and this afternoon two of their dogs were brought here. The child's shoes and stockings had been removed when she was left on the beach, and the bloodhounds were taken to the spot where she was last seen and given the shoes for a scent.

The animals immediately started off on a trail with Mr. Webber and some of his neighbors following close behind. After four hours' work they tracked the child to a spot five miles from where she had disappeared. She was asleep on the grass, only four feet from the edge of a creek.

WIFE CRUEL, SAYS PERCIVAL.

Kicked Him Out of Their Auto—Names Fifteen Co-respondents.

Special to The New York Times.

RENO, Nev., Aug. 21.—L. A. Dalrymple Percival, President of the Amalgamated Paint Company, New York, and a kinsman of the Earl of Stair, testified to-day in the District Court to various acts of extreme cruelty on the part of his wife, Mrs. Ethel Percival. Mr. Percival had a list of fifteen wealthy New Yorkers, with whom he charged his wife had been too friendly, but he only related specific acts in connection with one, Douglas Grand, who he said was a horse owner of London and New York.

Mr. Percival also told how his wife called him names, beat him and otherwise abused him. He related one instance when he and his wife were motoring. He accused her of being too friendly with another man. She retaliated by kicking him out of the automobile and compelling him to walk to town, he said.

The Percival case will test the "time lock" divorce law. He came to Nevada a year ago, but has spent the greater part of the time in the East on business. He said that his wife and her brother were endeavoring to ruin his business by giving away his paint formulas and business secrets to his competitors. His assertions in this respect were backed up by affidavits of William Anderson and William Newsome, Vice President and manager respectively of the United Fruit Company of Boston.

The case will be argued next Wednesday and if the decree is denied will be taken to the Supreme Court.

L. A. BRYAN ASKS DIVORCE.

Man Whom Gary Made Rich Married His Late Wife's Companion.

Special to The New York Times.

GARY, Ind., Aug. 21.—Charging cruel and inhuman treatment and desertion, Louis A. Bryan, who made a large fortune out of the establishment of the steel city, has filed suit in the Lake Superior Court, at Crown Point, for divorce from Ethel V. Thayer Bryan, to whom he has been married less than a year. He asks that his wife be restrained from disposing of any of her jewelry.

Mrs. Bryan has not been at her home, Island Park, in South Gary, for more than two months, but her absence caused no comment, as the Bryans did considerable traveling. It is thought that she is at the home of her father, Albert M. Thayer, 1,331 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago.

The Bryans were married Nov. 24, 1910, by Mayor Thomas E. Knotts. Miss Thayer had been companion to Judge Bryan's first wife, who died early last year. She is 27 and her husband 54. Mr. Bryan gave her as wedding gifts diamonds to the value of $10,000 and a $5,000 touring car. Their honeymoon was a motor trip through Cuba and Mexico.

Mr. Bryan owned swamp land on what is now the site of Gary. With the advent of the United States Steel Corporation he found himself in the possession of 7,000 valuable city lots. He served as a Justice of the Peace some years ago. He is now President of the Chamber of Commerce.

TWELVE MEN CHOSEN FOR BEATTIE JURY

Defense's Right to Challenge Four of These Requires Another Venire and Delay.

ACCUSED COOL AND SMILING

Man Charged with Dastardly Murder of His Wife on Auto Ride Pleads Not Guilty.

Special to The New York Times.

CHESTERFIELD COURT HOUSE, Va., Aug. 21.—At the end of the first day of the trial in the Chesterfield Circuit Court of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., indicted for the murder of his wife, Louise Owen Beattie, in the course of an automobile ride on Midlothian Turnpike on the night of July 18, twelve jurors had already been selected. As, however, the defense has the right to challenge peremptorily four of these, a special venire of thirty-two more will be summoned. In order to allow time to assemble these venire men Judge Walter A. Watson, presiding, ordered a recess till Wednesday noon.

The jurors so far selected, all but two of them, are farmers from the county. The two exceptions are a quarryman and a contractor. They were selected from a panel of thirty-two men.

Judge Watson declined to grant the request of the defense for a week's further delay, and overruled all motions to quash the indictment. The accused stood steadily, but with his eyes closed, while the indictment was being read, and at the conclusion, upon his lawyer's prompting, pleaded "Not guilty" in a clear voice.

Beattie was brought from the Henrico County Jail, fifteen miles distant, in a motor car, accompanied by several officers. He smiled as he stepped from the car, and during the day posed for several photographers, showing little trace of nervousness or apprehension of the future. He remarked to one friend that he would be with him in a few weeks, and is reported to have said that he would have an accounting with the newspaper men who have written things against him.

His jailers say he slept well, as he has done since his arrest more than a month ago. He dressed carefully, glanced at the morning papers, ate a light breakfast, and sat waiting in the jail corridor for his first trip in the open air since his imprisonment. He was chewing gum when he arrived.

Henry Clay Beattie, Sr., father of the accused, accompanied by his son, Douglas Beattie, and a party of friends, arrived at the Court House in a wagon drawn by two mules. He embraced his son, and his face showed the strain he has been under since the day the young man was arrested on the charge of killing his wife. The elder man's features are kindly; the son's features are rather cynical and have a touch of defiance, but do not lack character or strength.

Mr. Beattie, Sr., sat beside his son all day and followed the proceedings closely. Few words passed between him and the prisoner, who, though he showed little or no nervousness when the indictment was read, fretted a bit during the afternoon.

At times young Beattie whispered suggestions to his lawyers, H. M. Smith, Jr., and Hill Carter, and frequently he scanned with interest the newspaper "extras" giving the details of the proceedings.

Beulah Binford, the pretty 17-year-old girl who has been connected with the case, did not appear at the Court House. She is held in jail at Richmond as a material witness, but it was not deemed necessary to bring her here to-day. Paul Beattie, the prisoner's cousin, and one of the Commonwealth's chief witnesses, was also left in his cell at Richmond.

Mrs. Claudia Powell, sister of the Binford girl, appeared in the afternoon. She said simply that she had come because she was interested.

Before the trial began Judge Watson spent several minutes talking with the army of special newspaper correspondents and arranging seats. Meantime young Beattie leaned over the old walnut railing and talked with those near him; the old father sat silent stroking his gray hair. Dark circles showed under the prisoner's eyes, but otherwise he looked trim and cool.

There were perhaps a thousand persons around the old Court House during the day's proceedings, but few of them were from Richmond. The majority of the onlookers came from Chesterfield Court House and vicinity, and perhaps 200 of these were able to crowd into the small court room, which was jammed when the proceedings began at 10:20 A. M. To discourage the curious and idle the court ordered that all disinterested spectators stand up and remain standing. Two women newspaper writers were the only white representatives of the feminine sex in the yard or the court building.

Louis Wendenburg, assisting the prosecution, announced that he would have Henry W. Kidd, said to be a local detective, arrested on a charge of intimidating John Joseph, a confectioner of Main and Short Streets, who has been summoned by the Commonwealth to testify that Henry C. Beattie, Jr., used his telephone in arranging for a meeting with Paul Beattie previous to the murder.

The day's proceedings over, Sheriff Gill took Beattie back to the Richmond jail for safe keeping.

ROBS CAPT. WARD'S SISTER.

Head of Eldridge Street Police Joins in Chase for Fugitive.

George Waller, 27 years old, a clerk, living at 309 East Ninth Street, was locked up in the East Thirty-fifth Street Station last night on a charge of grand larceny, preferred by Miss Kate L. Ward of 149 East 121st Street, a sister of Acting Captain Ward of the Eldridge Street Station.

Capt. Ward and his sister had attended the theatre, and as the Captain was putting Miss Ward on a Third Avenue car at Forty-second Street and Third Avenue a young fellow sidled up and grabbed Miss Ward's gold mesh bag valued at $40. With the bag in his hand he darted down Forty-second Street to Second Avenue and then east. Acting Captain Ward pulled his whistle and gave several blasts. Patrolman Hensler of the East Thirty-fifth Street Station heard the call and saw a fleeing man. He gave chase followed by Ward and the young man was overtaken at Second Avenue and Forty-first Street. The gold mesh bag was still in his hand, the police assert.

ROOSEVELT CHECKS A BOOM.

POPE ABLE TO WORK.

He Also Hears Mass, but Return of the Heat Wave Keeps Him Indoors.

ROME, Aug. 21.—A return of the oppressive heat to-day prevented Pope Pius from taking an intended outing in the Vatican Gardens. Despite the rise in the temperature, however, his Holiness heard mass and conversed at length with Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal Secretary of State. Afterward he worked longer at his desk than at any other time since he has been ill.

The Pope to-day expressed a desire that he be permitted to begin again the holding of private audiences, as there are some persons who have been waiting to see him since the beginning of his illness.

BANKER FINED FOR SPEEDING.

W. J. Ehrich Arrested at Instance of Middletown Autoist.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Charged with speeding his auto through this place at thirty miles an hour, William J. Ehrich, who said that he was a banker in New York City, was arrested and fined $15. A Middletown automobilist thought that Ehrich was running at a dangerous speed and followed him up to get the number and then reported to the police.

When Ehrich stopped at a garage for gasoline he was arrested. He then entered a charge against the Middletown man for fast driving during the chase, but withdrew the charge when he learned he would have to stay here several hours to appear in court. He pleaded guilty and paid his fine.

WOMAN DIES IN A THEATRE.

Mrs. Lizzie Haybeck of Philadelphia Collapses of Heart Disease.

While the performance, a combination of moving pictures and vaudeville acts, was in progress in the Fourteenth Street Theatre last evening, Mrs. Lizzie Haybeck of 2610 North Woodstock Street, Philadelphia, fell forward in her chair in a balcony box. Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Fergan of 530 Fifth Street, her uncle and aunt, whom she was visiting, raised her and were terrified to find her unconscious.

Ushers were summoned and the woman was carried to a dressing room, where Dr. Horan was called from St. Vincent's Hospital. The surgeon declared that Mrs. Haybeck must have died almost instantly. He said heart disease had probably caused her death.

George Cameron, Contractor, Burned While Taking Barrel from Wagon.

George Cameron, 51 years old, a contractor of 2,168 Briggs Avenue, lost the sight of an eye yesterday when some lime got into it, thereby being slacked and destroying the eye.

Mr. Cameron was putting up a new building at 2,416 Southern Boulevard, and was helping unload a barrel of lime from a wagon when he fell over the side with it, the barrel tumbling on him.

Some of the lime fell out of the barrel in the descent and into Mr. Cameron's face and right eye. The water in the eye made the lime so hot that the eye was terribly burned. The barrel fell on his head, causing concussion of the brain. He was taken to Fordham Hospital.

ARREST PRISONERS' LAWYER.

Opposing Counsel and Judge Accuse Him of Attempted Bribery.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Four men accused of being pickpockets who have been operating on Hudson River steamers and trains were sentenced to six months in the Albany Penitentiary here to-day, but a more serious charge—that of attempting to bribe both Judge and opposing counsel—was lodged against the man who appeared as their attorney.

When the prisoners were arraigned to-day Amos Van Etten, who appeared as attorney for the New York Central Railroad, told the court that this man, who gave his name as Theodore Schwake and said he was a New York lawyer, had offered him an automobile if he would withdraw the complaint. Recorder Groves ordered Schwake's arrest. The Recorder said that while he was talking with the attorney the latter slipped $20 into his desk. Schwake was held in $5,000 bail for a hearing on Wednesday.

The men sentenced were Joseph Steiner, Martin Ryan, William Barnett, and James Stickney.

BUYS NEW HAVEN PALLADIUM

The Journal-Courier Absorbs Its Only Morning Rival—Founded in 1828.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 21.—The New Haven Palladium passed out of existence to-day, being merged with The Journal-Courier. The Palladium was founded in 1828 by James F. Babcock, a prominent State politician, afterward Collector of the Port of New Haven. It was a leading Whig organ of New England until the organization of the Republican Party. It has since been a Republican newspaper.

The Palladium has been in a receiver's hands for several months. Its purchase to-day by order of the Superior Court leaves The Journal-Courier in possession of the morning field in New Haven. The gradual dissolution of The Palladium is believed to have been brought about by the steady increase of sales of the New York morning newspapers in New Haven in recent years.

TO WAR ON CONCRETE.

Brick Men to Open Campaign to Show It Is Not Fireproof.

Special to The New York Times.

FISHKILL LANDING, N. Y., Aug. 21.—The Greater New York Brickmakers' Association of the Hudson Valley, which comprises nearly all the manufacturers between New York and Albany, have declared war on concrete and especially on the use of that material for building in New York City.

It has been decided to open a publicity office in New York and to have a series of large photographs taken illustrating the alleged non-fireproof nature of concrete construction and the fireproof character of brick construction. It is estimated that because the brickmakers are not organized and their interests have not been put before the public in the last few years other material than brick has been used in construction in sufficient quantities to take the place of 280,000,000,000 brick.

Detective Must Face Kidnapping Trial.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 21.—Gov. Johnson honored to-day a requisition from the Governor of Indiana for the return to Indianapolis of James Hosick, a detective of Los Angeles, for trial on the charge of having kidnapped from Indianapolis John J. McNamara, now held in Los Angeles in connection with the destruction of The Times newspaper plant last October.

ATWOOD LOST, FLIGHT CUT SHORT

Aviator Wanders Over Farm Lands for an Hour Trying to Find Auburn.

DESCENDS AT BELLE ISLE

Darkness Forces Him to Put Up for the Night Five Miles from Syracuse—May Reach Albany To-day.

SUMMARY OF THE EIGHTH DAY OF ATWOOD'S ST. LOUIS-NEW YORK FLIGHT.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Temporarily lost in the clouds, hampered by the crowd at Auburn, and overtaken by darkness, Harry N. Atwood failed to reach Syracuse to-day in his flight from St. Louis to New York. He descended for the night at Belle Isle, five miles west of this city. In making the detour from Port Byron to Auburn, Atwood lost his bearings and for over an hour wandered about in the air.

Atwood, on starting from Lyons, intended to fly in a direct line ninety-eight miles to Utica before night. Just after he started he decided to make a detour from the course which he had been following along the tracks of the New York Central Railroad and cut across country, to give the crowds at Auburn an opportunity of seeing him. But later in the farm lands he lost his bearings, and, not wishing to alight, he kept circling around in the air, in the hope of distinguishing Auburn from a distance. Over villages and lonely farmhouses he wandered without avail.

Meantime great uneasiness was felt as to his fate by thousands who waited in parks and on housetops to see him at Syracuse and Utica. Anxious messages were sent over the telegraph wires, but word came back that after leaving Lyons he had ventured off his course to the southward and nothing later had been seen of him. The [illegible] reports of the aviator's [illegible] lacking. No telegraph [illegible] communication could [illegible] houses in the country over [illegible] disappeared. It was 4:24 o'clock in the afternoon when Atwood left Lyons. At 5:20 o'clock in the evening he suddenly appeared over Auburn and landed there.

Fearful of again being lost, since he was away from his regular course, Atwood did not venture away from Auburn until 6:45 P. M. Then began another exciting search for him extending all the way from Auburn to Utica. All telegraph wires were burdened with the query: "Where's Atwood?" Ten thousand people at Utica awaited his appearance there until sundown. Syracuse also was anxious until at 7:17 word came that he had landed safely at Belle Isle, five miles west of Syracuse.

Atwood said on the course of to-day's wanderings he had flown at least 75 miles, but he could take for his record only the 40 miles between Lyons and Belle Isle. His total flying time was one hour and twenty-eight minutes.

"It was the most exciting experience in the air I ever had," said Atwood.

"After ascending at Lyons," he continued, "I looked at the map and concluded I could find my way to Auburn where I knew a lot of people would be disappointed if they did not see the aeroplane. I had gone ten miles perhaps, when away from the railroad tracks I was completely at a loss to know where Auburn was. There was not a sign or a road or anything to indicate the direction. I kept on going, sometimes rising to a high altitude in the hope of seeing the town from afar. The more I went, the more confused I became. I was a lost sailor of the sky, wandering among the clouds. So as my gasoline began to run low and I knew if I landed out there I might be miles from a new supply, I dropped low toward some farmhouse, thinking I might get in talking distance of some one and ask him the direction, but no farmers appeared and I had to rise again to keep from hitting some barns.

"Finally I shot off in a tangent southward, and in a short time to my great joy I beheld what I took to be the buildings of Augurn Penitentiary. A few minutes later I landed there. The reason I didn't get a start from Auburn sooner was that there were such crowds that I had to fight the people back. I thought they would destroy the aeroplane. I got into the air again as soon as possible, determined to make Utica by flying over Syracuse without stopping. Just west of Syracuse darkness overtook me and I had to land.

"To-morrow I will disregard all scheduled landing places and will attempt to fly as far as Albany, 163 miles, by way of Syracuse and Utica."

ATWOOD'S ARRIVAL HERE.

Sheepshead Bay Track Being Prepared for His Landing.

Assured by the success which has accompanied Harry N. Atwood on his flight from St. Louis it is now regarded as certain that he will arrive in this city this week and thus eclipse all American records in cross-country aviation. Arrangements are taking form for his reception. He will land at Sheepshead Bay, not Coney Island, as had been reported. Sheepshead Bay is some twelve miles southeast of the Statue of Liberty.

The old Sheepshead Bay race track, abandoned by the horses, is being equipped for the entertainment of its first aviation throng. It is proposed to welcome Atwood at the track with bands of music and booming guns. The management of the course, although making a business enterprise of it, hope to have official recognition for Atwood's feat by the presence of Mayor Gaynor and other well-known men. Fire Commissioner Johnson will head the Reception Committee appointed to meet him.

Atwood expects to enter New York by way of the Bronx and sail directly over Broadway to Forty-second Street, where, after a few manoeuvres, he will turn away over the Williamsburg Bridge toward Long Island. He says this will be his itinerary unless the weather is too treacherous. Atwood says that he will make every attempt to reach the Sheepshead Bay track by Wednesday afternoon, but that if the weather is unpropitious he will not risk ruining his trip by possible accident on the last lap from Albany to New York.

After resting for the night on his arrival here, Atwood will spend several days trying out half a dozen new makes of aeroplanes, his tests to take the form of [illegible]

$12,000 FOR MRS. JOHNSTONE.

Chicago Aviation Benefit for Airman's Widow Held in High Wind.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Circling, dipping, and turning four aviators flew over Grant Park this afternoon in a wind that snapped the ends of the streamers with which the grand stand was decorated and made it seem impossible that these frail craft could live in it. In the stand used by the officials during the meet, which closed yesterday, sat a veiled woman in black, watching every movement of the aeroplane above her. It was Mrs. St. Croix Johnstone, widow of the aviator who lost his life last Thursday, when his monoplane fell into the lake. About her was grouped a little body of relatives and friends, and back of her sat thousands in the stands. To-day's flying exhibition was a benefit, and the receipts are to go to her.

Lincoln Beachey, rising to a height of several thousand feet descended in a series of spirals that made the spectators dizzy, then scurried along with the wind to bank around the pylons at the north end of the field at a greater angle than he had attempted during the meet. Rodgers, too, though hampered by his heavier and slower machine, in keeping closer to the ground, seldom rising more than three hundred or four hundred feet, made spirals above the depression in which Badger lost his life. Beachey soared over him a thousand feet higher, and the crowd saw two men, one directly above the other, executing in tricky air the most dangerous feat known to the airman, the combined spiral and dip. James Ward and Howard Gill were also in the air. The rest of the thirty-five who took part in the meet could not for various reasons fly. The wind was too high for the monoplane drivers.

As the result of the benefit Mrs. Johnstone will receive between $10,000 and $12,000.

In spite of the financial loss, admitted to be considerable, sustained in promoting the aviation meet, members of the association declared the affair very successful. They announced themselves as perfectly willing to shoulder the losses, whatever they might be, with good grace. B. J. Lumley, general manager of the meet, figured that the losses would not exceed $52,000, and as there is a $100,000 guarantee fund subscribed by 250 prominent citizens, headed by Harold F. McCormick, John D. Rockefeller's son-in-law, it is not expected that any one will suffer seriously.

Officials of the meet announced to-day that a revised reading of the barograph attached to the Curtiss biplane when Lincoln Beachey broke the world's altitude record yesterday shows he reached a height of 11,642 feet, instead of 11,578, the unofficial reading given out last evening.

The barograph was subjected to a four-hour examination by a committee of experts to-day and every test known to science was applied before the formal announcement of the revised reading was made.

The previous world's altitude record was held by Capt. Felix, Director of the French Army school of aviation, who on Aug. 5 of this year reached a height of 11,150 feet at Etamps, France.

Army Airmen Land at Night.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The first night landing ever made in an aeroplane at the army aviation field, at College Park, Md., was accomplished to-night by Lieuts. T. DeW. Milling and R. C. Kirtland. Guided by signal fires, the aviators brought their machines down out of the dark to the cheers of the other members of the army aviation school, who awaited them. They had flown from the park to the Chevy Chase Club, four miles away, where their reception was so enthusiastic that they staid until darkness fell before they realized that they were formed to report at the aviation field.

GEIDEL ON TRIAL FOR KILLING BROKER

Youthful Prisoner's Mother with Him in Court—Six Jurors Chosen Yesterday.

WON'T ACCEPT MINOR PLEA

District Attorney Rejects Proposal to Change Charge to Murder in Second Degree.

Paul Geidel, the 17-year-old bellboy charged with the murder of William Henry Jackson, the elderly Wall Street broker, who was killed by strangulation in his room in the Iroquois Hotel on the evening of July 26 last, was put on trial yesterday before Judge Crane, in the Court of General Sessions. When an adjournment was announced until 10 o'clock this morning six jurors had been accepted out of thirty-five talesmen examined.

The jurors were Gabriel Marluk of 621 West 126th Street, who will act as foreman; Thomas Williams of 601 West 168th Street, Joseph H. Phinney of 130 West 112th Street, Robert D. Sterling of 19 East Seventy-seventh Street, Albert W. Trischet of 936 Teller Avenue, and Edward J. Sisley of 402 West 148th Street.

The confidence of District Attorney Whitman in his ability to convict Geidel of murder in the first degree was indicated just before the noon recess, when he rejected an offer made by the boy's lawyers to let him plead guilty to murder in the second degree.

The questioning of prospective jurors was left to Assistant District Attorney Nott, with Assistant District Attorneys O'Malley, Jacoby, and Ford advising him.

The questions asked by lawyers for the defense indicated that they wanted no jurors who are in the habit of living at hotels or who buy stocks from brokerage houses or have Wall Street affiliations. They challenged one juror because he had taken a room at the Iroquois Hotel for a single night two years ago, and another because he had an office in a building close to the Wall Street address of the murdered broker. Prospective jurors who had followed the accounts of the murder in the New York newspapers at all closely were challenged, while men of family who avoid club and hotel life were treated as the most desirable of all.

For the prosecution Mr. Nott challenged especially those talesmen who thought it within the province of a jury to bring in a finding of second-degree murder after the trial Judge had instructed them to find for first-degree murder.

A man who is expected to be the star witness for the defense was frequently mentioned in questions asked by James A. Gray, for the defense. He is Fred Sheehan, a paroled convict. He was located by Lawyer James C. Cleary of counsel for the defense serving a prison sentence at Scranton, Penn., for picking pockets. Sheehan, according to Mr. Cleary, was formerly acquainted with Mr. Jackson and knew his manner of life intimately.

In questioning talesmen the lawyers for the defense asked them in what light they would look upon the testimony of a paroled convict and whether they would give such testimony its full weight, regardless of the fact that it was a convict who was testifying. Those who said that they did not think a convict's word worth anything were rejected.

At one stage of the proceedings it seemed that Sheehan had broken his parole and had disappeared. Mr. Cleary said he had obtained his release from prison in his personal custody upon explaining the nature of the trial for which his presence was desired in this city. He added that the man had disappeared from the lodgings provided for him and he was in ignorance of his present whereabouts, for which reason he asked for an adjournment of the trial while a search was made to locate him. While the matter was still under consideration Sheehan walked into the courtroom to report himself in response to his subpoena as a witness.

After two jurors had been selected there was a dramatic scene inside the court room, of which all of the men on the panel were witnesses. It was a [illegible] between the young defendant and his mother, in which they flung their arms about each other and wept aloud [illegible] of court officers to [illegible] at places [illegible] who had been [illegible] from the [illegible] defendant's counsel [illegible] the mother and son, [illegible] the rest of the day sat [illegible] Geidel, the 16-year-old sister of the defendant, came into court [illegible] She sat [illegible] on a bench near the back of the room.

TOGO BEGINS LONG JOURNEY.

Looks Much at Niagara Falls During His Day of Rest.

Special to The New York Times.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ontario, Aug. 21.—Admiral Count Togo this evening took a last look at Niagara Falls, which of all America's sights impressed him most, and in his private car started at 6:20 o'clock on his journey to Vancouver. He appeared in good health and spirits as he waved a farewell to a small crowd at the station.

With the exception of an hour's stop to-night at Toronto, where he will remain in his car, the Admiral will go direct to Banff in the Canadian Rockies. There he will rest for twenty-four hours, continuing his trip Friday night and arriving in Vancouver on Saturday. He is expected to spend both Sunday and Monday in Seattle, embarking next Tuesday for Japan and arriving in Yokohama on Sept. 14.

He spent the day in his suite in a hotel here overlooking the cataract. He bade good-bye to his private secretary, S. Takagi, and Consul General Midsuno, both of New York, and is accompanied by Commander Taniguchi, his aid; Commander Higara, Naval Attaché of the Japanese Embassy at Washington, and Consul General Nokomura of Ottawa.

STRIKES BACK AT MAYOR.

Theatre Manager at Asbury Park Charges Illegal Insurance Receipts.

Special to The New York Times.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 21.—Mayor T. Frank Appleby and Walter Rosenberg are at odds because the latter permitted a lecture on the Oberammergau Passion Play to be given in his Savoy Theatre yesterday afternoon and evening. The Mayor had Rosenberg summoned to the Police Court this morning, but when the manager appeared he had not filed any charge against him. The police also summoned Rosenberg because two children, 4 and 6 years of age, are playing at his Nemo Theatre in Ocean Avenue.

Declaring that he intended to fight back, Rosenberg this afternoon addressed a letter to Prosecutor John S. Applegate, Jr., charging that Mayor Appleby is illegally receiving the premiums on $90,000 worth of city insurance. The bulk of this insurance comes from the Beach Commission. The Mayor declares that inasmuch as he does not sign the city vouchers he is not acting illegally in writing city insurance. The Beach Commissioners are all three his appointees. The Mayor receives a salary of $500 per year.

EIGHT KILLED BY STORM.

Wires Are Down in the Stricken District in North Dakota.

MINOT, N. D., Aug. 21.—Telephone communication is cut off and only meagre reports have been received concerning the loss of life and property damage by a terrific storm that swept over the northwestern part of the State yesterday evening.

Eight persons are known to be dead and more than one hundred injured. A partial list of the dead is as follows:

Marguerite Carlson, near Sherwood; Martin Fryburg, at the Carl Anderson home near West Hope; John Patterson, near Souris; three members of the Carlson family in Wheaton township; Jenny Wright, daughter of T. E. Wright and a child of G. L. Haskins.

Among the injured are Mrs. Bradley, Superior, Wis., seriously injured; Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson of Antler, seriously; Mrs. Spry of Antler, and Adam Paterson, near Souris.

FIRE BARS DRAWBRIDGE.

Brief Interruption of Morning Traffic at Spuyten Duyvil Creek.

Fire, which started in the engine room on the draw of the railroad bridge spanning the Spuyten Duyvil Creek, early yesterday morning, caused a damage of about $10,000 to the structure and stopped railroad traffic for some time over the freight tracks of the New York Central and also navigation between the Harlem River and the Hudson River through the Ship Canal.

The fire was discovered about 8 o'clock by August S. Schmidt, the engineer stationed on the bridge. He sent in an alarm from the Spuyten Duyvil station, and when the firemen arrived a special call was sent for the fireboat Duane, stationed at [illegible] Street and the Harlem River. By the time the firemen extinguished the flames the superstructure on which is the engine which operates the draw was a wreck.

The cause of the fire was not determined. The bridge was again put in operation a few minutes after 9 o'clock.

FREES BOY WHO SHOT AGED NEWSWOMAN

WAS PLAINLY AN ACCIDENT

Impresses the Jury of His Innocence by His Straightforward Story of the Shooting.

James Cullen Henderson, the sixteen-year-old boy of San Antonio, Texas, who was arrested last Tuesday for shooting Mrs. Rosa Malcheode, who had a newspaper stand in front of the Park Row Building, was arraigned before Coroner Winterbottom and a jury in the Coroner's Court yesterday morning and exonerated. Henderson told a straightforward story when called to the stand by his counsel, Charles A. Dana of 60 Wall Street, and the testimony of other witnesses indicated that the shooting had been accidental.

According to the evidence Mrs. Malcheode was tending her stand Tuesday night last when the boy stopped, apparently to buy a newspaper. As he tried to get some money from his pocket a package he carried under his arm dropped to the sidewalk. Then the report of a revolver shot was heard, and Mrs. Malcheode sank to the ground with a bullet wound in her left leg. She died shortly afterward at the Hudson Street Hospital. Henderson, who had picked up the revolver and walked away, was arrested on Ann Street a few minutes later by Policeman Finnigan of the Oak Street Station. He asserted that he did not know any one had been shot.

In testifying yesterday the boy clung to his story that he had started for New York from Galveston, Texas, on Aug 9 on the Mallory Line steamer Brazos, and had lost all but 45 cents of his money before reaching here. The revolver, which he brought from Texas, he had given to a companion he met on the ship, to bring to shore for him, and they had left it at a barber shop at King and Hudson Streets. Then he went to Brooklyn to find some friends. The address he had was incorrect, and returning to Manhattan he went to the barber shop again, got the revolver and took it to a pawnshop in Park Row, hoping in that way to raise some money. The revolver was rejected by the pawnbroker, however, and wrapping it in a newspaper he started to walk south on Park Row. It was a few minutes after that the shooting occurred. He had not stopped to see whether any one was hit, he said, because he was badly frightened and hardly realized what he was doing.

When the jury, after five minutes' deliberation, brought in a verdict of not guilty, stating that Mrs. Malcheode had died as the result of a gunshot wound made by a pistol accidentally discharged by Henderson, Coroner Winterbottom discharged the boy from custody.

RIOT OVER MISPLACED LOVE.

Husband Has Bride Arrested and Friends of Both Use Knives.

EGG HARBOR, N. J., Aug. 21.—Eighteen-year-old Lucy Marcontolo, belle of the Italian colony of this city, was the cause of much trouble and excitement here to-day. She was married four weeks ago to Philippi Marcontolo, but yesterday, it is said, she decided to flee with a Joe Marconio. Her husband got wind of the plan and had a warrant issued for the arrest of the pair. Marconio escaped but the young woman was arrested and held in $2,000 bail, in default of which she was placed in jail.

Friends of the young woman were averse to her being locked up and started a riot which was not stopped until the entire police force was called out. Many shots were fired, and the house in which her husband lives was riddled with bullets. Friends of her husband opposed the young woman's supporters and stilettos as well as revolvers were used. Several [illegible] were cut, but none was dangerously wounded. The police made free use of their clubs and several rioters were beaten into insensibility before order was restored.

GERMANS AGAINST HARMON.

Broke His Promises on the Liquor Question, Says Alliance President.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 21.—John Schwab, President of the Ohio German-American Alliance, delivered a speech at the annal convention of the alliance, in which he said that because of Gov. Harmon's attitude on the liquor question not a single member of the German-American Alliance in this country will vote for him for any office.

"We have won a partial victory in the Legislature," he said, "yet there is no getting away from the fact that we were robbed of its fruits by the action of our Governor. Not only did he refuse to assist us, but he turned the office which we had given him into a megaphone, through which he listened to the voice of political ambition. He is still listening, but from the latest accounts he has not heard much. Further, he will not hear much if the million votes which this alliance can swing will be of any benefit, and I think it will.

"Had Gov. Harmon carried out his promises which he made to us personally before his election, he would now be the leader of the liberal element, for the nomination for the Presidency. But he has shown that he either is unworthy or does not wish that leadership. However that may be, there always comes the time when we can speak through the ballot box, and that time will come in Ohio again quite soon."

Democratic politicians in Ohio who are back of the Harmon boom for the Presidency do not conceal their concern over this statement of Mr. Schwab. He can command the votes of 100,000 Germans in Ohio, practically all of whom will now be against Gov. Harmon in all things.

SEES WAY TO LESSEN TAXES.

C. A. Haviland Thinks New York Should Own Public Utilities.

Among the passengers who arrived yesterday from Europe on the Holland-America liner Nieuw Amsterdam was C. Augustus Haviland, a Brooklyn real estate broker, who said he had devoted some of his time abroad to the study of the subway situation in Paris and street car surface transportation in Great Britain.

"The lessees of the Paris underground railways pay the city 2 cents out of every 5-cent fare," said Mr. Haviland; "one cent on every 3-cent fare for the privilege of operating and equipping the railway.

"Nearly all the cities in Great Britain operate their own transit lines and turn over a profit to the taxpayer, while a great city like New York hesitates to take such a step. The latest official reports show that Manchester, for the year ended March, 1910, made a profit of $395,255, while Leeds cleared $279,590, Glasgow $265,590, Birmingham $164,570, and Liverpool $1,137,255, out of the municipal street car and other transportation facilities. All this, with lesser sums from Nottingham, Bradford, Salford, and other cities, went toward paying the taxes of the people.

"If New York had adopted this policy years ago of ownership of all public utilities, there would be very little tax burden upon our real estate for support of the Government."

BREAK UP LODGE ELECTION.

Light Turned Out Amid Disorder at the Moose's Convention.

DETROIT, Aug. 21.—In a scene of wild confusion, during which one man fainted and which was brought to a close by the extinguishing of all the lights in the convention theatre, the Los Angeles delegation of the Loyal Order of Moose today successfully disrupted the session and prevented the nomination of officers.

The excitement lasted fully an hour. The Los Angeles delegation, an extremely large one, determined to delay the nominations in the interest of William A. Alderson, Los Angeles, their candidate for Supreme Vice Dictator. During the pandemonium James F. Lennon, Dictator of the Philadelphia lodge and twice candidate for Supreme Dictator, climbed upon his seat and nominated himself for the office.

In order to avoid a violation of the rules, an adjournment was not taken, but a recess given instead so that while the officers will be nominated to-morrow the action will technically be in yesterday's session. The election occurs to-morrow also.

It was rumored about to-night that Mr. Alderson will allow his name to be presented as a candidate.

10,000 CATHOLIC SOCIETIES.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 21.—Louisville started a movement to-day to secure the next convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies, which is now in session here, for that place.

Reports of the various officers of the federation were heard at the first business session to-day. President Edward Feeney of Brooklyn said that the work of organization was steadily progressing and [illegible] societies were now represented [illegible].

THREATEN A PASTOR WHO DENIES CHRIST

Baptist Preacher, Rev. Otto Bamber, Arouses Anger of People of Louisiana in a Sermon.

MAY BE FORCED FROM STATE

Has Been Successful in His Ministry and Has Made Many Converts—Treats Christ as a Healer.

Special to The New York Times.

KENTWOOD, La., Aug. 21.—Threats are being made here to run out of Louisiana the Rev. Otto Bamber, who publicly denied the divinity of Christ. The preacher is a native of Hammond, La., but for several years has spent most of his time in Mississippi. He is one of the best known Baptist preachers in the country circuits of the two States, and many conversions are credited as a result of various revival meetings he has held.

The sermon here came as a distinct shock, as it was alien to anything that could have been expected from the Rev. Mr. Bamber's former utterances. He spoke from a text in the Bible, but in his subsequent address stated quite clearly that he did not believe in the inspiration of the Scriptures, saying they were merely a collection of remarkable historical and imaginative writings carefully grouped.

His theory of Christ indicated that he believed Him to have been a remarkable healer, making use of some strange forms of suggestion or hypnotism, but he declared he did not think Christ was divine, and asserted that "many of His so-called supernatural works can be traced to perfectly reasonable and natural sources."

Following the sermon an indignation meeting was held and various acts of rebuke were proposed. These ran the whole gamut from physical violence to a formal protest, signed by the other ministers of the parish. Steps were taken to protect the Rev. Mr. Bamber, but it seems they will not be required, as he is said to have asserted that he is preparing to leave Louisiana.

DEAD FROM 30 KNIFE WOUNDS

Body of Young Italian Found on Lonely Road Near Canarsie.

The body of a young Italian, identified later through letters in his pockets as Salvatore Contione, was found yesterday evening in a clump of bushes several hundred yards away from the farm house of Dominick Costellio in the linely stretch between East New York and Canarsie. The body had been there probably forty-eight hours. Contione's throat was cut and there were more than thirty stiletto wounds in various parts of his body. A revolver with one chamber empty was found near the body. Four hats were also found near by.

The man was identified by Pierro Pinella, who has a bank and steamship agency at 165 Stone Street, Brooklyn. A letter from Pinella was found in Contione's pocket. There was also some change and a hunting knife of some value. This and the money convinced the police that the murder was not committed by robbers, but was probably the result of some feud.

Pinella told the police that Contione was a Sicilian, and that he had come to this country two years ago. Recently, the banker thought, he had been working in Mineola, L. I., for Pinella had been forwarding his mail to a Post Office box in that town.

ASTRONOMY IN BROADWAY.

Public Peers at the Planets Mars and Saturn at 10 Cents Per Peer.

Since the recent conjunction of Mars and Saturn, on the night of Aug. 16, the telescope man in Broadway has been doing a land office business. Setting up his instrument on the west side of Union Square, there have been times when he has had a line of persons waiting for a chance to peek at the planets.

The telescope has an opening of about three inches, and it extends out about four feet, the objects being thrown on a piece of ground glass. Despite its comparatively small size it is a powerful instrument, and with it the two planets can be seen, not at the same time, it is true, but one after the other, crossing the objective glass.

Saturn with his triple ring and his eight moons appears surprisingly beautiful. Most of the moons can be seen showing as large as pinheads about the planet, which seemed the size of a pea. Mars was not so spectacular, and one can see faintly the two moons, Phobus and Deimos, the latter of which takes only 7 hours and 39 minutes to make the circuit of the Martian heavens.

The proprietor of the telescope has the figures and names at his tongue's end. After one has looked at the planets he may view for his same dime the moon, which shows remarkably clear, the craters and hills being easily distinguished.

JAMES FACES COURT-MARTIAL

Naval Officer Charged with Intoxication on Visit to Vancouver, B. C.

BREMERTON, Wash., Aug. 21.—Formally charged with intoxication while on duty, Lieut. Commander Leland F. James, Executive Officer of the United States cruiser West Virginia, has been placed on trial before a general court-martial at the Puget Sound Navy Yard.

The court is presided over by Rear Admiral W. H. H. Southerland. The charges were preferred by Capt. J. M. Orchard, retired, who was in command of the cruiser on July 27, the date of the offense. The charge against Lieut. James is declared to involve flagrant violation of etiquette demanded of a naval officer while he is in a foreign country. James, it is said, visited Vancouver, B. C., in July, and seriously impaired friendly international spirit by remarks made at a dinner where he and other officers were being entertained by officers [illegible].

STOLEN AUTO STOLEN.

Man Who Took It from Owner Arrested After He Recovers It.

An automobile with a broken tire figured yesterday in a double theft charge in the Harlem Police Court. John Schmeer, who said first the machine was stolen from him, was himself arrested in the afternoon for stealing it from A. B. Clements of Greenwich, Conn. Schmeer was held by Magistrate McQuade for the Grand Jury.

About 3:30 yesterday morning Schmeer appealed to the police to find an automobile that he said had been stolen from in front of a saloon at 125th Street and Eighth Avenue. He considered himself very fortunate when the Lieutenant told him that such a machine had just been brought to the station. A bicycle patrolman had found the car at 140th Street and Broadway a short time before in the possession of four men, whose loud discussion of what they should do with it had fallen on the ears of the policeman. When the policeman approached, the four ran. Two who were captured, were held by the Magistrate for grand larceny. Schmeer identified the machine and drove off in it.

Then came A. B. Clements. He told the police that Schmeer had taken his automobile, saying that he was going to drive to the shop of its makers to have some repairs made. Mr. Clements went to the makers and they informed him that there was nothing the matter with the car. A search for Schmeer was undertaken and he was arrested.

WARNING WAS DISASTROUS.

Helen Parker Jumped Directly in Front of an Automobile.

An automobile owned by Edward F. Terry of the contracting firm of Terry, Tench & Co. of Yonkers, and driven by Lewis Smith, was going west on Fifty-fifth Street yesterday afternoon at a moderate speed. As it approached Sixth Avenue Helen Parker, 45 years old, of 14 East Twenty-ninth Street, started to cross the roadway. She was carrying a parasol which completely hid the automobile from view, and some one on the sidewalk, realizing that she was in danger, called out to her. In her alarm she jumped directly in the path of the automobile and was knocked down.

The auto was stopped, and Terry, who occupied one of the front seats, got out, and with the aid of Patrolman Scherer of the Traffic Squad, lifted the woman into the car and hurried with her to Roosevelt Hospital. Both of her arms and her left leg were broken, and she was suffering from a scalp wound and possibly internal injuries. It was said at the hospital last night that she had a good chance of recovery. The chauffeur was arrested after an investigation by the police.

DEAD AFTER AUTO SMASH.

W. H. Ireland Victim of Accident to Racing Car on Elgin, Ill., Speedway.

ELGIN, Ill., Aug. 21.—W. H. Ireland, driver of a racing automobile, died today as the result of injuries received on the Elgin Speedway when his car was ditched as he turned from the track to permit a following racer to pass.

His own big machine just before the accident was apparently under perfect control. Suddenly spectators saw a cloud of dust, heard a crash of wood, and then the automobile was seen in the ditch with Ireland pinned beneath it. The mechanician, Frank O'Brien, was badly bruised and cut, and both men were hurried to St. Joseph's Hospital, where Ireland died at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon without regaining consciousness. O'Brien, the mechanician, will probably recover.

The accident occurred on a stretch of the Speedway near the McCormick farm.

Miss Rosenbaum Hurt in France.

ROUEN, France, Aug. 21.—Miss Edith Rosenbaum, an American, was seriously injured to-day in an automobile accident while on the way to this city from Paris. A German merchant named Lewe, who was driving the car, was killed.

OFF TO SERVE SENTENCES.

Convicted Wireless Officers Start for Penitentiary To-day.

Christopher Columbus Wilson, President of the United Wireless Telegraph Company; Francis X. Butler, counsel and a Director of that corporation, and William W. Tompkins, head of its New York selling agency, who were convicted of misuse of the mails in connection with an extensive scheme to defraud investors in United Wireless stock, will be taken to the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., this morning by United States Marshal Henkel, the mandate of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals affirming the judgment of the trial court having been filed yesterday in the Federal Circuit Court.

Wilson and Butler were sentenced to terms of three and two years, respectively, at Atlanta, and Tompkins to one year in the county penitentiary on Blackwell's Island. An order was received yesterday, however, by Marshal Henkel changing Tompkins's sentence to a year and a day at Atlanta. This may shorten Tompkins's imprisonment, as, under the Federal parole law, he may be released after serving a third of his term. If the original punishment imposed were carried out, he would have to serve at least ten months before being entitled to two months' commutation.

George H. Parker, sales agent of the corporation on the Pacific Coast, who was sentenced to serve a year at McNeil's Island, Washington, has decided to begin his term at once, rather than await the appeal which is pending in his case, and will be taken to the Pacific Coast on Friday. Like other persons connected with the corporation, he is reputed to be wealthy. Upon his release he may be confronted with an indictment, in consequence of testimony which he gave on his trial, charging the smuggling of diamonds from Vancouver. He admitted that he had sold stock to investors in the Northwest Territory, receiving for it jewelry and diamonds, which he brought to this country without paying duty. The four promoters have been in the Tombs since May 29 last.

BUG ALIVE DEEP IN ROCK.

Second One Taken from Apparently Solid Formation in Mine.

Special to The New York Times.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Aug. 21.—Entomologists here have found something that has stumped them, and they are likely to call on their brethren elsewhere to help them out. It is a bug that has been taken from an apparently solid piece of rock blasted out more than 200 feet below the surface.

The find was made by W. J. Wostenholme, General Manager of the Shamrock Gold Mining and Milling Company at Marysvale, recently. He was going over the dump looking at the broken ore that had come up from the mine in order to pick out some specimens he wanted to use. He broke open what appeared to be a solid piece of rock, first cracking it with a hammer. When he separated it he found in a little cavity a bug about a quarter of an inch long. It was not very lively, but it was alive. He examined the rock to see if there was any fissure that could let in air to the insect, but there was no evidence of any.

Mr. Wostenholme was particularly interested because about a year ago George F. Dalton, the President of the company, while hunting specimens, came across a similar bug in a similar little hole in what appeared to be solid rock. This had been taken from hard quartzite that had been blasted out 100 feet below the surface. Mr. Dalton consulted some experts in such things, but they could not tell him what he had found. As a matter of curiosity he put the bug in a [illegible] bottle, and it lived for months without any visible means of sustenance.

The entomologists here are very much interested in this new find, and it is expected that a full description of the bug will be sent to various authorities on the subject in the hope that some one of them may be able to tell what it is and something of the phenomena surrounding its life under such remarkable conditions.

Appeal for Working Girls.

The Working Girls' Vacation Society has issued an appeal for money to complete its Summer work. An unusually large number of girls have applied for vacations, and every effort has been made to place them. The eleven houses have been kept full and the money has given out. Forty dollars will pay for a girl with incipient tuberculosis for five weeks at Santa Clara in the Adirondacks, including railroad ticket and medicines, and $10 will give a girl two weeks and traveling expenses at any of the other houses belonging to the society. Miss Edith Bryce is Treasurer of the society. The offices are at 105 East Twenty-second Street, New York.

WILSON TELLS WHY HE CURBED WILEY

Roosevelt Overruled Chemist in Corn Syrup Case—Secretary Not Sure of His Judgment.

FEARED LOSS TO INDUSTRY

Wiley Could Not Qualify as Expert for a Trial—Secretary Is Not Cross-Examined.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The Wiley pure food investigation was practically concluded this afternoon, so far as the taking of testimony was concerned, Secretary Wilson being the last witness to be heard. The only other witness of the day was John B. Osborne, Chief of the Bureau of Trade Relations, who corroborated a statement of the Secretary as to a conference held at the State Department, where Dr. Wiley took part and agreed to an international trade stipulation that sulphate of copper might be employed in French wines.

The venerable Secretary made a good witness, much better than in the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation, his testimony on that occasion meeting with peculiar disaster under the cross-examination of Louis Brandeis. He was subjected to no such ordeal to-day. Mr. Davis and ex-Representative Hepburn politely refrained from cross-examination, Mr. Davis explaining that Dr. Wiley was a subordinate of the Secretary and desired that his counsel should not trouble Mr. Wilson. The committee treated him with marked consideration. While some of the questions pressed home in a personal way, none of them was of the unsparing kind that continually were put to other witnessed during the investigation.

There was a large audience present, and the Secretary had close attention throughout. His quaint speech, at times broadly Scotch, his voice rising shrill and biting and then often sinking to a whisper, and his broad sense of humor in the turn of a phrase or the inflection of a word kept his hearers laughing merrily. He generally had his facts with him, although, as would be expected of a man of 76, burdened with the responsibilities of one of the largest executive departments, he now and then failed to remember a date or a circumstance.

Could Not Qualify as Expert.

Secretary Wilson submitted correspondence between himself and Special Assistant Attorney General Miller, in which Mr. Miller said Dr. Wiley had admitted his inability to qualify as an expert in the Coca-Cola case. Mr. Miller, the Secretary declared, wrote him that the Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry was all right on the argumentative side of the case, but was of no use in the Government's contention as he admitted that he could not qualify as an expert chemist, toxicologist, physiological chemist, or doctor of medicine.

He explained why the Remsen Board had been called into existence by telling how he had been besought by the business men of the Pacific Coast to give them a hearing on the subject of the use of sulpur dioxide in the bleaching of fruits. They complained that they had an industry producing $14,000,000 a year and the action of the Department of Agriculture in forbidding the use of sulphur would ruin it. The argument prevailed with President Roosevelt and led to the creation of the board.

In connection with this statement the Secretary said that when Dr. Wiley in his testimony said that he, the Secretary, had never answered his letter in regard to the matter of the continued use of the sulphur, pending a decision of the Referee Board, which has not yet been given, he was in error. The Secretary read a copy of the letter he had sent to Dr. Wiley in which he offered to sit with the Food and Drug Board any time he desired and discuss the matter. The Secretary said that he had never heard from Dr. Wiley further.

"We could have arranged that matter," said the Secretary, "if Dr. Wiley had come to see me about it."

"Do other Chiefs of bureaus in your department come to see you about matters in controversy?" asked Mr. Floyd.

"Every other Chief does that—every day."

"Could not you and Dr. Wiley have such a conference now?"

"As soon as we get our bearings after this affair we will; I'll send for Dr. Wiley as soon as we get the work entailed by this investigation off our hands."

Not a Happy Family.

Mr. Moss asked why it was he had put a lawyer on the Food and Drug Board.

"Well, now, farmers like you and me would not look well going to court to argue a law case, would we? My education has not gone far enough to make me think I could do that. I thought it wise to have a lawyer on that board, and I put McCabe on there to attend to the law part."

Mr. Moss asked if the result seemed to him to prove the wisdom of the selection.

"As you all know," observed the Secretary, "it has not always been as happy a family as it might be."

Mr. Moss asked if it had not handicapped Dr. Wiley in his work.

"I thought I was doing him a kindness," replied the Secretary.

In response to questions the Secretary rapidly cleared up doubts as to expressions in the correspondence sent to the committee in regard to the Remsen Board and explained how he had himself gone to the Denver Convention and had the members of the board go there. He said that Dr. Floyd Robison had worked for a few days for the department as a chemist and then for two years for a Detroit food firm, and when the man undertook at the Mackinac Convention in 1908 to antagonize the department on benzoate of soda he felt he was justified in the action in dismissing him from the New York Laboratory under the Bureau of Chemistry.

The Secretary raised a laugh when he said that Dr. Wiley was speaking through his hat when he said that he considered Dr. Dunlap as his superior officer.

Mr. Moss asked why it was that Dr. Wiley's report on sulphate of copper had not been printed but had been referred to the Remsen Board. The Secretary said that years ago the discovery had been made by one of his bright young men, Dr. Kellerman, that the green scum on ponds and reservoirs could be removed by dragging a bag of sulphate of copper at the end of a rowboat back and forth through the water. On that occasion Dr. Wiley made a chemical study of the proposition and had not come within gunshot of the truth, and that was the reason why he had not taken the chemist's judgment on the use of copper sulphate in food.

The Secretary took up the alum question and said that he had conferred with bakers, scores and scores of them, and they all told him that alum baking powder was not now used by bakers. He referred to President Taft's decision that manufacturers of bleached flour should be permitted to continue until the courts had passed on an appeal.

"If we took such action as Dr. Wiley recommended on articles where there was a question of the deleterious effect on health, we would ruin the persons engaged in the business before the Remsen Board passed on the question," said the Secretary.

Did Not Forbid Wiley to Testify.

As to the charge that Dr. Wiley could not testify in the Indiana pure food case, the Secretary pooh-poohed the idea. He said the doctor was going home to his native State whenever he wanted to, and that all there was to the incident was that he wanted the President or the Secretary of Agriculture to order him to go out there and testify.

"Dr. Wiley knows I never opposed his going anywhere," he said. "Why get me to order him to testify when he could go himself?"

"But haven't you just said you would regard such an act as insubordination?" he was asked.

"By any one below a chief of bureau; not a chief."

The corn syrup case was explained by going back to the old Board of Standards [illegible] the pure food law was passed [illegible] was shown that Dr. Wiley as a member of that board had approved of the same corn syrup for what he now insists is glucose, and, in fact, had reversed himself later, when he complained that his bureau had been overruled by the Board of Food and Drug Inspection, and the three-Secretaries board had been made to reverse itself on the matter. The Secretary told how he had gone to the White House with Dr. Wiley, and President Roosevelt had shown them a phial of corn syrup and Dr. Wiley had admitted that while it was chemically glucose syrup, it had actually come from cornstalks.

"The President and I thought that, as a matter of plain commonsense, it should be called corn syrup if that was the truth of the matter," said the Secretary.

He said Dr. Wiley "seemingly wants to put me in a hole about the corn syrup case." "Dr. Wiley has forgotten the conference at the White House. There was an exceedingly interesting discussion. Very; yes, very. The President had an opinion about a person who thought that the substance was not syrup."

He told how the three Secretaries decided that the substance could be named "corn syrup," whereupon Representative Floyd suggested that they did it out of regard to the President's views.

"It is well for those under a man to listen to him or leave the service," replied the Secretary.

The most serious statement concerning Dr. H. H. Rusby that came out during the Secretary's testimony was the fact that an Inspector is at work to discover whether or not Dr. Rusby, as charged in a letter from a man in New York named Ray, receives fees from drug importing firms for advising them on what sort of drugs to import, and then afterward as an official of the Department of Agriculture passes on these same drugs. The Secretary said that the Inspector had reported the finding of one such case thus far, and was still busy on the inquiry.

The Secretary again pulled on the State Department archives for refutation of Dr. Wiley and put in the record several documents showing that the Imperial German Government had a Referee Board at work on the very same subjects that the Remsen Board is engaged on, and that the board that Dr. Wiley referred to the other day consisted of two doctors of the Prussian Government who had not made any analyses or investigations but from the literature on the subject had worked up a report quoting from Dr. Wiley's findings in regard to benzoate of soda.

Pleasant Relations Continue.

The Secretary was asked if he and Dr. Wiley were on speaking terms.

"Oh yes," was the hearty reply. "If you could look over the transom when he comes to see me you would never dream that there was such a thing as benzoate of soda. I am no chemist, but he's no farmer, and he has bought some farms and we swap ideas on farming at a great rate. You see Dr. Wiley has humor—a delightful humor, and we get on finely. But I know farming and he only has the bug as yet."

The Secretary was asked if his other bureaus were getting on all right.

"Thank God, yes. I couldn't stand it if there was a row in another bureau. There is the great bureau of animal industry under Dr. Melvin with thousands of employes and with its representatives in 800 packing houses in this country, and the splendid bureau of plant industry under Galloway, going along like a nice big machine. Melvin is as quiet and as effective as a man can be, and Galloway never has a ripple of trouble. And all the other bureaus move along smoothly and are doing good work."

Some one got back to the allusion to Dr. Wiley and the State Department conference on sulphate of copper and asked why Dr. Wiley had not mentioned the fact.

"He never mentioned it to me—not to my knowledge," was the reply. "I learned it in a roundabout way. I think Dr. Wiley should have been frank enough to have told you about it and how it was an international affair. Of course, if we gave foreigners the right to bring in food articles with sulphate in them we could not impose another rule on our people here at home."

"How do you suppose Dr. Wiley happened to go there?" asked some one.

"Oh I don't know," responded the Secretary. "You know the doctor is a French Chevalier," referring to Dr. Wiley's having received a decoration from the French Government for certain exhibits at the last Paris exposition. "And he speaks French, I a mtold, very well, which probably helped some. Beyond that guess work I have no knowledge."

Many times in his testimony Secretary Wilson condemned Dr. Wiley's demeanor, charging that he was oversensitive because his findings on pure food and drugs were not accepted as final, but were sometimes referred to the Referee Board.

RUSBY DENIES NEW CHARGE.

Has Been Made Before and His Papers Have Been Kept.

"The charge is an absolute fabrication," was the comment of Dr. H. H. Rusby upon the assertion by Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, in the Wiley inquiry yesterday, that he had located through an Inspector a case in which Dr. Rusby had accepted fees from drug manufacturers for giving advice as to samples of drugs on which he afterward passed favorably as a Government official.

"The truth is that this is a stock charge frequently made before," he said when the Washington dispatch was read over the long-distance telephone to him at his home in Forest Hills, N. J., last night. "I have been extremely careful not to allow even the slightest thing to occur upon which such a charge could successfully be predicated. Manufacturers naturally sought my advice, but in every case I sent replies that because of the fact that I was a Government employe it would be entirely improper for me to accept fees from them.

"Two years or so ago this charge was made against me within the department at Washington. I filed an answer inclosing all the letters sent to me by manufacturers seeking my advice, with my file copies of answers thereto. Much to my disappointment it has been impossible for me to have this correspondence returned to me. If I had possession of it now, I would, of course, be glad to submit it to the investigating committee."

WILL DISCUSS WILEY CASE.

State Food Officials Are Likely to Have Trouble Over It.

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 21.—In the annual meeting of the Association of State and National Food and Dairy Departments, which began here to-day, the Wiley investigation in Washington is likely to be a cause of dissension.

James Foust of Pennsylvania brought it up early in the session by introducing a resolution saying "that it is the sense of the association that it is unfitting that questions pertaining purely to the administrative actions of any of the governmental controls of which the association is composed shall be made matters of discussion in its proceedings."

The resolution was sent to the Committee on Resolutions. G. L. Emery, Representative from Wisconsin, protested that this was practically putting a gag on free discussion in the meeting.

WANTS 1907 PANIC INQUIRY.

Senator Owen Believes That It Was Due to a Deliberate Conspiracy.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—An investigation into causes leading to the panic of 1907 and the benefits obtained from it for any persons or corporations was asked in a Senate resolution offered to-day by Senator Owen of Oklahoma. Immediate consideration was not asked. The resolution named as an investigating committee Senators Kern of Indiana, Works, California; Reed, Missouri; Page, Vermont, and Clark, Wyoming, the first three of whom are radicals.

"I believe the panic of 1907 was brought about by a deliberate conspiracy for enrichment of those who engineered it," said Senator Owen. "Such a conspiracy ought not to go unrebuked. I regard it as treason against the United States. There are now comparatively a few men who control the power of expanding or contracting credits. This unrestrained power to contract credits means the power to create panics and to coerce this country politically."

He said he would call up his resolution at some future time and urge the appointment of the proposed committee of investigation.

"Congress should go to the bottom of financial conditions, however long or expensive the investigation may be," he said. "Such conditions as I believe initiated and controlled the panic of 1907 should be known to all the people."

TAFT'S COTTON VETO TO CLOSE CONGRESS

Bill Sent to Him and Houses Decide to Adjourn at 3 P. M. To-day.

WARM DEBATE OVER RULE

Republican Leaders Agree to Hasten Cotton Bill, but Followers Call Democrats Hypocrites.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Congress will adjourn at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. The House Democrats met in a caucus after the adjournment at 6 o'clock to-night and quickly reached the decision to accept the time arranged in the conference between the House and Senate leaders on Saturday.

Before this action was taken the House by a vote of 180 to 107 had adopted the Senate amendment to the cotton tariff bill, with its reductions of steel, chemical and other duties. The Senate did not adjourn until the engrossed copy had been signed by Speaker Clark and Vice President Sherman and sent to the President for his veto. His message will be delivered to-morrow.

The House had a bad afternoon with a wrangle over the rule which shut off amendments to the Cotton bill and compelled a vote after hours of debate. The trouble began as soon as Mr. Henry of Texas presented his rule, which Republicans were quick to declare to be as bad as the worst dictation attempted under the Cannon régime. The measure was passed, 143 to 107, with 25 Democrats bolting.

Representative Madison of Kansas, an insurgent, told the Democrats that they were returning to "gag rule" methods, though many of them had secured their seats by denouncing those methods.

Ex-Speaker Cannon, central figure in the great rules revision battle at the last session of Congress, also arraigned the rule. He said it was unheard of to call upon members to vote on twenty-five pages of amendments which had not even been read. His denunciation of the Democrats as hypocrites was thoroughly relished by the Republicans.

Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin, insurgent, declared he opposed "gag rule" whether administered by Republican or Democratic majorities, and quoted from a speech by Mr. Underwood during consideration of the Payne bill to prove that the Democratic leader at that time contended that tariff measures should be considered schedule by schedule.

Mr. Underwood retorted by accusing the Republican leaders of bad faith. He recited that he brought in his resolution after a conference with Republican Leader Mann and Representative Payne of New York, ranking Republican of the Ways and Means Committee, in which he was given to understand that it was satisfactory to the minority. He said he could not undertake to deal with every man in the hall, and that when the men supposed to represent the minority had agreed to the rule he had taken it for granted that there would be no opposition.

Mr. Mann said he believed Mr. Underwood had acted in good faith, but that he (Mr. Mann) could not speak for every member of the House.

Mr. Payne explained that he made the agreement with Mr. Underwood, and if there had been one vote lacking to pass the rule he would have voted "aye."

At 6 o'clock the debate was closed by Mr. Underwood and the Senate amendments to the original Cotton bill were concurred in, 180 to 107, eight insurgents staying with the Democrats for the bill—Davis, Lindbergh, Steenerson, and Volstead of Minnesota; Lafferty of Oregon, Hanna and Helgeson of North Dakota, and Norris of Nebraska.

The House held a session to-night, but no quorum was present and it was frankly admitted by the Democratic leaders that it would be impossible to get one. The Senate resolution providing for adjournment was concurred in with a demonstration of joy. Only the desire to pass a few local bills of an emergency character would have caused the House leaders to hold their sides together a day longer, and the evening session was held for the purpose of considering such bills. The greater part of the time was spent in filibustering, however, and little progress was made.

At the Democratic caucus to-night Mr. Underwood advanced the proposition of which he told last night to admit hereafter to all caucuses the newspaper correspondents who have access to the press gallery of the House. The caucus was attended by hardly half the Democratic strength in the House, and the objection was made that such a radical change should be considered by the full caucus. Speaker Clark and Messrs. Underwood, Hardy of Texas, Palmer of Pennsylvania, and James of Kentucky were appointed a committee to consider and report on the matter to the next caucus.

Within five hours after the adjournment of Congress to-morrow President Taft will bid good-bye to Washington and depart for Rochester, N. Y., and Beverly, with plans already outlined that will keep him away from the capital until Nov. 1.

At Rochester Wednesday he will address the National Encampment of the Grand Army, and expects to leave Wednesday night for Beverly, arriving there early Thursday morning. He will spend at least three weeks along the north shore, and then will start on the long Western trip that will take him to San Francisco and Seattle.

WICKERSHAM HAS FIRE TEST.

Gets Employes Out of Department of Justice in a Minute.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—A dozen fire bells rattled and clanged all over the Department of Justice at 11 o'clock to-day, fire extinguishers were jerked from their places, lengths of hose were unrolled, exits were flopped open and some three hundred officials and clerks scampered from the building to see Attorney General Wickersham standing on the front lawn, watch in hand, timing the performance.

It was the first fire drill since the department was equipped with electric alarms some time ago. Mr. Wickersham said the building had been emptied in less than a minute.

Frank Cole, the Attorney General's private secretary, remained behind to gather up some confidential documents and was theoretically burned to death.

HONOR MICHIGAN'S OFFICERS.

Men Who Made Accurate Firing Possible Get the Credit.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The officers of the battleship Michigan, who, according to her commander, Capt. Nathan R. Usher, were the moving spirits in winning the battle efficiency pennant by which the Michigan is known as the champion of the navy were:

Lieutenants Commander Charles F. Preston of Maryland, Lieuts. A. C. Pickens of Alabama, J. H. Towers of Georgia, B. L. Canaga of Ohio, W. S. McClintic of Virginia, J. V. Ogan of Ohio, F. H. Sadler of Alabama, Lieutenant Commander W. T. Tarrant of Texas, and Chief Gunner Simon Jacobs of New York.

A copy of President Taft's letter to Capt. Usher, commending the Michigan's excellence in gunnery and engineering, for which the pennant was awarded, will be filed with the official record of each of the nine officers.

Capt. Clifford J. Boush, formerly in command of the armored cruiser North Carolina, has reported the following officers as being principally responsible for winning the engineering efficiency trophy for the North Carolina: Lieut. Frederick L. Oliver of North Carolina, and Chief Machinists Louis C. Higgins of Florida, and Carl Johanson of New York.

The photograph of the battleship Michigan firing a broadside printed in yesterday morning's NEW YORK TIMES was copyrighted by Messrs. Clarke & Muller of this city, and the credit due them was inadvertently left off of the picture. The picture was one taken by Clarke & Muller during the target practice of the Atlantic Fleet, of which fleet the firm is the official photographers.

THREE TAFT MESSAGES.

Asks Further Appropriation to Raise the Wreck of the Maine.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—President Taft sent three short messages to Congress to-day—one urging a further appropriation to complete the work of raising the wreck of the battleship Maine, a second asking Congress to determine whether the wrecks of the Spanish vessels sunk by the American Navy shall be given away, and the third transmitting reports of engineers of surveys on the great lakes.

Mr. Taft referred to Chief Engineer Bixby's estimate of $250,000 for completing the work of raising the Maine and to Secretary of War Stimson's subsequent inspection and report. He declared the United States would be derelict in its duty if it did not provide ample money to finish this task.

> I concur fully in the conclusions which the Secretary of War has reached and in the recommendations which he makes in respect of an additional appropriation for this work in order that nothing may remain undone to enable the world to know the original cause of the explosion of the Maine.

The message regarding the Spanish vessels, sunk off Santiago said the Norwegian Company asked Cuba's permission to raise the wrecks on a 10 per cent. salvage basis. The President submitted an opinion of Secretary of State Knox, who held:

> The Department of State is inclined to the view that the Spanish ships destroyed by the United States forces in war on what was then Spanish territory became the property of the victors and passed with Spain's relinquishment of Cuba into the absolute possession of the United States.

CHARGES AGAINST GREINER.

Buffalo Congressman Asks an Investigation of Republican Boss.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Charges of political activity and general unfitness for office were made to-day against Fred Greiner, the Postmaster of Buffalo, N. Y., before the House Committee on Postal Expenditures. Representative Charles B. Smith appeared before the committee and urged investigation of them. The committee decided to ask the Postmaster General for a report.

The charges cited that Mr. Greiner has been a delegate to all Republican State Conventions in New York since 1901, that he was a delegate to the Republican National Convention in 1908, that he is a member of the New York State Republican Executive Committee and that he is the Republican party "boss" of Buffalo and Erie County.

The investigation was also requested in a letter read from H. W. Brendel, former Chairman of the Erie County Committee. The Post Office Committee will take up the matter after it hears from the Postmaster General, but the investigation probably will not proceed until Fall.

NEW ENVOY TO COLOMBIA.

James T. Dubois Promoted from Consulate General at Singapore.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The President to-day sent to the Senate the nominations of James T. Dubois of Halstead, Penn., to be Minister to Colombia, and Thomas P. Moffat of New York to be Consul General at Singapore, Straits Settlements.

Mr. Dubois is at present Consul General at Singapore. Mr. Moffat, who succeeds him at that post, resigned from the Consular Service early this year to enter the employ of the Nicaraguan Government as a member of the commission to pass upon the foreign concessions granted under President Zelaya.

Railroad to Confess Guilt.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The Norfolk & Western Railway has notified United States District Judge Keller of West Virginia that it is prepared to confess judgment in a case of twenty-seven counts for violation of the Safety Appliance law. The road violated the act by using hand brakes on mountain grades instead of air brakes.

CRUELTY TO WHALES.

An Extraordinary Case of Mammals Washed Up by the Sea at Penzance.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—An extraordinary case in relation to cruelty to whales has just been heard in the English courts. It is probably the first time that these huge mammals have come under the cruelty to animals act. In this instance the tide drove a number of whales on shore at Penzance, where they were stranded until the tide rose again. During this period the most unheard-of things were done to them.

SENATORS DEMAND POWER OVER PEACE

Even Root and Cullom, Who Defend Arbitration Treaties, Would Except Monroe Doctrine.

BURTON WANTS NO CHANGE

Admits, However, Danger to Senate's Power—Bacon Proposes Widespread Limit on the Conventions.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Though the arbitration treaties are admittedly dead for this session, the Senate to-day took them up behind closed doors long enough to release for publication minority reports supporting the treaties substantially unamended. The minority report proper was signed by Chairman Cullom of the Committee on Foreign Relations, Mr. Root, formerly Secretary of State, and Mr. Burton, from Mr. Taft's State of Ohio, and advocated the treaties practically as they stood, but with an amendment or subsidiary resolution defining their scope. Mr. Burton, though he signed this report, filed independently a supplementary report denying the need of any amendment.

The most important statement about the treaty is contained in Mr. Burton's supplementary report, and it marks clearly the great binding power over the Senate that the friends of the treaties expect those conventions to have. It was the fear of being thus bound that induced the majority of the Senate committee—a majority made up without regard to parties—to report an amendment to the treaties striking out the last paragraph of Article III., in which it was provided that in case of diplomatic failure to determine whether or not a particular case was justiciable, the joint high commission of inquiry should act, and if all its members or all but one decided the case to be justiciable, it should go to arbitration, "in accordance with the provisions of this treaty."

Mr. Burton contended that as the provisions of the treaties expressly provided for special agreements in each case, to be formulated by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, the same advice and consent would be necessary after the decision of the joint high commission. He admitted, however, that if the Senate refused its advice and consent it would do son "contrary to its treaty obligations." In other words, the Senate's rights in regard to preventing special cases from going to arbitration under the general treaties would not be other than the right of Congress now to pass a law in flagrant violation of existing treaties. That has been the fear of the critics of the conventions ever since their text was made known, but not till to-day have the friends of the treaties admitted that the treaties carried in their text justification for the suspicion that actuated Mr. Lodge, Mr. Bacon, and the others in their majority report.

"It follows, therefore," says Mr. Burton, after referring to the decision of the Joint High Commission of Inquiry, "that in accordance with the provisions of Article I., the next step in the procedings would be, so far as the administrative branch of the Government is concerned, to enter into a special agreement of arbitration as provided for in Article I., referring the questions in controversy to a tribunal of arbitration. The special agreement would then go to the Senate for its advice and consent. In such a case, as in every other case, it would be within the power of the Senate to refuse its advice and consent to the special agreement, but it would be contrary to its treaty obligation."

The statement presented by Senators Cullom and Root contained the declaration, hitherto proposed by Senator Root. It is intended to be a part of the resolution of ratification and is as follows:

> The Senate advises and consents to the ratification of the said treaty with the understanding, to be made a part of such ratification, that the treaty does not authorize the submission to arbitration of any question which depends upon or involves the maintenance of the traditional attitude of the United States concerning American questions or other purely Governmental policy.

As originally presented, the amendment specifically included the Monroe Doctrine among the questions to be excluded from arbitration, but in the draft introduced to-day that subject was omitted, evidently under conviction that it was included in the general terms of the declaration.

In a statement accompanying his amendment Senator Root says that he does not consider the pending treaties involve any abandonment of the Senate's constitutional powers. He found no obstacle to the submission to arbitration of the question as to whether a subject is arbitrable, and asserted that such a submission was not delegating to a commission power to say what should be arbitrated.

"It is," he added, "merely empowering the commission to find whether the particular case is one that the President and Senate have said shall be arbitrated."

Mr. Root said he would favor an amendment to the treaty excluding questions of National policy if he considered such a course necessary, but he expressed the opinion that all that is desirable could be accomplished by extending the resolution of ratification as provided for by his amendment to that document.

Senator Bacon of Georgia proposed an amendment to Senator Root's declaration, specifically including the Monroe doctrine and mentioning other questions for exclusion. He also proposed this declaration:

> The treaty does not purport or intend that there shall in any case be denied to the Senate of the United States the full exercise of all the powers and duties conferred upon it by the Constitution of the United States in advising and consenting to the making of treaties and to each and every part of the same and to each and every question entering therein; and that nothing in said treaty shall be construed to impose any obligation, legal or moral, upon the Senate to waive its constitutional authority and duty to consider and determine each and every question entering into treaties proposed or submitted in pursuance thereof, including the question whether the matters in difference are arbitrable.

When the reports were presented to the Senate the question of the discussion of the treaties in public by Senators was raised. There was general agreement that public policy would not be violated by such a course, inasmuch as the ban of secrecy had been removed from the documents. No action on the conventions was taken, and they go over for further consideration at the regular session.

LA FOLLETTE'S CURE FOR ALASKA'S ILLS

Urges Federal Ownership of Transportation Lines as Way to Prevent Monopoly.

WOULD RUN COAL MINE, TOO

Political Forecasters See in the Plan a Plank in His Presidential Platform.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Senator La Follette, the Wisconsin radical, to-day delivered in the Senate a speech of which much will probably be heard when he presents his name definitely as a candidate against President Taft for the Republican nomination. The Senator came out in favor of Government ownership of railroads—limited for the present, indeed, to Alaska—but when he concluded the comment was heard that he had at last taken up one of the propositions which William Jennings Bryan found so undesirable an asset before the campaign of 1908.

Only in this way, he said, could the monopolization of the Territory by the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate be prevented. He cited the monopolization of the Pennsylvania anthracite region without Government ownership through the private control of the railroads transporting the coal to the coast, and contrasted that with the present conditions in the Canal Zone, where the Government is directly in charge of excavation work. It is for the Government to choose, he said, between these two precedents.

Developments of the last few years, he said, make it evident that the 35,000 pioneers in Alaska are waging a losing fight against monopoly. Yet, he said, the resources of the peninsula must be developed in fairness to the people themselves, in response to the demand of the whole Pacific Coast, where cheap coal and lumber are in requisition and for the sake of the Pacific fleet of the American Navy.

"Sir," said Mr. La Follette, "I believe that our future naval power on the Pacific depends upon the utilization of the coal of Alaska. If a private corporation now owned the coal fields of Alaska what would be the first step undertaken by the management of such corporation in their development? Would the management look to some other corporation to build railroads connecting such coal fields with the sea while having ample capital of its own to build such railroads? The very suggestion shows the absurdity of it.

"A management that would pursue such a policy would soon end in removal by the stockholders upon the ground of graft or incompetency. But a proper management of such a corporation would at once proceed to construct railroads to the coal fields, and if there were any existing lines they would at once secure control of them through purchase.

"Our first duty to the owners of these magnificent coal fields and other deposits of mineral wealth is to provide for their proper development, and as in the case of a private corporation, so in the case of public ownership, the first step to be undertaken should be the creation of proper transportation facilities, whereby a market may be afforded for the resources. The Government should own and build these transportation facilities for the same reason that a private corporation, if owning the resources, would build and own them.

"The wharves, docks, railroads, and terminals in Alaska should at once be acquired by the Government for the same business reason that would move a private corporation to acquire them if it owned the coal field. Therefore, in the conservation and development of our natural resources in Alaska the first step to be undertaken is the building of railroads by the Government itself and acquiring of such as now exist through exercise of the right of eminent domain."

PENSACOLA YARD TO STAY.

Work to be Abandoned, but the Plant Will Be Preserved.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—It is the Navy Department's purpose to abandon all work at the Pensacola Navy Yard, but not to dismantle it, according to a report of Acting Secretary Winthrop to the Senate to-day on a resolution of inquiry. He said that all the equipment in the yard would be placed in condition for preservation for future possible use, and that the disposition of the dry dock there was under consideration.

Mr. Winthrop reported that work could be done at the Pensacola yard as cheaply as at other yards within its equipment limits and the available labor market, but its maintenance involved greatly increased cost for equipment, administration, &c., thus unnecessarily increasing the total cost of production, and repairs of the navy as a whole. During the last year $217,560 was expended to produce work valued at $15,733.

TAFT MERCIFUL TO FIGHTER.

Commutes Sentence of Forbes, Formerly of the Mabray Gang.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—President Taft to-day commuted the two-year sentence and ten-thousand-dollar fine which were imposed upon Harry Forbes, a Chicago prizefighter, convicted of connection with the famous Mabray gang, which reaped a harvest in the Middle West a few years ago on fake horse races and fake prizefights. Several members of the gang have received prison sentences, and Forbes was instrumental in their prosecution. Forbes will become a Deputy Sheriff of Cook County, Illinois. The President commuted his punishment to a fine of $100.

Mr. Taft also commuted the prison sentence of Isai Rikichi, a Japanese, and his wife, who helped the Federal authorities break up a notorious white slave gang in Honolulu. Both are now serving terms in the Hawaiian prison, but by the President's action will be released Jan. 1, 1913.

The President refused clemency to John Fewkes, assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Belen, N. M., now serving a five-year term for embezzlement. Fewkes has been in jail less than a year, and the President decided his application for clemency was premature.

The sentence of George Snell of Las Vegas, N. M., convicted of land frauds against the Government, was commuted to a fine of $50.

STATEHOOD MEASURE SIGNED

Taft Uses Three Pens in Putting His Name on Resolution.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—President Taft signed the joint resolution for the admission of New Mexico and Arizona into the Union at 3:08 o'clock this afternoon.

Senator Penrose, Representatives Weeks of Massachusetts and Barchfeld of Pennsylvania, the Delegates of the two Territories, and citizens from New Mexico and Arizona witnessed the signing. There was only one resolution, but the President used three different pens in order that some of the relic hunters might be satisfied.

"Well, gentlemen, it's done," he said as he put the last stroke on the parchment.

The resolution signed by the President provides that Arizona shall eliminate the judiciary recall clause in its Constitution.

Exponent of the Soul's Freedom Is Held for Practicing Medicine Without a License.

FAVORED STRONG PERFUMES

Police Matron Says Mme. Rique Urged Greeting One's Soul Pleasantly, and Wearing Proper Colors.

Mme. Adele Marie Riqué, who lives at 128 West Seventy-second Street, in the "Temple of Universal Soul Freedom for Advanced New Thought," was haled to the West Side Court yesterday afternoon by the New York County Medical Society on a charge of practicing medicine without a license. The arrest was made at noon yesterday at the Temple of the Soul's Freedom by Detectives Reich and Cohen, on testimony of Mrs. Isabella Goodwin, the police matron at Headquarters, and Mrs. Frances Benzecry, an investigator for the society, who set forth that they had received respectively from her treatment for headache and stomach trouble, after a new and odd fashion. Both also testified that she had exacted $2 a treatment in an old and commonplace fashion. At the request of Mme. Riqué Magistrate House adjourned the hearing till Aug. 29.

The society was represented by John G. Dyer of the office of Almuth C. Vandiver. Mme. Riqué, who entered court with several friends, is a stout woman, and was dressed in white from top to toe—color and perfume, according to the affidavits of the investigators, having much to do with the efficacy of New Thought as a means of curing all ailments.

She wore a straw and lace hat, with great drooping aigrettes, and odd ropes wound vinelike around it. Her dress was in tiers of three huge flounces, and her white earrings seemed to be made of straw. A long jeweled chain was draped over her bosom, and a heavy gold bracelet and dangling chatelaine set of gunmetal completed her ornaments. She flourished a parasol at whose head glared a bulldog. Before she left the courtroom, after her $500 cash bail had been furnished, she handed Magistrate House a red pamphlet descriptive of the miracles of New Thought, adding that she knew it would do him good. The Magistrate received it with non-committal face.

Mrs. Goodwin says she visited Mme. Riqué on Aug. 2, saying she had a headache, pains in the back of her neck and base of the brain, and that she was depressed mentally and physically.

"I know that, my dear little woman," she says Mme. Riqué told her. "I felt your condition the moment you entered the room. Yo do not sit properly. Your vibrations are all wrong. That causes headaches."

After indicating the proper way to sit, the complaint continues, Mme. Riqué asked:

"Do you know where your soul is?"

Mrs. Goodwin did not. Then, she says, Mme. Riqué informed her:

"Your soul is in your chest. There are two magnetic currents, one connects with the dome or head, which is the workshop; also with the ether or air we breathe. The other runs back and connects with the base of the brain and top of the spine. I will give you a treatment for headache."

Then, according to the complaint, she drew her chair closer and said:

"Take my hands and go into the silence with me. The way you go into the silence is to relax entirely and close your eyes and think only of your chest, which contains the soul or spirit."

She then, according to the complaint, taught Mrs. Goodwin how to breathe, saying:

"You let your dead self pass out when you do that. I see a beautiful picture of your soul. I see an angel standing behind you, and from this time your soul will travel on a new road. September, October, and November will bring improved conditions. Now say with me, 'God and myself, myself and God, God and myself.'"

Mrs. Goodwin dutifully repeated this humble phrase, which, she says, Mme. Riqué told her all Advanced New Thought believers repeated daily at 12 o'clock, "even if they have to retire from company to do so." There followed, she says, some rubbing of her head and temples with the sanctified fingers wet with alcohol, after which, she says, Mme. Riqué said she looked three years younger, adding:

"Every morning I want you to say 'Good morning, my soul.' If you rise from bed without having said 'Good morning, my soul,' go back to bed and say 'Good morning, my soul,' before you rise. Then I want you to form your circle."

Mme. Riqué explained, the complaint continues, this "circle" by whirling around slowly with arms extended horizontally, and to say when doing so:

"All of this belongs to me." Or, as she said one of her pupils used to say: "That is my real estate; keep off the grass." This, she said, gives power.

Mrs. Goodwin says she paid $2 for this treatment. She says she returned on Aug. 5, saying she still had a headache and wanted relief. She says Mme. Riqué told her to try camomile tea for it.

"I see by your circular that you say perfume is beneficial to the nervous system," Mrs. Goodwin says she remarked.

"Yes," she says Mme. Riqué replied. "You need a strong Oriental perfume, like asurue or incarnata. Put some on your handkerchief and waist. It will strengthen you and attract people to you. Take out your handkerchief at the butcher's or baker's, and the clerks will immediately leave all others and attend to you."

Colors, too, according to the complaint, were credited with psychic influence by the priestess of Advanced Thought.

"Your colors are bright green and red," she is said to have announced. "You should wear red, particularly for your physical force. Never wear black again; it depresses you. This Winter I want you to get a brown costume trimmed with scarlet, and a little brown toque trimmed with a bunch of scarlet berries. This costume will bring you luck and cause you to look fifteen years younger."

With those same fifteen years of lost age in view, the complaint continues, she urged on Mrs. Goodwin the use of facial massage and face whitening—the massage to be taken at a cost of $1.25, at parlors named on card she gave Mrs. Goodwin. Finally, she says, she was told:

"When you recognize your power, you will become your own doctor, lawyer, and minister. Now let us go into the silence together."

After the silence, Mrs. Goodwin says, she paid another $2 fee.

Mrs. Benzecry says she visited Mme. Riqué on Aug. 7 to be treated for "stomach trouble." Mme. Riqué, she says, took her into an inner room and lighted a dish with a perforated top, saying it was "incense to burn for purification of the air." After telling of a New Thought lesson much like Mrs. Goodwin's, the deponent adds, she was informed that "the shelves of her workshop were clogged and needed to be opened." She then learned, according to her testimony, of a most startling method of cheating the sense of taste.

"When you feel pain in your stomach and go to bed, rub your stomach well with alcohol and put a hot-water bag at the back," she says Mme. Riqué told her. "Also take a very hot bath. When your stomach is empty and you rub it with alcohol, you can taste it. That shows your nerves are in harmony. I have washed myself with soap on an empty stomach, and could taste the soap in my mouth."

The "treatment," the complaint concludes, ended with an instruction for Mrs. Benzecry to use a perfume made from carnations and to wear light blue "with an immense bouquet of carnations as red as she could get," if ever she attended a ball, that makeup being guaranteed to attract people to her.

"Oh, we forgot to go into the silence!" she says Mme. Riqué suddenly cried. "Well, I'll do that to-morrow."

She did not forget, the complaint adds, to ask and receive a fee of $2.

CHILDREN AND ELECTRICITY.

Made to Grow Like Vegetables by Electric Currents.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The experiments which have been carried on in recent years in regard to using electricity on the public school children in Stockholm, Sweden, are said to have met with great success. The object has been to test the beneficial nature of electricity on the human body.

Hitherto it has been found possible to force the growth of vegetables by means of electric currents distributed from a powerful dynamo. This idea has been carried out successfully in several places. It was accordingly believed that the human organism was equally susceptible to this influence, through the practically continuous application of an electrically charged atmosphere to the human system.

Two groups of twenty-five children each were selected, as nearly alike as possible in general health, size, and weight. The respective groups were given their instruction in two rooms, both being equal in size, ventilation, lighting, and other general conditions. But the group in one of the rooms was constantly exposed to the influence of electric currents, while the other group pursued its studies under normal conditions in the other room.

After a test of several years the two groups of children have been compared, and it is claimed that the "electrified" children have outstripped the others mentally and physically, and that they have grown faster, put on weight more quickly, and shown more physical fitness generally besides possessing superior mentality.

Skepticism is displayed in some quarters, and the result of the experiment is not altogether regarded as decisive. It is expected, however, that similar experiments will be conducted in some of the other schools in order to demonstrate the supposed efficacy of the electrifying process in improving the mental and physical condition of the rising population.

Needless to say, the combination of the new treatment, if successful, with the Swedish system of physical culture, now in vogue in many other countries also, is another indication of the rational and scientific progress that has been made in Sweden in recent years, many of the more progressive educationists endeavoring to embody, as far as practicable, the Greek ideal of a sound mind in a sound body.

1,700 ESPERANTISTS MEET.

Sixty American Delegates — Alfonso Honors Inventor of Esperanto.

ANTWERP, Aug. 21.—Sixty American delegates were present when the International Esperanto Congress opened its seventh annual convention here to-day. Fifteen nations were officially represented. The American Departments of State, War, and Commerce are represented respectively by Edwin C. Reed, Secretary of the Esperanto Association of North America; Dr. H. W. Yeamans, Vice President of the American Association, and E. C. Kokeley. Dr. Yeamans, who was President of the sixth congress, held in Washington last year, opened the convention.

One of the striking features of to-day's session was the ovation accorded by the 1,700 delegates to Dr. Ludwig L. Zamenhof of Poland, the inventor of Esperanto, when the Spanish Consul presented to him on behalf of King Alfonso the Cross of the Order of Isabella.

The delegates were informed to-day that some fifty men of the Antwerp Police Force speak Esperanto.

RIO JANEIRO, Aug. 21.—The Bank of Brazil has foreclosed its mortgage on the Lloyd Brasileiro (Brazilian Steamship) Company.

This action, it is stated to-day, was made necessary by the depreciation in the shares of the company, which has obligations totaling $6,000,000 gold.

Belfort Vicera, a naval officer, has been appointed temporary receiver for the company.

The Lloyd Brazileiro Company owns some fifty vessels and operates lines between New York and Brazilian ports.

The New York agent of the company is A. R. Graca. A NEW YORK TIMES reporter who called last night at Mr. Graca's home, 303 West Seventy-sixth Street, was informed that he was now on his way back to New York from Brazil, where he had been to attend a conference with the directors of the company.

About a month ago a telegram was received here from a London news agency stating that the Lloyd Brasileiro Company had been purchased by the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company for $10,000,000 and would be united on a working schedule with the Lamport and Holt line, which had been purchased about two weeks previously.

BRITISH LABOR WAR ENDING GRADUALLY

Strike Continues on One Big Railway and There Is Still Friction on Others.

KING THANKS LLOYD-GEORGE

Says the Settlement Was Largely Due to His Energy and Skill—More Rioting of Dublin Newsboys.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The strife in the industrial world of the United Kingdom is gradually abating.

With a truce in effect on all the railway lines except the London & Northwestern, the Board of Trade was occupied al of to-day in an endeavor to reach an amicable arrangement between the employes of this line and the managers, and also in trying to settle the strike on coastwise vessels. It is announced to-night that both these controversies are now in line for early adjustment.

There is still much friction on some of the railroads over the demand of strikers returning to work to receive full reinstatement in their old positions, which were given to men who remained loyal to the companies when the strike was declared. As a result there were several instances of disorder to-day in various parts of the kingdom and decisions by small bodies of men to remain on strike.

The representatives of the railway employes to-day complained that the companies were not carrying out the terms of the agreement under which the strike was called off, referring particularly to Clause 2, which provides for the reinstatement of strikers without prejudice. As a consequence a long conference was held at the Board of Trade, and a protest on the part of the men was investigated. At its conclusion the announcement was made that a satisfactory solution of the difficulty had been reached.

The Midland Railway employes were among those who on returning to work this morning found that in some cases they were not to be reinstated exactly in their old positions, to which men who had remained loyal had been promoted. When the strikers discovered that they had lost their seniority, they refused inferior positions pending a reference of the difficulty to the union executives.

Great numbers of guards, engineers, firemen, and signalmen returned to work at Manchester, but the porters, carters, and freight handlers remained out. Additional troops were sent to Manchester to assist in relieving the congestion of freight at the railway stations. The carters and freight handlers have declined a proposition to return to their work to-morrow.

Of 100,000 strikers at Liverpool, more than one-third reported for work early to-day, and the number increased hourly.

Work at the London docks was in full swing to-day for the first time in three weeks, but it will be some time before the congestion of the port, due to the dock and transfer men's strike, is relieved.

The settlement brought about on Saturday evening through the good offices of the Government provided for the appointment of sectional Conciliation Boards representing both parties, which are to undertake to adjust all immediate differences. To-morrow the membership of a Special Commission of Inquiry will be announced. This commission will assume the burden of working out a permanent agreement.

The men expect an advance in wages, concessions regarding the consideration of future grievances, and recognition of their unions. Heretofore the railroad companies have positively refused to treat with representatives of the unions who were not in their employ. On the other hand, the companies have been assured that at the next session of Parliament the Government will propose legislation providing that an increase in the cost of labor due to an improvement of conditions will be justification for a reasonable advance of railway rates within the legal maximum.

King George to-day telegraphed his congratulations to Premier Asquith, David Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Sydney Buxton, President of the Board of Trade, on the settlement of the railway strike. The King's message to Mr. Lloyd-George said:

> I am very glad to hear that it was largely due to your energy and skill that the settlement was brought about. I heartily congratulate you, and feel that the whole country will be most grateful to you for averting a most disastrous calamity. It has caused me the greatest possible anxiety.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 21.—While the questions at issue between the dockers and the shipowners were settled at a conference held to-day at the Cunard Line offices, a hitch over the return of the men to work occurred to-night when the dockers refused to resume their duties until the tramway and electric light employes are reinstated.

This new phase of the trouble, however, is considered only temporary, and the dockers are expected shortly to return to work.

In the meantime the Lord Mayor has appealed to the Home Secretary not to relax the military and naval protection of Liverpool.

DUBLIN, Aug. 21.—Riots growing out of the strike of newsboys were renewed to-night.

The contents of several newspaper wagons were burned, and there was some stone-throwing. The police, as was the case last night, were again compelled to make baton charges.

This evening's newspapers could not be purchased in the streets of the city. The offices of the newspapers are being strongly guarded

MORE ANTI-JEWISH RIOTING.

NEWPORT, Monmouthshire, Aug. 21.—There was a recurrence to-night at Tredegar of the unaccountable anti-Jewish riots which started on Saturday night and in which eighteen Jewish shops were wrecked and looted by a savage mob of hooligans.

The trouble spread to-night to Ebbw Vale and Rhymney, where Jewish shops also were wrecked.

Thirty persons were injured in baton charges by the police.

KENDALL REFUSES DUEL.

Seconds Appointed After Quarrel at Dinard, but He Declines to Fight.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DINARD, Aug. 21.—The members of the fashionable Summer colony here have been excited and a good deal amused in the last ten days by a quarrel between two well-known Americans of New York and Paris—George C. Kendall and Algernon Boyesen. This quarrel on two occasions led to the unusual spectacle of two prominent visitors exchanging blows in the Casino, which was filled each time with a crowd of men and women.

It was generally believed that the matter would be settled with dueling swords, but yesterday it was publicly announced that Mr. Kendall positively refused to accept a challenge, on the ground that American custom did not admit this method of settling a dispute.

Last Saturday week, while many visitors were at the baccarat tables, Boyesen entered the room and slapped Kendall's face. The following Wednesday Kendall walked on to the terrace of the Casino, which was then crowded for tea, approached Boyesen, and in turn slapped the other's face. On each occasion friends prevented the affair from degenerating into a fight.

Things having gone thus far, seconds were appointed. Despite Kendall's aversion to such a proceeding, F. Foster and John Finn agreed to act for him and André de Fouquières and Count P. Rochaid consented to act on behalf of Boyesen. After several fruitless meetings, Boyesen's seconds, unable to induce Kendall to change his ideas in regard to a duel, wrote to their principal the following letter, which yesterday was communicated to the local press:

> Dear Mr. Boyesen: We have met Mr. Kendall's seconds and asked them in your name that reparation which is required by the attack made upon your honor. Alas! we met with obstinacy, whereby Mr. Kendall refuses to give the satisfaction which we desire for him as much as for you. His seconds shelter themselves behind their principal's quality of an American citizen, who declines to recognize the duel as a man's method of settling an affair of honor. We are not called upon to criticise this point of view which the public will judge by itself. We consider our mission ended and remain,
>
> COUNT P. ROCHAID.
> ANDRE DE FOUQUIERES.

Mr. Kendall's attitude is much commented upon by the French here. Several of the oldest members of the American colony condemn it, while the majority of the American visitors support what they call Mr. Kendall's strict adherence to the principles of American citizens.

Algernon Boyesen is a graduate of Columbia University of the class of '03. His wife was Miss Adelaide Mott Barclay. They have been living in the Rue de Constantine, Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. George Choate Kendall have also been abroad for some time. Mr. Kendall is a member of the Racquet and Tennis Club of New York and the Metropolitan Club of Washington. Mrs. Kendall, who was Mabel Barnaby-Conrad, sailed for Europe last April to join her husband.

CATCH FOUNTAIN PEN FAGIN.

Boy of 15 Accused of Teaching Other Boys to Steal Pens.

Arthur Engel, 15 years old, of 60 Pitt Street, styled by the police "The Fountain Pen Fagin," was arraigned before Justice Hoyt in the Children's Court yesterday afternoon charged with having hired boys of about his age to steal fountain pens, which he would later pawn or sell. He was remanded to the care of the Children's Society on a technical charge of juvenile delinquency until Sept. 9.

According to Detective Wittenberg, who arrested Engel, the boy's plan was to station other boys along the streets in the vicinity of Rivington and Pitt Streets, where songs are sold by men who sing the songs and sell the sheet music. The singing gathers a crowd and the boys edge up to a man, and while one gives him a jab in the ribs another steals his fountain pen.

When arrested, the police say, a quantity of pawn tickets were found on Engel. He admitted in court having pawned numerous pens, but denied knowing they were stolen.

Notes of Foreign Affairs.

PORT AU PRINCE, Aug. 21.—The American scout cruisers Salem and Chester fired a National salute this morning in honor of the new Government of President Cincinnatus Leconte, which was recognized by the United States last Friday. The possibility of further trouble here appears to be remote.

HAVRE, Aug. 21.—The French Transatlantic Steamship Company's new steamer, the Rochambeau, arrived here to-day from St. Nazaire to be fitted out for her maiden voyage to New York, which will be begun on Sept. 9.

SAYS GAS MAN STRUCK HIM.

Grocer Sues Company for Shutting Off Gas and for Assault.

Max Hochman, a grocer of 119 Suffolk Street, has sued the New Amsterdam Gas Company, in the City Court, for $2,000 damages on two counts, one for shutting off his supply of gas and the other for assault by the agent of the company.

The company demurred to the suit on the ground that the issues in the two suits were joined, while really there should have been two suits brought; one for $500 for damages for shutting off the gas and the other for $1,500 damages for assault. Justice Smith of the City Court has sustained the demurrer, with leave to the plaintiff to bring two actions.

The plaintiff sets forth that on June 28 he contracted with the defendant to supply him with gas and paid $15 to bind the contract and as a deposit on the meter. He declares that on July 8, without any just cause or provocation, an agent of the company visited his place of business and shut off his supply of gas, and that while he was trying to get some explanation of this action the agent struck and injured him so that he was confined to his bed.

ALEXANDRE A BANKRUPT.

Defendant in Recent Suit of His Wife for Divorce Says He Has No Assets.

Francis V. Alexandre of 321 West 112th Street, who was prominent some years ago as an owner of race horses and who was reported to have inherited a fortune of $1,000,000 from his father, a steamship owner, filed a petition in bankruptcy yesterday, with liabilities of $3,144 and no assets. He names seventeen creditors, and debts of $1,008 contracted between January and July last at well-known restaurants—$625 at Louis Martin's café, $300 at J. B. Martin's, $33 at Maxim's, and $50 at Churchill's. Other debts include money owed for jewelry, dentistry, and detective service.

On Oct. 11, 1910, his wife, Mrs. Sedonya Bussell Alexandre, brought a suit for divorce against Mr. Alexandre, who was then living in an apartment at 718 Fifth Avenue. She had been married to him fifteen years, and brought suit on statutory grounds, without naming a corespondent. She was said by her counsel to want only small alimony, it being understood that her husband had gotten rid of a large part of his fortune. He was then a member of the New York Yacht, New York Athletic, Turf and Field, Larchmont Yacht, and Catholic Clubs. He is a graduate of Harvard University.

RUEF FROM PRISON SUGGESTS A REFORM

Former Boss Has a Plan to Aid and Rehabilitate Convicts After Their Release.

IMPRESSES PRISON BOARD

He Would Have a Fund to Provide Employment and Believes Many Men Would Be Saved.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—Abraham Ruef, one-time boss of San Francisco, who began in March of this year a fourteen-year sentence to San Quentin Prison for corruption, has evolved from what he has seen and heard there a scheme for helping the convicted criminal to tide over that desolate period when he first returns to liberty. This he has put into the form of a letter to the State Board of Prison Directors.

"Its statistical estimates are striking," is the comment of President Charles Montgomery of the Prison Commission, "and its logical deductions based on conceded or demonstrated premises seem unanswerable."

Ruef's plan is for a voluntary benefit association. "So far as I know," he writes, "the plan is new, and in my opinion will be entirely practicable and successful." He thus briefly outlines it:

> To establish a purely voluntary association among the prisoners here, to be affiliated with the California Prison Commission, or some similar society outside, existing or newly to be established, whose objects roughly stated shall be generally to aid discharged prisoners to tide over the period of non-employment after leaving the prison, including as far as possible, food, lodging, suitable clothing, and employment if necessary, and other possible means of employment failing, to assist in establishing industrial or agricultural enterprises so that temporary employment may be assured; and also within these walls by special attention and instruction to aid in preparing the men to qualify for work outside—without in any way interfering with the work or routine of prison administration.

On July 1 Ruef estimates, there were 3,000 men convicted of felonies and confined at one time in the penitentiaries of the State, and as many in the reformatories and county jails. He sees one in every three hundred persons or one in every sixty families branded as a criminal. He lays the ground work for his argument with his estimate that the present prison population of California involves the added actual and existing interest of at least 30,000 families. He adds:

> As a matter of fact I have found many among the prisoners into whose outside affiliations I have inquired to be related to twenty and more families each, and I have been surprised to learn of the very large number of families, even of our best known, of which, unfortunately, some representative is here. So we have before us not only our long lines of striped prisoners, snaky ghosts of their former selves, doomed and almost hopeless sepulchres of mind and soul, but we confront and must contemplate also the vast army of those without who are also directly affected by their imprisonment.

Most of the prison reforms now operating, he finds too sporadic, too limited, too superficial. He says:

"Many who are imprisoned claim that they are innocent. Many are innocent, and many are not. Many are convicted not because of their guilt, but because of the enormity of the offense with which they are charged, many because of lack of funds, or other inability properly to present their cases, many merely because of suspicious circumstances, many are the undeserving victims of over-zealous prosecutions and of the demand for sacrifice to offset the crime committed. But irrespective of their guilt or innocence, when once they have paid the penalty imposed upon them, it is clearly just that, although heavily handicapped, they should have at least a chance to start again in the race of life, with a clear field before them.

Ruef pictures unsparingly the conditions which confront nine out of every ten prisoners who try to start afresh in the outside world. He says there are but two independent recourses open to the unhappy ex-convict, to commit suicide or to commit another crime, and go back to prison. He goes on:

"How many have sought peace in eternal rest cannot be known. The records here will show how many came back. There is of course a third recourse, charity. The discharged man resents dependence and charity as much as does the man who has never been in jail. Moreover, even the most respected charities shrink from assisting the dreaded ex-convict, especially where upon their slender funds, they have excess demands for the destitute, sick and infirm women and children of the community.

"Notwithstanding mistaken popular impression to the contrary, I believe, from a thorough though rapid survey of the situation, that at least 50 per cent. of the inmates of this institution are not criminals at heart or by nature, that they are capable of restoration to good citizenship and of entire rehabilitation; that of the remaining 50 per cent., over half would, under proper guidance and support, with proper government, and under proper control, be capable of being made into good citizens and useful members of society. And strange as it may seem, I would not despair of even greatly reducing the category of the irreclaimable in the remaining 25 per cent. Though many of the latter were guilty of terrible crimes, I have found nearly all of them responsive to kindly interest and to the encouragement of words of hope.

"These are not the expressions of an inconsiderate fanatic, or of a foolish enthusiast, but they are the sober, serious reflections of an ordinary man given the opportunity seldom granted or forced upon one to observe and study conditions from the inside.

"Now, if the discharged prisoner can be placed in a position where he will feel that as a matter of right he may accept such aid until he can find employment or is 'put on his feet,' that his association with those that help is not the relation of alms giver and mendicant, not only will he have courage and strength of will cheerfully to accept assistance until he can help himself, but he will have hope, inspiration, and encouragement instead of despair, depression, and despondency; and if that sentiment and those feelings can be brought into play before he leaves the prison walls, and if also before his term expires his family and his friends can be made to interest themselves systematically in his future, success would be assured in almost every case."

It is part of Ruef's rough plan that every prisoner shall be allowed to join his voluntary association, and on the question of dues his idea is that each member shall contribute $2 a year, or any other nominal sum. He admits that most of the men have no money, and plans to substitute in such cases promissory notes, payable at the maker's pleasure. He knows that some will sign without any intention of paying and that some will join with no intention of bettering themselves, but merely in the hope of succor when caught again. But he does think that those who really want to start aright will try to pay and will rely on the association for the kind of help it is designed to give. He believes that the families from without will try to make the payments, and it is part of his plan that each prisoner shall be allowed to give the names of three or more persons sufficiently interested in his welfare to become similar contributing members of the outside affiliated society. This, he thinks, would serve the double purpose of financial aid and of keeping alive the outside interest in the man confined.

Ruef says that he does not expect to see an ideal condition resulting from the accomplishment of these conditions, but if properly handled, he does expect to see the number of criminals greatly reduced.

"Some will backslide," he says, "some will deceive, some will go on committing crimes, and plotting to commit them, just as they do now, but there will not be so many, nor will there be such complacency toward them on the part of others, nor such power in them to mislead others, nor such strong desire on their own part to remain wrong; the incentive in many even of these cases, will be removed by opportunity to earn an honest living, to get honest employment. Human nature will not change, but I believe that the good in these men can be brought more readily to the surface in this way than by any that has yet been devised."

READY TO WED COL. ASTOR.

De Witt Talmadge Van Doren Says He Is Not Above State Law.

Special to The New York Times.

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Aug. 21.—"If Col. Astor and Miss Force should appeal to me to marry them I certainly would do so, provided they had the State license. I do not set myself above the laws of the State," said Dr. De Witt Talmadge Van Doren this evening when asked for his attitude on the Astor-Force alliance.

"The question of their marriage," he said, "is not one for outside parties to decide. I think that any minister degrades his calling in making such declarations from the pulpit as did Dr. Richmond in this connection."

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, Aug. 21.—Col. John Jacob Astor and his fiancée, Miss Madeleine Force and her father intend, apparently, to prolong their yachting cruise for some days. Col. Astor and Miss Force before they departed from Newport Saturday, refused invitations for all the Newport social affairs up to and including the 23 of August. Many of the Summer residents are still of the opinion that Col Astor and Miss Force will be married at Beechwood, Col. Astor's Newport residence later in the season as the earlier report had it.

Mrs. Force, the mother of the young woman, it is now said, is still visiting Mrs. Harry S. Glover, at Fairfield, Conn., but Miss Katherine Force, her sister, has gone to Sea Bright, N. J.

DISOBEYED FIRE CHIEF.

Young Man Arrested Because He Refused to Leave His Own Home.

Frederick Nellis, a law student, 22 years old, who lives with his father, A. F. Nellis, in a cottage on Little Cove Road, Concord, S. I., was brought before Magistrate Marsh at Stapleton yesterday on the charge of having refused to obey the orders of city firemen. This is said to be the first case of the kind that has come up in the courts of Richmond Borough. Nellis's father is Secretary of the Judiciary Committee of the Assembly at Albany.

Fire was discovered yesterday afternoon in the Nellis cottage, and when the firemen arrived Deputy Chief Beggin, who is the complainant against young Nellis, ordered everybody out of the building. Nellis refused to go, and Beggin caused his arrest. In court Nellis admitted that he had refused to obey the orders of the Deputy Chief, and said that his reason was that the fire had been extinguished, and he did not want to see the furniture needlessly damaged by water. According to Beggin the cottage was still on fire when the firemen arrived, and the flames were extinguished through their efforts.

Nellis's father corroborates the statement made by his son. The fire did about $400 damage.

Young Nellis was held for trial at the Court of Special Sessions.

DEAF INSTRUCTORS TO WED.

Miss Mary Williamson to Marry To-day Prof. Robert L. Erd.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, Aug. 21.—A wedding of romantic interest will be solemnized at the home of Mrs. Sophie Williamson of Seaman Street, this city, to-morrow at 3:30 o'clock, when her daughter, Miss Mary Miller Williamson, a deaf girl and an instructor in the Deaf and Dumb College at Flint, Mich., will become the bride of Prof. Robert Louis Erd, an instructor in the same institution.

The bride-elect was appointed an instructor six months ago, and it was there she met Prof. Erd, the physical instructor. She is a graduate of Gallaudet College, Washington, D. C., and has traveled extensively. Dr. P. T. Pockman of the First Reformed Church will perform the ceremony. The bridal trip will include the White Mountains and Canada.

CUBA MUCH EXCITED BY DEPORTATIONS

Anti-Administration Organs Call Act Outrageous Violation of Foreigners' Rights.

SPAIN'S ACTION AWAITED

Sons of Banished Editor Say They Will Continue Paper's Publication and Adhere to Former Policy.

HAVANA, Aug. 21.—The deportation on a steamer bound for Spain last night of José Maria Villaverde, managing editor of the Conservative organ Cuba, and his nephew, Manuel Villaverde, a member of the editorial staff of Cuba, has created intense excitement throughout the island, and is everywhere the one topic of discussion.

The Administration newspapers are stoutly defending the action of President Gomez in ordering the deportation of the men, while the openly hostile papers, such as El Dia and Cuba, are denouncing it as an outrageous violation of the rights of foreigners resident in Cuba. El Mundo declares that the only thing to be regretted about the incident is the fact that the Villaverdes are Spaniards, as between Spaniards and Cubans there should exist the warmest ties of racial affection.

The supporters of the Administration cite in support of the action of President Gomez a resolution adopted at an international conference held at Hamburg in 1894, to which, it is alleged, all the powers subscribed, declaring it the absolute right of any ruler summarily to deport a foreigner whose conduct is considered detrimental to the interest of a country. They also point out as a precedent the deportation of José Pennino Barbato, an Italian adventurer charged with sedition, by order of the late President Palma.

The opponents of the Administration, however, declare that there is nothing analagous in the cases of Barbato and the Villaverdes, the elder Villaverde having been a highly esteemed resident of Cuba for nearly fifty years, while Barbato had arrived here from New York, where he was unable to obtain permission to land, on the ground that he was a militant Anarchist. Moreover, they say, Barbato, immediately he landed in Cuba, began a campaign of sedition against the Government.

The Spanish Minister is standing aloof from the controversy. He says he has made no representations to his home Government, desiring first to ascertain all the facts in the case and also to decide the question whether the Cuban Government is acting within its international rights.

A few minutes before the departure of the Spanish steamer Alfonso XIII., on board which the Villaverdes were deported, Gen. Freyre Andrade, ex-Secretary of the Interior, and Antonio Gonzales Lanzua, the Conservative leader in the House, applied for writs of habeas corpus on behalf of the men, but these were denied on the ground that the application failed to give the names of the persons who arrested the Villaverdes. Secret police stormed the Villaverde home and took the men on board the Alfonso XIII.

The younger Villaverde, according to the advice of counsel, will, on the arrival of the steamer at the first Spanish port where there is a Cuban Consul, appeal to the Consul as a Cuban citizen for protection.

The other sons of the elder Villaverde, who are Cuban born, to-day announced their intention to continue the publication of Cuba, and resolutely to pursue the policy of their father, who has persistently attacked the Government.

The Spanish colony is greatly divided in sentiment over the affair. The Spanish Casino, the principal club of the Spaniards, of which José Villaverde is an ex-Vice President and an honorary member, decided to-day that it was inexpedient to take any cognizance of the deportations in advance of action by the Spanish Minister.

The impression seems to prevail that the Administration proceeded with the deportation of the Villaverdes only after having sounded the Spanish Minister.

Alaska Expedition Loses Records.

CORDOVA, Alaska, Aug. 21.—All field notes and the cameras and exposed films of the Smithsonian Institution glacial expedition are somewhere on the bottom of the Big Delta River, according to advices received here to-day. The current of the river tipped up a wagon in which Professors R. F. Starr and Lawrence Madden were crossing the stream on their way to Fairbanks and spilled out the men in the Delta and the photographic outfit. The men got ashore.

THREE SUBWAY BLOCKADES.

Mishaps in Busy Morning Hours Caused Much Crowding and Delay.

Trouble in three places, on both the express and local tracks, caused a considerable delay of Subway traffic during the busy hours yesterday morning.

As a southbond Lenox Avenue express train was about to enter the Ninety-sixth Street station, one of the cars tripped a signal. This threw out several other signals, and all trains on the southbound track were blocked. Express and local trains were stopped on the Lenox Avenue Division, and when the trouble was righted the trains were run at very slow speed.

A few minutes after this mishap, a northbound Broadway express train came to a stop at the Bowling Green station through some trouble with the controller. It took the motorman several minutes to overcome the difficulty. Meanwhile all trains from Brooklyn were held up. Several were stuck in the tube under the river, and the passengers in the crowded cars made many complaints. All of the express train platforms north of Bowling Green were densely crowded. It was some time before the regular express schedule was again in effect.

On the local tracks a southbound train broke in two at the Twenty-eighth Street station at 8:30 A. M. It took several minutes to repair the damage, while all the following trains were held up. The train again parted at the Eighteenth Street station. This time it took about ten minutes to get it started. At the Brooklyn Bridge Station it was sidetrack. An hour elapsed before the regular schedule was once more in operation.

Woman Friend Thinks She Left Money Not Yet Found.

An examination of the effects of the aged woman who had been living in a hotel in Hoboken under the name of "Mme. James Paine Webb, Berlin, Paris, and New York," and who died there on Saturday, was made yesterday on the advice of Mrs. Charles Edward Abbott of 275 West Twenty-second Street, who knew that she had received $868 in June. The undertaker in Hoboken who had charge of the body telephoned to Mrs. Abbott yesterday afternoon that $400 had been found in an old yellow envelope in a trunk. Previously they had found $40 in a wollen petticoat which the woman wore under her nightdress when she died.

Mrs. Abbott said that Mme. Webb was the widow of Dr. Webb of Bridgeton, Me., who died several years ago, and was at one time well known as a physician in New York State. Mme. Webb had lived for many years abroad and had traveled all over Europe. About a year ago she came to America and found herself without money. She answered an advertisement of Mrs. Abbott for a French teacher and later came to live at Mrs. Abbott's house.

In June she received a sum of money from Philadelphia and went to the hotel in Hoboken to live, because she wanted to be out of sight in her reduced circumstances. She spent little money, and her expense accounts showed that since she left Mrs. Abbott's she had disbursed about $200. With the $400 just found Mrs. Abbott thinks there should be a balance of about $200 which is still unaccounted for.

Mrs. Abbott went to Hoboken last night to arrange for the burial of Mrs. Webb. She said that Mrs. Webb had told her that her husband, the late Dr. James Paine Webb, was a cousin of Dr. Seward Webb of this city. Mrs. Abbott told County Physician Converse that she would bring the death of Mrs. Webb to the attention of Dr. Webb and she hoped that the burial would be made in the Webb family plott in Bridgeton, Me.

ALDERMAN CHARGES GRAFT IN ORANGE

Smith Intimates He May Reveal Crookedness in the Award of a Contract.

TELLS OF A BRIBE OFFER

Says He Was Offered $400 if He Would Change His Attitude on One Appointment.

A wrangle in the Democratic majority of the Common Council of Orange, N. J., that has lasted since the beginning of the year, when a division occurred over appointments, culminated in graft charges at the meeting last night, when the insurgent members were able to make an appointment through the absence of a Repblican who has stood by the original choice of the Democrats.

Alderman Patrick A. Smith stated in the presence of most of the Council after adjournment that he had been offered $400 if he would change his attitude on a certain appointment. He intimated also that he would reveal graft in connection with the recent award of a scavenger contract. He tried to make the statement during the meeting, but was ruled out of order by Chairman Coleman. The Alderman's graft talk landed like a bomb in the midst of the crowd of officials and interested citizens.

Angered by the appointment of Patrick Deignan as assistant to Frank G. Coughtry, Collector of Taxes, Smith, who had led the faction in favor of Joseph Mulvihilt, the first choice, tried twice immediately after the vote to make his statement on the floor of the Council. Another resolution had been made and seconded, however, and Smith was forced to take his seat. Adjournment came before he had the opportunity he sought.

"This man Deignan," said Smith afterward, "was put up as a candidate because some of the Democrats were sore about the failure of Bernhard Finneran to get the job of Tax Assessor. I can make an affidavit that I was offered $400 if I would support Finneran. Later on I am going to tell something about that scavenger contract."

DASH BY HANDCUFFED MEN.

Four Try to Escape at Albany on Their Way to Auburn.

ALBANY, Aug. 21.—While enjoying refreshments at a hotel shortly after their arrival here to-day, four men who were accused by the Kingston authorities of being expert pickpockets and had been sentenced to Auburn Penitentiary for disorderly conduct, broke away from their custodians and made a dash for freedom. Martin Ryan and William Bennett, handcuffed together, gave several Albany officers a merry chase along nearly a score of crowded streets before they were recaptured. Joseph Steiner and James Stickney were caught before they got well started. The quartet then went to the penitentiary in the patrol wagon.

BURGLARS USED SMALL BOY.

Police Believe He First Entered Jewelry Shop and Admitted the Others.

Detective Vachris, formerly at the head of the Italian Bureau at Police Headquarters, is directing the search for the men who entered the jewelry shop of Jacob D. Cohn at 674 Westchester Avenue, the Bronx, on Friday night, and carried away $5,000 worth of diamonds, watches, and pins.

The safe in Cohn's shop is small and old. It was said that it would not have taken very clever burglars or very powerful tools to get into it. The burglars ripped off a sheet of steel with a chisel and a large can opener and drilled through the concrete lining and a thin sheet of steel which formed another inner lining. They worked through the back of the safe and removed through a hole sixty-seven loose diamonds, twenty-four diamond rings, and twenty-four gold watches, besides a hundred pins of various sorts.

The police are certain that the robbers entered the shop through a rear window from a court yard about twenty feet below. A small window leading into a toilet room was left unlocked, and on account of its size the police believe that the robbers used a small boy and a ladder for the first entrance and that the boy opened a larger window, through which the burglars were admitted.

The jeweler told the detectives that two men had come to his shop on Friday afternoon and had looked through it, saying that they were electricians and wished to inspect the wiring.

SEIZED HAND IN HIS POCKET.

Fight in Elevated Car When Organist Loses $120.

Julius U. de Uherkocz, organist at St. John's Church, 167th Street and Hoe Avenue, the Bronx, who lives at 418 East 208d Street, had business in Union Square yesterday and started home on a Bronx express train, which he boarded about 5:30 o'clock at the Fourteenth Street station of the Third Avenue elevated road.

With him three young men entered the car, and presently he noticed that they seemed to jostle him unnecessarily. At Eightieth Street he thought he felt a hand in his hip pocket, where he had a pocketbook containing $120. He found he was mistaken, but kept a watch for a recurrence of an attempt to pick his pocket, and just as the train left the station at 129th Street, actually felt a hand and caught it.

The young man, one of the three, who had been investigating his pocket, fought desperately, and women screamed and men came to Mr. de Uherkocz's assistance. In the mix-up the two other youths escaped. The train halted at the 138th Street station and Mr. de Uherkocz handed his prisoner over to Policeman Ryan, who had come to the platform in response to whistles from the motorman.

At the Alexander Avenue Station the prisoner said he was Frank Schepis of 536 East 135th Street. He was locked up, though none of Mr. Uherkocz's money was found on him.

John F. Carroll Is Better.

John F. Carroll, former leader of Tammany Hall, who is ill of intestinal troubles at the Hotel Nassau, Long Beach, L. I., was reported to be much improved last night. At the hotel it was said that his condition, despite reports to the contrary, is not serious.

THINKS LAUNCH WAS [illegible]

Coroner Schwannecke, Back [illegible] Cruise, Reports Possible [illegible]

Coroner Albert Schwannecke of [illegible] Bronx returned yesterday from a [illegible] tion of two weeks, which he spent cruising in Long Island Sound in [illegible] forty-foot auxiliary yawl Nicor, [illegible] brought back with him a tale of [illegible] in the big storm and blow of last [illegible]

The Coroner thinks that three, or [illegible] haps four, persons were drowned, [illegible] though up to date he has not been [illegible] to learn of any lost launch such as [illegible] one which sank, he believes, before [illegible] eyes, nor have any deaths in the [illegible] been reported, so far as he has learned.

Mr. Schwannecke said that he was [illegible] Huntington Harbor about 6 o'clock [illegible] day night when the storm broke there [illegible] that he had all he could do to keep [illegible] craft afloat. In the worst of the [illegible] he sighted the launch, a semi-racing [illegible] fair about twenty-eight feet long. [illegible] could not get near it to offer aid, [illegible] was compelled to watch it scud half [illegible] mile to the windward, where it appeared to him to sink. When he got ashore, [illegible] hour or so afterward, he reported the occurrence.

DENIES STEEL MERGER.

Schwab Not to Fight the United States Corporation.

BETHLEHEM, Penn., Aug. 21.—Charles M. Schwab, President of the Bethlehem Steel Company denied to-night the report that his company would be merged with the Lackawanna Steel Company and the Republic Iron and Steel Company to fight the United States Steel Corporation.

"We are solely interested in the development of our own company," he said.

The story of a prospective consolidation of the principal independent manufacturers of steel and iron has been revived periodically for half a dozen years. At the time of the retirement last year of W. E. Corey as President of the United States Steel Corporation, the old story was revived with circumstantial detail. Mr. Corey was to head the combine. At Mr. Corey's office yesterday it was said that he regarded the rumor as too old to merit a denial.

JAMES H. LEWIS IS BACK

With His Whiskers and Gay Raiment to Match 'Em.

James Hamilton Lewis returned yesterday from Europe on the Holland-Amerika liner Nieuw Amsterdam with his whiskers carefully groomed and a gorgeous array of waistcoats and brilliant-hued neckties to match the whiskers.

To the reporters he said that politicians in Spain were telling the people that the examination of the Maine had proved that the explosion was from the inside and that they would make the United States pay damages or give back the Philippines if elected to power this coming election at Madrid.

Mr. Lewis, or as he prefers to be called, Col. Lewis, said he would leave almost immediately for Chicago to look after his law practice.

WANDERING IN DARKNESS.

Senator LA FOLLETTE's amendment to the Sherman Anti-Trust law and the speech he made in support of his amendment show his mind to be hopelessly muddled on the whole subject of anti-trust legislation and restraint of trade. He is wandering in midnight darkness, but he has plenty of company, if that can be any comfort to him, for nine-tenths of the lawyers and the Judges have, for more than twenty years, been hopelessly muddled and in the dark as to the meaning of the anti-trust law. We say hopelessly, because, although the Supreme Court has at length turned the light of reason and clear wisdom upon the law in a way that, for the first time, shows its plain meaning, nevertheless some of the most learned lawyers in the land go on talking about "reasonable" restraint of trade, though there cannot by any possibility be any restraint of trade that is reasonable. One of the Federal courts has, indeed, in a recent decision, accepted and put into its reasoning and into its conclusion the distinction THE TIMES has sought to make clear between restraint of trade and restraint of competition. Any one who reads the anti-trust law by the light of reason as a piece of English composition and not by the perverse and darkening glimmer of legal jargon, and who, also, knows the history of the making of the law in Congress, must understand, for THE TIMES has made a convincing demonstration of that fact, that the law does not forbid restraint of competition, which may often serve to promote and extend trade, but does forbid all and every restraint of trade, which must always and everywhere and in every case be an evil.

Senator LA FOLLETTE will probably never understand this distinction. He cannot free his mind of the delusion that the Supreme Court has read something into the Sherman act, that it has amended it by inserting the word "reasonable." To be sure, and the fact is from every point of view deplorable, he here follows where the dissenting Justice of the Supreme Court has led. His amendments, contrived with the design to remove what he calls the Supreme Court's amendment, betray his amazing confusion of mind. It is not merely that they are complex, introducing elements of great doubt and difficulty into a perfectly plain and workable statute, but they are wholly futile and superfluous. The real evils he aims at are perfectly curable under the law as it stands; they fall within the prohibitions of the statute as it has been construed by the Supreme Court. In the Standard Oil case and in the Tobacco case the court was at pains to define and describe those practices in restraint of competition that are and must always be unlawful. The La Follette amendments are unnecessary.

But the Senator goes further and puts upon the accused trust the burden of proving that it is innocent, that its practices are not unlawful. This reverses the maxim of the law that innocence is to be presumed until guilt is proved. In each proceeding Senator LA FOLLETTE would have the Government start with the assumption that the particular trust in question was guilty. As a thorough-paced radical, of course Senator LA FOLLETTE assumes that all trusts are guilty. We do not know just what he would accomplish by this amendment. When a trust is indicted, the prosecuting officer presents before the court the facts upon which the indictment is based. He would have to do the same under Senator LA FOLLETTE's procedure in order to make a case for trial. The Wisconsin Senator would, also, assume a monopoly and violation of the law in the case of every combination which controlled more than 40 per cent. in value of the particular commodity it produced, and it would be guilty whether this 40 per cent. was of the total quantity sold in the United States or merely of the quantity sold in the district to which the business extended. There are countless concerns in the United States which control more than 40 per cent. of their particular business in the district to which their trade extends, and yet they are in no sense restrainers of trade, and they are not in the guilty sense monopolists any more than Mr. LA FOLLETTE is a monopolist of wisdom in the Senate. Such an amendment to the law can be properly described only as idiotic, but it would be unfair to his other amendments to select this one as specially deserving of that epithet.

Senator LA FOLLETTE is probably unaware that his amendments would in all probability put every labor union in the country under the ban of the law. As the law now stands, it is applicable to offenses committed by organized labor. That has been decided. Any attempt to amend the law in the sense desired and advocated by those who have criticised the Supreme Court's recent decisions would almost certainly make the enforcement of labor union regulations an indictable offense. The word competition is not to be found in the Sherman act. Mr. LA FOLLETTE proposes to put it into the act, many times. His amendments repeatedly speak of restraint of competition. The labor unions are the chief restrainers of competition in this country. The radicals and progressives at Washington have not seemed to be aware that in attempting to meddle with the act of 1890 they may blunder into a war with labor.

THE STATIONARY POSTS.

Midsummer burglaries in the closed houses of those who are in the country or abroad cannot fairly be blamed to the institution of the new system of stationary posts for policemen. Under that system the police guard of residential districts has been increased. Of course, no policeman, however vigilant, can see from his post what is going on in all parts of his district. No system could be devised in which any single house or block of houses could be watched all the time. The report that there has been an unprecedented number of burglaries in closed houses this Summer may be true, but the policemen on stationary posts cannot fairly be held responsible unless evidence is forthcoming that thieves broke into buildings under their very eyes.

Thus far the new system seems to have worked very well indeed. For the first time every householder can feel that there is always a policeman within reach. In the opinion of some of the most experienced and competent members of the force no police experiment made in many years has been so promising. There has been some grumbling among the men, but their complaints do not seem important. All police work, zealously performed, is hard work, but obviously the members of the force are not overworked now. The indications are that the system of stationary posts will be permanently established, but experience may suggest some modification of the present rules, and the system deserves a fair trial.

THE BRITISH STRIKE SETTLEMENT

Both sides have accepted what they respectively declared they would never accept in the settlement of the British railway strike. The strikers protested that they were dissatisfied with the conciliation boards which were conceded to their demands in 1907, and they have accepted a temporary conciliation board as a step toward a permanent adjustment not now reached even in principle. The railways abandon their insistence upon procedure through the conciliation boards and consent to negotiate with the representatives of the men, but the represented must be those in their employ, and not strangers. The milk in the cocoanut is not in the text of the official agreement, but is indicated in the Government's announcement that "the Government pledges itself to propose to Parliament that owing to the increase of the cost of labor there will be a legal reason for an increase in the charges to the general public." In other words, the Government joins the "threesome" which has been arranged by the strikers, the employers, and the Government for the purse which is to be filled by the public. The strikers do not care where the money comes from provided that they get it. The companies do not object to paying over other people's money. And the Government pays its debts without passing another tax bill. This is an unusual achievement for LLOYD-GEORGE, and he "emerges with heightened prestige." It is difficult to say to what heights he may not aspire so long as other people are willing to pay the bills which he authorizes to be presented. He has been running an "open account" so far, but some day the summation will be put in and the "others" will refuse to pay.

The British politicians are not men of blood and iron like our own Inter-State Commerce Commission. They declined to allow the wage bill of our railways to be presented to our shippers, and said wages were something to be paid out of the railways' own pockets. The only way for the railways to do that sum is to divide what they have to spend into fewer portions; that is to say, by reducing their forces and making the men they keep work harder. Union Pacific's contribution toward this problem in efficiency was reported yesterday, and there are others sharpening their pencils. It remains to be seen whether the country will prefer this manner of settlement to the one preferred by our railways and conceded to the British railways. Also it remains to be seen how the problem will work out in England. It may be doubted that gross earnings will increase with increase of rates, and it is sure that net will decline. In what condition are the British railways to conduct their business on smaller net earnings? They are capitalized at the rate approximately of pounds for dollars, that is, at the rate of $274,964 per mile, instead of $64,740 for our railways. Among the causes for the greater capitalization is the fact that the British railways capitalize their improvements in the manner that our railways have been compelled to adopt instead of their former custom of paying the bills out of earnings in some considerable proportion. The percentage earned upon this enormous capitalization was only 3.43 in 1909 against 6.08 earned upon American railways in 1910. It is an open question whether a reduction in the dividends upon this capitalization or an increase of railway rates would be a greater shock to British finance. The alternative lies ahead, and until the result is known it will be difficult to calculate the exact addition to the height of LLOYD-GEORGE's prestige.

The time to judge the real popularity of the settlement is when the increase of rates goes into effect. Our shippers would not consent to an increase of our rates, although they are only .75 per cent. per ton per mile, or about one-third the British rate. Our railway employés, however, are no more reluctant to ask higher wages than the British, although the American average wage is $568, against an average of $317 in England. The wages paid in England are manifestly very low. Everybody will admit that the men ought to be better paid. But the contrast between the rates and wages there and here affords something for the critics of American railways to think about when considering the actual strike and its settlement with the hypothetical strike in the United States of which the newspapers occasionally give a hint.

SERVANTS IN THE SOUTH.

It has hardly occurred to Northerners that the South would ever be afflicted with a servant problem. Yet it has one, and a big one. The Macon News describes conditions which, it says, "are familiar to the people of all sections of the South, and can be duplicated anywhere"; they show that a change has come in the methods of domestic service rendered by the negroes, men and women. The old-fashioned "mammy" and "uncle" have disappeared. Southern mistresses may hire servants to act as nurses, cooks, waitresses, chambermaids, and dishwashers, who will do the particular things relating to a particular one of these varied activities, but to no other. The lines of work which they have adopted are "seemingly promoted to the dignity of professions—and professions with specialties at that." If the household lacks a cook, the other servants permit the mistress to cook meals both for the family and for themselves. The Montgomery Advertiser adds its comment:

> The white family that keeps a cook counts on feeding one family of negroes. If they have a house girl, they can count on feeding still another family. If complaint is raised to the servants, milady soon finds herself reconnoitring for another cook and servant girl. In the case of the house girl it is a rare experience a family has in keeping in its employ the same girl for three weeks. The average tenure of service of the house girl is two weeks. If the "position" is too "exacting" and the morning paper doesn't come promptly, she wouldn't mind quitting the first week.

It is even asserted that this sort of "gentlemen's agreement" to live out of the white folks' kitchen is often encouraged by some of the negro preachers. The Macon News suggests that the housekeepers organize, form unions of their own, and protect themselves against the itinerant servants, who are now assured of finding a new place after a week or so spent in the old one. They might be required, for instance, to produce "characters" from their last place of service. The negroes do not, of course, compete with white labor in domestic work. But if their terms of employment become burdensome, they may find powerful competitors in the adoption throughout the South of labor-saving contrivances and of methods of scientific management in the home that will largely do away with the need of keeping servants. In the factories and fields they are submitting more and more to the competition of white labor. Their cunning and unthrift in domestic matters may work to their harm. The domestic service problem, however, is not more perplexing in the South than in the North. It is assuredly one of the gravest of the hour, and one that becomes more annoying year by year.

MEXICO'S POLITICAL CONFUSION.

The Liberal Party of Mexico, so called, though its claims to the designation are vague, has placed Mr. FRANCISCO DE LA BARRA in nomination for the Presidency, in spite of his oft-repeated declaration that he will not run in any circumstances. Mr. DE LA BARRA's services to his country as Provisional President are cordially recognized on every hand, except by the Gomez party, which seems to be little more than a one-family affair. The Provisional President has explained that his acceptance of a nomination for the Presidential office would severely handicap his work of pacification and reorganization. It would inevitably place him before the people as a self-seeking politician, open to the suspicion of using his present power to gain larger honors. Of course, he cannot now accept the nomination, but the party which has used his name without his permission professes to believe that he will be elected, in spite of his protests, and cannot then refuse to accept the office. The Liberal Party is, at present, of small consequence, but it is not without strength in Vera Cruz and has some sort of organization in Michoacan. The assertion is gravely made that all the employés of the Mexican Railway favor Mr. DE LA BARRA's candidacy.

The Catholic Party, which is of dubious origin and strength, and probably has not the confidence of any large number of clerics, has also spoken of Mr. DE LA BARRA as a candidate, while the Partido Popular Evolucionista, of which Mr. VERA-ESTANOL has hitherto been the controlling force, is also reported to be considering the nomination of the Provisional President. Hitherto VERA himself has been regarded as its "logical candidate."

Of course, this sort of political foolery can only result in confusion, and that may be the sole purpose of the politicians who are responsible for it. The elections are near at hand, and will be difficult to manage under the best conditions. There are two suitable candidates before the people, Mr. MADERO and Gen. REYES, and the chances favor the former. But the political condition of Mexico is not reassuring at present.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Vacations Right and Wrong.

If Dr. SARGENT, the Harvard expert on physical culture, aspires to be the most unpopular man in the whole country, he can attain his ambition by convincing—as he is seemingly trying to convince—the dispensers of vacations, a comparatively small class, that these annual abandonments of work are not beneficial, but harmful, to those who look forward to them so eagerly. And they will be easy to persuade, for to them the vacation season has always been troublesome and expensive, and if vacations decrease rather than increase the efficiency of workers, they have a more than colorable excuse for withholding them altogether. Then will the bereft millions rage indeed, and at Dr. SARGENT, for providing the excuse.

For though it is not unknown to anybody that more than now and then the period of "rest" is more exhausting than any other of equal length in the whole year, and though many a sigh of relief accompanies what is called "getting back into harness again," the next vacation is awaited by all with none the less of impatience, and with no less confident expectation that its recuperative joys will be unalloyed. Dr. SARGENT doesn't say that all vacations are injurious—only that many of them are. Instead, therefore, of calling into question the merits of the vacation, as vacation, it would have been just as well, perhaps, had he admitted explicitly, as he did implicitly, that a vacation properly employed is a most excellent thing, and equally excellent from the standpoint of him who gives it and of him who takes it.

According to most authorities, a vacation should be a "complete change" from habitual activities. So it should be, doubtless, but there is danger in making the change great as well as complete. This has been discovered by many a man of sedentary life who expected two weeks of violent muscular exertion to revive his failing powers, and by many another who turned from constant excitement to the maddening monotony of a place where there was nothing to do and nobody to see. Probably the only man who gets all that a vacation can give is he to whom it gives an opportunity—which he takes—for doing something apart from his regular work that he very much wants to do, but something for which taste and inclination keep him in fairly good training.

In other words, the man with a hobby is enabled in vacation time to take long rides on it instead of short ones, and his weariness, if he feel any at all, as isn't likely to be the case when the hobby has been intelligently chosen, is of the healthful kind that a night's sleep entirely removes.

Two Towns Attract Attention.

There has arisen a temptation, which we find overstrong for resistance, to note the fact that two American towns have just done, or permitted the doing of, something which has brought upon them the prompt, vigorous, and apparently unanimous condemnation of the rest of the country.

We call the coupling of these towns the result of a temptation, rather than the performance of a duty, because there is in it an element of unfairness, the two cases being in several respects unlike as well as in several similar. The people of each, however, are doubtless saying of what happened in the other, "Well, we wouldn't have done that, anyhow!" and the thought that they are saying it is very, very irritating to the mind, so questionable is the accuracy of the statement.

Every reader knows by this time that the towns to which we refer are Coatesville, where they burned a negro to death, and Montclair, where a lot of birds were shot because their early morning conversations in regard to the weather, worms, cats, crops, and other important subjects disturbed the belated slumbers of certain "best citizens." In both instances complete indifference to the law was shown, and in both was manifested a ruthless and needless cruelty that has shocked and angered everybody.

Of course, it would be going too far to say that what was done in Montclair was worse than what was done in Coatesville, but it is well within the truth to declare that Coatesville, in murdering a man who was himself a murderer, had an explanation, if not an excuse, while, in slaughtering the birds, Montclair, though it, too, had an explanation, must not expect anybody at all to accept it as adequate. Men who cannot sleep o' mornings because birds celebrate sunrise with song should not live in the country, or even in suburban towns. The city is the place for them, where in the early hours there is nothing to be heard except the suave and soothing rattle of the milk can and the tender murmurs of the elevated trains as they go around curves.

The suburbanite who hates birds, who does not delight in their presence—who kills instead of trying to attract them to his "little place"—might possibly refuse to head a lynching party, or even to carry rails for the fire, but it is difficult to believe him a bit more likely to go to heaven when he dies than he would be if his barbarity took a form more dangerous—to himself.

An End of All His Animosity.

This being a year of civil war anniversaries, the Southern papers, as well as others, have been collecting expressions of opinion as to what fifty years have done for the country. Notable in more ways than one is a statement by Senator TILLMAN, printed in The Newberry (S. C.) Observer, for by source as well as by substance it shows that for everybody, at last, "the war is over." Its wording illustrates the ability which nobody ever denied to Senator TILLMAN, and it is a sort of "confession" that explains why he has been loved as well as hated, often by the same person. He says:

> I have seen the hatred between the North and South pass away and the people of the two sections reunited in real bonds of respect and affection. The hate I once felt for the "Yankees" is gone, and I find no evidence of any of it in the Senate among Southerners or any feeling of animosity toward the South among Northern men.
>
> We have indeed at last come to know one another, and that was all that was necessary to bring about the peace which GRANT prayed for in 1865.

Were Senator TILLMAN still the savage fighter of other days, these words might lend themselves to comment not wholly serious or wholly kind, but now they are too pathetic as well as too admirable for anything except appreciation.

A SPANISH BULLFIGHT.

Sunday Afternoon Sport at Little Town of Linea.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Doubtless much has been written of the Spanish bullfight. None too much can be published to arouse an international feeling against such a Sunday "pastime," and to hasten the day when nations unitedly shall condemn, and either suppress it, or in some way lift the Spanish people to a more enlightened form of amusement. The world is advancing far too rapidly for this coveted pleasure, this remnant of barbaric days, to be much longer tolerated.

At Linea, a small town on the Spanish border, a few days ago, 15,000 people gathered to witness seven bulls tormented to death and many horses cruelly slaughtered. Madrid is now having Sunday bullfights on such a large scale that at one just witnessed thirty-seven horses were driven to the most heartless and sickening death in one afternoon, one bull alone having killed seven horses. These fights are given all over Spain, not only twice on some days, but several times a week. The bulls are bred for ferocity, while the horses used are tired, abused old animals, worn out in serving man. They are checked up, blindfolded, and stimulated with red pepper to make them spry for these occasions, and further quickened by immense long pointed spurs.

The matadores first throw banderillos into the neck of the bull, and these many long poles, with spears bearded like a fishhook, hang as he plunges about, infuriated and howling with their agonizing pain.

The crucial moment of the fight comes when the bull stands in the arena, exhausted and breathless, the blood pouring from his head and body, and banderillos hanging in his neck. A matadore steps in front of him with a red cape, and as soon as the bull has regained a little breath, he charges into the red cloth, and the moment he lowers his head the matadore stabs him through the neck. Then wild excitement prevails. Hats fly in the air. Money, purses, cigars, and even jewelry, fans, and parasols are hurled to the feet of the matadore. The dead bull and horses are dragged out, another bull is driven into the arena, and the fight continues.

Women with babes in arms and children of all ages were seen at the fight. Much of the cruelty to other animals is doubtless due to this brutality. We saw in the market place chickens which had been left lying in the blazing sun with their feet tied, killed by twisting their heads, and the feathers pulled out while still in convulsions; also, a boy jabbing a donkey with a stick with nails in the end, into a sore made by continual jabbing. On our ascent on horseback up Vesuvius, along a very steep, hot, and dusty trail, the horses were whipped and kicked all the way. We found they were driven up three times every day without food or water the entire day. The ignorant neglect to supply animals with water, especially in these hot countries, is pitiable. Far worse, however, is the intentional cruelty. American visitors to Paris and other Continental cities know how shamefully the horses are treated. Active societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals are sorely needed. Some means of education through the schools or otherwise, in addition to the methods of humane societies, are necessary.

C. WARDE TRAVER.

Mazzini and Nathan.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Will you permit a regular reader of your paper to add a few words to your interesting information about Mayor Ernesto Nathan of Rome, Italy, as given in your issue of to-day? His mother, Sara Nathan, was born a Rosselli. This family had an extensive relationship in Italy and in England, and were all ardent followers of Joseph Mazzini. My father, Sabato Morais, himself an Italian patriot, but long since a resident of America, knew well the Rossellis of London, and often visited them, accompanying his friend, Mazzini, to whom and to whose cause Morais was ardently devoted.

Mazzini himself, though exiled from Italy, as, indeed, he was from other monarchical countries of Europe, made bold to enter that land time and again. He died in Pisa, in the very house of a Rosselli, and in a city almost next door to my father's birthplace, Leghorn.

When my father, Sabato Morais, left England in March, 1851, to make his home in Philadelphia, he gave Mazzini his passport, so that, under another incognito, besides the now well known "Dr. Brown," the great patriot might essay to travel undiscovered on the Continent of Europe, and propagate his unyielding views of Republicanism unadulterated and uncompromising.

Local Interests and the Tariff.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The famous remark of Gen. Hancock that "the tariff is a local question" seems to find verification in the attitude of the present Congress. From first to last and from every point of view the question seems to be examined and weighed as to how it will affect "my district."

The broad question as to what is best for the country and how can the national interests best be served, seems to be entirely lost sight of in the consideration of petty local interests above which our statesmen (save the mark!) do not seem to be able to rise.

The question of revenue would seem to be an important one, but it is only alluded to incidentally, whereas it should in a great degree be the controlling influence.

Probably President Taft's postponement of the consideration of the subject until we have fuller information—and that of an official character—is wise.

And it also may be said that the country is so sick of the whole subject and Congressional squabbles that are humiliating that a postponement or cessation will be a great relief.

The Strike and the Coronation.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A contemporary in its morning issue portrays the spectre of famine following on the footsteps of a flunkey, named for the nonce "Coronation," thus insinuating that the present labor situation in England is the result of lavish expenditure at the recent monarchial ceremony, while any person capable of studying the present economic situation knows that the strike is only the outcome of years of agitation.

The two greatest nations in the world are knit together by ties which, "though light as air are strong as iron," and this misrepresentation of facts causes any lover of fair play to wax hot with indignation. I trust that your paper will exert its great influence to right the wrong.

Telephone Mouthpieces.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I read the article in your paper signed "Pro Bono Publico," and indorse every word of it. I wonder why Health Commissioner Lederle did not long ago compel the telephone company to clean and disinfect these mouthpieces at least once a day. At present the employes of the company do this hardly once every two months.

The telephone company sends out circulars forbidding its patrons to put any device whatever on its phones unless provided by the company, otherwise I am sure there would be special individual mouthpieces on the market.

TO APPEAL SUBWAY CASE.

Realty Company Will Not Drop Effort to Enjoin Lexington Avenue Work.

The Admiral Realty Company announced yesterday through its counsel, Louis Marshall, that it will appeal from the decision of Supreme Court Justice Ford, who refused to grant an injunction restraining the Bradley Contracting Company from beginning work on the Lexington Avenue branch of the new subway. Notice of the intention to appeal was served upon the Public Service Commission, and Mr. Marshall said he would endeavor to have the case put on the calendar of the Appellate Division for the first motion day in the October term.

The Public Service Commission will hold a hearing on Sept. 14 on the form of contract for Sections 7 and 9 of the Lexington Avenue route, which are to be readvertised for public letting. Section 7 begins at the centre line of Fortieth Street and extends under Lexington Avenue to a point about 50 feet north of the centre line of Fifty-third Street. Section 9 begins about 50 feet north of the centre line of Sixty-seventh Street and extends to about 70 feet south of the centre line of Seventy-ninth Street.

The public hearing on the form of contract is a necessary formality under law. The contract for Section 7 was awarded to Charles H. Peckworth, who put in by far the lowest bid on Oct. 27 last, and on July 21 last the contract was approved by the Board of Estimate, at the same time that contracts for four sections to be constructed by the Bradley Contracting Company were approved. Mr. Peckworth has not gone ahead with the work, however, and even declined to do so at the figure he submitted, which was more than $1,100,000 less than that of the next lowest bidder, the Bradley Company.

For Section 9 the Bradley Company was the only bidder, its figure being $2,447,479.70. The commission wishes to obtain competitive bidding for the section.

GERMAN SAVANT ARRIVES.

Prof. Kossel Will Lecture at Johns Hopkins and Other Universities.

Prof. Albrecht Kossel of the University of Heidelberg arrived here yesterday on the North German Lloyd liner Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm. He is to deliver lectures at the Johns Hopkins and other American universities. He is considered to be one of the most distinguished men of science in Germany, and his remarkable discoveries in the field of medical chemistry received international recognition in 1910 by the award of a Nobel prize of $45,000, given annually for the most important work beneficial to mankind in the medical field.

Prof. Kossel, who has the title of privy counsellor, and is Director of the Physiological Institute of the University of Heidelberg, has received honorary degrees from that university and from the Universities of Cambridge, Dublin, Geneva, and Geifswald. He studied medicine when a young man in Strassburg and Rostock, his birthplace, and from 1877 to 1881 was assistant to one of his most distinguished predecessors in physiological chemistry. From 1883 until 1895 he was connected with the Physiological Institute of Berlin, and he had been for six years Professor of Physiology in the University of Marburg before being called to the University of Heidelberg. He is the author of many contributions to the literature of his specialty.

CRIPPLED SONS LOSE SUIT.

Mother's Estate Not to be Charged with Maintaining a Home for Them.

Supreme Court Justice Bischoff decided yesterday that the estate of Mrs. Melinda G. Mace does not establish a trust and that the charges of the keeping of the home at Williamsbridge shall not be an extra charge to the estate.

Mrs. Mace was the widow of Levi H. Mace, a wealthy manufacturer of refrigerators. A provision in her will led to a disagreement between her youngest son, Arthur J. Mace, who was the residuary legatee, and the two older sons, Edward B. and Henry H. Mace, who received a trust fund of $50,000 each. Both the older sons are cripples, and their father left them $100,000 in trust each, and their mother thought that $50,000 more in trust was sufficient for their needs.

"It is the contention of the defendants, the two crippled sons," says Justice Bischoff, "that their mother's direction was to maintain the home during their lives at the expense of the estate. I must assume that their mother was aware of the actual needs of these two sons and the extent to which their infirmities might have lessened their requirements of a large income."

INDIANS STARTLE NIAGARA.

Tuscarora Girl Driven Unclothed Through Town by Her Mother.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 21.—A Tuscarora Indian girl, who is to-day in the care of the police matron here, will be sent back to the Tuscarora reservation this week to have her troubles settled by her own people. The girl came to the attention of the police following the receipt of several telephone messages from a suburban district saying that a young girl was being driven unclothed through the streets.

A motorcycle policeman hurried out and soon located the disturbers, who proved to be three Indians. An aged squaw and a young Indian brave of about 25 years were riding slowly along in a wagon, and the girl, destitute of clothing, was walking unwillingly along ahead of the horse.

The older woman explained that she had objected to the attentions which the young brave, her second husband, had been paying to his stepdaughter, and took this method of punishing the girl, in accordance with an old tribal custom.

ENGINEER SARR RESIGNS.

Succeeded by F. S. Strong in State Highway Commission Place.

ALBANY, Aug. 21.—The State Highway Commission has received and accepted the resignation of Fred W. Sarr of Syracuse, as engineer in charge of the Fourth division with headquarters at Syracuse. The place pays $3,000 a year. Fred S. Strong of Syracuse, assistant under Mr. Sarr, has been appointed to fill the vacancy. Ill health is given as the reason for Mr. Sarr's resignation.

The division includes the Counties of Ontario, Seneca, Oswego, Yates, Wayne, Onondaga, Madison, Chenango, Cortland, and Cayuga.

New York's Mosquitos.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your editorial article on "New York Mosquitos" in this morning's TIMES is very timely.

If Dr. Lederle is anxious to find out where at least half the mosquitos that infest New York City are bred I can easily tell him the exact spot, for I have the misfortune of living in its immediate neighborhood. The small lake between 100th and 102d Streets and Central Park West has been entirely dried out since last Fall, except for a few stagnating pools of water after a rainfall. It is overgrown with weeds and a sewer opens into this lake (as Mr. Stover himself wrote me a year ago upon a complaint of bad odors rising from it and mosquito pests invading the neighborhood) and the results are evident.

We are unable from June till November to light any gas in our sleeping rooms, as, in spite of screens, the mosquitos find a way in, being so small, and sleep in that case is next to impossible.

OMAR ON SUMMER VACATIONS.

Myself, when young, did many Summers vex
My heart, and eke my bank account perplex,
By spending my vacations where I hoped
To meet the fascinating other sex.

Yea, daily would I strut upon the beach
In gay flirtation with some Summer peach,
Spending my hard-earned coin in vain pursuit—
The ones I loved were always out of reach!

Now, nary Summer girl my heart annoys,
For, having been turned down, that sex soon cloys.
Beside, 'tis far more sport, I've found, and oh,
Much cheaper, to go camping with the boys!

MARIE V. CARUTHERS.

GROUT NOW DEFIES BANK INVESTIGATORS

Former President of the Union Contests Deputy Superintendent's Power to Subpoena Him.

HAD PROMISED TO APPEAR

Now Wants to Know First What He Is to be Questioned About—Attacks Counsel in Case.

After waiting in vain for Edward M. Grout to appear at yesterday's hearing into the affairs of the Brooklyn Union Bank, ex-Police Commissioner James C. Cropsey, who was ready to examine Mr. Grout, asked that he be subpoenaed to appear on Wednesday. An adjournment was then taken until that day. A subpoena was issued later for Mr. Grout's appearance.

A number of letters between Deputy Bank Supt. Dodge and Mr. Grout were read at the hearing yesterday which gave the impression that Mr. Grout's attitude with regard to testifying before the committee had changed since he assured the Deputy Superintendent that he would respond within twenty-four hours after he was notified to appear.

In view of the announcement that the Union Bank during the administration of Mr. Grout as President would be investigated yesterday, there was a large crowd on hand when the hearing opened.

John F. C. Bower, one of the Depositors' Committee, and Raymond McArdell, paying teller of the Atlantic Avenue branch of the bank, were examined by Mr. Goldstein. Their testimony was in relation to the attempt made to cover the missing records of certain transactions of the bank before the visit of the examiners from the State Banking Department.

Mr. Cropsey then read the correspondence between Deputy Supt. Dodge and Mr. Grout. He said it was only justice to Mr. Grout to say that the former President of the bank had not been subpoenaed, but had been requested to come as a witness.

"I wish to add," he continued, that Mr. Grout's office was communicated with on Friday by telephone, and the information was received that he would not be in the city until Tuesday. I do not think it fair to him, nor advisable, to proceed with the examination of the bank's affairs under his administration unless he be present. I ask, therefore, that the hearing be adjourned until Wednesday morning, and that Mr. Grout be subpoenaed to be here at that time."

The letters between Mr. Dodge and Mr. Grout were placed on the record. After some correspondence relating to Mr. Grout's appearance the ex-Controller wrote:

> During the time that you have been in charge of the Union Bank, from April 5, 1910, to date, I have in every instance responded freely to all your requests for information, and in many cases have volunteered information to you which I thought you should possess. The only matters affecting the period of the bank after the reopening, which have been referred to in your investigation, and which seemed to amount to anything, I have answered by letter to you, or by public statement, fully and frankly. If you will state what are the other "matters" about which you now wish any information from me, and what the information is that you desire, I shall be glad to give you all the information I can. I am at a loss to know what such matters can be, especially as I recall your statement to me, made last Winter, that there were no questionable or illegal assets or transactions in your hands which occurred during the time I was President.

Mr. Dodge's response was in part:

> Mr. Goldstein and Mr. Cropsey, who are assisting in this investigation, agree with me that there are matters connected with the bank after it re-opened which should be inquired into.
>
> Remembering your letter of July 27 last, in which you said that if, and when, your testimony is at any time required by me I had only to notify your office and you would respond, probably within twenty-four hours, and certainly within forty-eight hours, I, of course, thought that the suggestion in my letter of the 16th inst., that your presence was desired on Monday, would be sufficient.
>
> I think your recollection is at fault in stating, as you do in your letter, that last Winter I said to you "that there were no questionable or illegal assets or transactions" which occurred during the time you were President, for I am quite certain that I did not make such a statement.

After reading part of the correspondence between himself and Mr. Dodge, a statement was given out by Mr. Grout at his office in Manhattan yesterday. He said in part:

> I may or may not be willing to go before such a "tribunal," or I may be able to dispose fully of all that Mr. Dodge seeks to know by a written statement. In any event, as I wrote in my letters, I have not heretofore withheld, and I will not now withhold, from the Banking Department any information that I can give.
>
> Whom does Mr. Cropsey really represent, and why did he volunteer, without pay? I am credibly informed that he is retained by and represents private clients, and that in their interest he volunteered his services to the department, but really for the purpose of obtaining information as an investigator for use in a private litigation. As for Mr. Goldstein, it is perfectly apparent that his sole purpose is his own political advancement.

Mr. Cropsey later denied that he represented any clients in connection with the Union Bank case.

Assemblyman Goldstein left town yesterday for Albany, and it was said that he would see the Governor about the Union Bank case.

PAY $25,200 FOR OVERSIGHT.

Land Near Plaza of Queensboro Bridge Once Offered for $5,000.

A wedge-shaped strip of property which by an oversight was not included in the ground taken for the north side of the Long Island City plaza of the Queensboro Bridge has just been obtained by condemnation proceedings at a cost of $25,200. The strip could have been acquired when the plaza was laid out for less than $5,000.

Realizing the value of the strip, William F. Pendergast, a former policeman, and Cornelius Breen bought it for $10,000 and erected on its length a one-story frame structure which did not add to the beauty of the bridge plaza.

Pendergast and Breen will receive about $20,000 for the property, while the balance of the money will go to pay the expenses of the proceedings. In order to pay for the strip an assessment has been levied against the property owners in the vicinity. J. Corning has been assessed $10,608, Louis Wokal $8,151, and H. W. Elkus $5,304. As the large assessments are against single lots, the owners say that it means the confiscation of the property, and a protest will be made against the findings of the Commissioners.

VACATION FARM FOR HORSES.

Women's League Will Feed and Return Them in Good Condition.

The New York Women's League for Animals announces the opening of Mountain Rest Farm, at Matteawan, N. Y. Horses will be received at the farm and, at any time upon request of their owners, will be returned, recuperated and better able to go on with their work.

Owners of old horses who wish to retire them, not desiring to destroy them, may turn their charges over to the farm and be assured of good care for the animals, and plenty to eat. No fee is required for the care of the horses. A special rate for taking them to Matteawan has been granted to the league by the Central Hudson Steamboat Company. Owners may apply in writing to the Free Dispensary for Animals at 325 Lafayette Street. The horses may be delivered to the Newburg barge, Pier 24, foot of Franklin Street, North River.

Would Enjoin Tailors' Union.

Supreme Court Justice Bischoff reserved decision yesterday on the application of Charles Wetzel of Fifth Avenue and Forty-fourth Street for an injunction restraining the Journeymen Tailors' Union from inciting riot, picketing near his place of business, visiting the homes of the men who want to work, or intimidating them. Affidavits set forth that there had been serious trouble between the members of the union and men who wished to work, and that several had been sent to a hospital and many arrested. The union men who worked for the plaintiff went on strike on July 8.

THOMSON'S NEW PLAY SEEN IN ROCHESTER

"The Moral Code" Produced Under the Direction of Arthur Hammerstein.

HAS FOUR ACTS, FIVE SCENES

Action Involves Surgeon, Who Shoots His Wife's Admirer—Piece Well Staged.

Special to The New York Times.

ROCHESTER, Aug. 21.—The initial performance of "The Moral Code," a new play by Herbert Thomson, was produced by Arthur Hammerstein at the Lyceum Theatre to-night.

The play is in four acts and five scenes, and the action involves a prominent surgeon who shoots his wife's admirer and the latter's arrest, to avoid scandal, on a charge of burglary. His conviction by the criminal court and the confession of the real cause of the shooting form the strongest scene in the play. The doctor's attempt to murder his rival under the pretense of performing an operation in the amphitheatre of a hospital is an unusual stage picture.

Mr. Hammerstein has staged "The Moral Code" elaborately. Mabel Roebuck is the wife, James Wilson the doctor. Orme Caldara and Frank Hollins are also in the cast.

KELLERD IN "OEDIPUS REX."

Sophocles's Tragedy Acted for First Time Here at Irving Theatre.

What was said to be the first performanace in New York in English of "Oedipus Rex" of Sophocles was given at the Irving Place Theatre last night, with John E. Kellerd in the leading rôle. The tragedy, as given, began with the arrival of Creon at the palace of Oedipus, bringing instructions from the oracle to discover the murderer of Theus and to punish him, and ended with the departure of the self-blinded King on his self-imposed exile.

Besides Mr. Kellerd as the King, the other rôles were played by Lillian Kingsbury as Jocasta, Eric Blind as Creon, Mayne Lyton as the Priest, Charles James as Teiresias, Edwin Cushman as the Messenger from Corinth, Aubrey Boucicault as the messenger who brings news of Jocasta's death and the blinding of Oedipus, P. J. Kelly as the old Shepherd, and George Manning and Arthur Goodsall as the Senators, taking the place of the chorus.

"Oedipus Rex" will be repeated to-night and to-morrow, and on Thursday night Mr. Kellerd and his company will appear in "Hamlet."

PLAY FOR MME. NAZIMOVA.

Frohman Selects "The Other Mary" by Algernon Boyesen.

The new play in which Mme. Nazimova will make her first appearance as a star under the direction of Charles Frohman has just been decided upon by Mr. Frohman and Mme. Nazimova. It is a drama called "The Other Mary," written by Algernon Boyesen, a so nof the late Prof. Boyesen of Columbia University. He is unknown as a playwright.

Mr. Boyesen is a young man who has been residing in Paris for several years. He has been writing plays for some time, but has never had a hearing for his work before. "The Other Mary" is a play of American life, in spite of the author's life abroad, and the scenes are laid in New York. The central character is a Mary Magdalen, and the piece, in three acts, attempts to show her place for good in the world. It will be the first play on an American subject that Mme. Nazimova has played, and the second by an English-writing author.

The cast that is to support the actress will have for its principal members Brandon Tynan, Malcolm Williams, Frank Goldsmith, William Hasson, Lucia Moore, and Grace Reals. Her season will begin on Sept. 21.

In connection with the news of the selection of this play it was learned that Mr. Frohman's health has improved sufficiently to permit him to spend most of his waking time in a wheel chair now, but he is still unable to walk except for a few steps. His physician hopes that he will be able to be about on crutches in a week or two, however, and that the rheumatism will be overcome entirely before the holidays.

MISS WALKER IN NEW PLAY.

Klaw & Erlanger to Produce a Dramatization of "Trail of Lonesome Pine."

Klaw & Erlanger will present Charlotte Walker early in October in a dramatization of John Fox, Jr.'s, novel, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," by Eugene Walter, Miss Walker's husband. The arrangements were completed yesterday with William Norris, who controls the rights to Mr. Fox's story. Miss Walker will play the rôle of June, the heroine of the tale of the Kentucky mountains.

The drama will be in four acts, with the scenes laid on the trail, in the town that John Hale is trying to develop, in June's home in the mountains, and on the trail again. The town of Lonesome Cove, the scene of the play, has just been announced as the headquarters of a big coal company that is starting to carry out the material developments suggested in the novel.

NEW YORK ASSOCIATION FOR IMPROVING THE CONDITION OF THE POOR.

R. FULTON CUTTING, President.

AYNESWORTH WILL RETURN.

Grace George's Leading Man Going to London for Surgical Operation.

Allan Aynesworth, the English actor who came to New York a short time ago to be leading man with Grace George in "The Earth" and in the répertoire company at The Playhouse, will return to Europe this morning to undergo a surgical operation. His brother, Dr. Abbot Anderson, is a London practitioner, and when the actor found that an old trouble had begun to bother him, he decided to go home to his surgical relative, undergo an operation, and return to New York in time for the opening of the répertoire company. He expects to be back in four weeks.

Miss George and her company will proceed with rehearsals of "The Earth," "Much Ado About Nothing," and another comedy that is to be presented at The Playhouse.

Donald Brian Appears in "The Siren."

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 21.—Donald Brian made his début as a star at the Apollo Theatre to-night in "The Siren," a new musical comedy from the pens of the authors of "The Dollar Princess." Julia Sanderson, Elizabeth Firth, Frank Moulan, Will West, Gilbert Childs, F. Pope Stamper, Florence Morrison, and Moya Mannering are among the artists in the company of one hundred. "The Siren" is in three acts. The music is by Leo Fall, and the libretto of Leo Stein and A. M. Wilner has been adapted by Harry Smith. From Atlantic City Mr. Brian and the "The Siren" go to the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York City.

Billie Burke Rehearsing "The Runaway."

Billie Burke and her company began rehearsals of "The Runaway," Pierre Veber's comedy, at the Lyceum Theatre yesterday. The first performance of the play will be given at Atlantic City on Sept. 11, and it will then be brought to the Lyceum Theatre, to follow Daniel Frohman's production of "Thy Neighbor's Wife," which is to be put on there on Sept. 6. Miss Burke's company includes Desmond Kelly, C. Aubrey Smith, Ivan Simpson, Edwin Nicander, Emily Wakeman, and Henry Miller, Jr.

Grand Opera at Schenck's Concerts.

A grand opera festival week was inaugurated at the Elliott Schenck "Pop" concerts on the roof of the Century Theatre last night. The programme featured selections from Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet," which occupied the entire second half of the bill. The soloists were Miss Howe, soprano, and Mr. E. Marshale, tenor. To-night "Aida" will be featured.

New Features at Folies Bergere.

Several changes were made in the Cabaret show at the Folies Bergere last night. Ledesma, a Spanish dancer, made her first appearance in America; Nita Allen and James J. Morton appeared in the "Hello Paris" revue in two new rôles that were written for them by William Le Baron, and Harry Pilcer, who dislocated his shoulder in a dance in the revue last week, returned to the cast in his same rôle.

Sam Bernard Back at the Casino.

Sam Bernard began his season of two weeks at the Casino Theatre last night with his last year's musical comedy, "He Came from Milwaukee." Immediately after the conclusion of his Casino engagement he will start on a tour to the Pacific Coast. Mr. Bernard's supporting company includes Nella Bergen as prima donna, and many of the other members of last season's organization.

Openings of Percy Williams's Theatres

The Percy Williams circuit of theatres in New York will start the season next Monday, Aug. 28, when the Orpheum, Brooklyn, will open. Four more houses, the Colonial, Alhambra, Bronx, and Greenpoint, will open on Labor Day, and Mr. Williams's newest playhouse, the Bushwick, at Broadway and Howard Avenue, Brooklyn, will open on Sept. 11. All of these will be devoted to vaudeville, as usual. Mr. Williams's two stock houses in Brooklyn, the Crescent and the Gotham, will open on Sept. 5.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Cecil Yapp, who was one of the first members of The New Theatre company, has been engaged by Liebler & Co. to play his original role of the Cat in "The Blue Bird."

William Morris has been engaged to play the principal comedy role in "When Sweet Sixteen," the song play by Victor Herbert and George V. Hobart, which will open at Daly's Theatre on Sept. 11.

William Burress has been engaged by Henry W. Savage for one of the principal roles in Leo Ditrichstein's adaptation of "Le Million." Mr. Savage has also engaged Gertrude Bryan for the title role in "Little Boy Blue."

William A. Brady has engaged Francis Carlyle for one of the principal roles in support of Douglas Fairbanks in "A Gentleman of Leisure." The company will open at Long Branch, N. J., to-night, and will begin its limited season at The Playhouse Thursday evening.

The company engaged to support James K. Hackett in the dramatization of David Graham Phillips's novel, "A Grain of Dust," includes E. M. Holland, Fraser Coulter, Vaughn Trevor, Charles Stedman, Frank Burbeck, Fred A. Sullivan, David Jarrett, Jr., Olive Oliver, Pauline L. Neff, and Mary Moran.

"Everywoman" will come back to the Lyric Theatre for a limited engagement on Labor Day. The original company, without essential change, will be seen again, and will include Laura Nelson Hall, H. Cooper Cliffe, Sarah Cowell Le Moyne, Frederick de Belleville, John L. Shine, Henry Wenman, Frank Lacey, Stella Hammerstein, Patricia Collinge, and Aurora Piatt.

WEEK'S BILLS AT THE THEATRES

The stock company at the Academy of Music appeared in Augustus Thomas's play "In Mizzoura" yesterday afternoon.

"Where the Trail Divides" was presented by the Prospect Theatre Stock Company, with Paul McAllister in the leading role of the Indian.

Two new films, "Picturesque Wales" and "Our Floral Friends," were added to the kinemacolor pictures at the Herald Square Theatre yesterday. The floral picture shows a series of brilliant-hued blossoms in their natural colors.

Charles Richman and company in "The Fire Escape" headed the bill at Keith & Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre yesterday. Others named on the programme were Linden Beckwith, Zellah Covington and Rose Wilbur, Tudor Cameron and Bonnie Gaylord, the three Kuhns, Aurora, Carroll and Cook, and Mlle. Olive.

At Hammerstein's Roof Garden Stella Mayhew was the headliner, and other acts on the bill included Aida Overton Walker, "Paris by Night," Belle Blanche, Collins and Hart, Belle Baker, Bert Fitzgibbon, McCarthy and Piantadosi, Welsh, Mealy, and Montrose, Hickey's circus, Louis Stone, the Van der Koors, Kit Karson, Austin and Connelly, Leslie and Brady, and Bedini and Arthur.

The programme at the American Music Hall and Roof Garden included Kenny and Hollis, Dean and Price, La Maize, Quail and Tom, May Elwood and company, Kramer and Williams, Marie Dorr, Polk and Miles, and De Haven and Ruby.

At the New Brighton Theatre the programme consisted of Maclyn Arbuckle and company in "The Welcher," Clarice Vance, Trovato, Pat Rooney and Marion Bent, Lyons and Yosco, George Felix and the Barry sisters, the Frey twins, and Hermany's cats and dogs.

Eva Tanguay in her own version of "Salome" was scheduled to head the bill at the Brighton Beach Music Hall, and other numbers on the bill included Capt. Auger and a company of Lilliputians in "Jack the Giant Killer," Fred Dupree, J. C. Nugent and company, Tom and Statia Moore, the Zara Carmen trio, Mack and Rose, and Keith and Kiernan.

The attraction for the second week of the season at the Columbia Theatre, beginning yesterday afternoon, is Fred Irwin's "Majestics" in a one-act burlesque called "Rouge de la Mode" and a satire on "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford." Vaudeville is offered between the acts.

The attractions at the other burlesque theatres include "The Girls from Happyland," at the Murray Hill; "The High School Girls," at Miner's Eighth Avenue; Miner's "Americans," at Miner's Bronx; Sam Howe's "Love-Makers," at the Olympic, and "The Merry Whirl," at Hurtig & Seamon's Music Hall.

"The Golden Butterfly" was offered by the Aborn Comic Opera Company at Palisades Amusement Park yesterday, with several of the original company in the cast. The principals included Charles Purcell, Elizabeth Carmody, Thomas S. Van, Henry Coote, Robert Lett, and Laura Baer.

Swift & Company's sales of Fresh Beef in New York City for the week ending Saturday, Aug. 19, averaged 9.01 cents per pound.—Adv.

FOOTBALL PLAYER'S ROMANCE

John N. Levine to Wed Miss Flanders, Sister of Yale Eleven Mate.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 21.—A romance of the football field is disclosed in invitations received in this city to the marriage of John Nathan Levine of Waterville, Me., a former Yale football player, and Miss Florence Newton Flanders of Orange, N. J., a sister of Carl S. Flanders, who played on the Yale eleven with Levine.

The two men roomed together at college, and it was after one of the big football games here that Levine met Miss Flanders. The marriage is set for Sept. 6 at Orange.

DUNCAN BELCHER, BRIDEGROOM

Son of Judge and Mrs. Belcher Married to Miss Selig Fengar.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 21.—Duncan Belcher and Miss Selig Fengar of this city were married at St. James's Episcopal Church at 6 o'clock this evening. The bridegroom is a son of Judge and Mrs. William Belcher and the bride is a daughter of Lieut. and Mrs. Cyrus B. Fengar. Both the Belcher and Fengar families are well known residents.

After the ceremony there was an informal reception at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Alice S. Clay, where the bride has made her home. The immediate families, the best man, ushers, and a few intimate girl friends of the bride were the only ones invited to the reception.

The bride was gowned in white lace over satin and carried lilies of the valley and orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Belcher left for Stevensville, Mon., to reside. Mr. Belcher has been engaged in apple culture for several months.

Frank L. Robins Critically Ill.

*Two out when winning run was scored.

Two-base hits—Fletcher and Zimmerman. Sacrifice hits—Merkle and Doyle. First base on errors—New York, 1. Left on bases—New York, 11; Chicago, 5. Double plays—Meyers and Devlin. Struck out—By Marquard, 10; by Richie, 3. Bases on balls—Off Marquard, 3; off Richie, 5. Hit by pitcher—By Richie 2, (Snodgrass and Fletcher.) Wild pitch—Richie. Umpires—Messrs. Klem and Brennan. Time of game—Two hours and thirty minutes.

Rube Marquard was again on his good behavior yesterday, and he led the Giants to a notable victory over the scrappy Cubs in a long-drawn-out, well-played game at the Polo Grounds before about 20,000 persons. The conflict bore all the trademarks of an old-time New York-Chicago battle, with its tight fielding, tense situations, steady pitches, and a few verbal clashes with the umpires. About the only thing usually served up in one of these struggles which was missing from yesterday's affair was a solid smash or two by Joe Tinker. The actor failed to break into the hit column yesterday. The score was 3 to 2, and victory did not arrive until two Giants had been laid away in the tenth inning.

Two of the scratchiest hits that ever worked their way into the same inning were the main factor in uplifting the Giants and overthrowing the Cubs, but this was the solitary instance of the long struggle where fortune smiled on the McGrawites. Opportunity camped on the Giants' threshold time after time, only to be denied admittance by the home aggregation. The fourth inning saw the bases filled with none out, and only one run was edged across the platter. In the fifth the side was retired runless with the corners covered, and in the sixth the Giants had runners on second and third bases, with none out, but only one of them finished the journey. In six of the ten innings the first Giant to face Richie reached first base, and it required the hardest kind of work to push half this number around the paths.

Marquard's speedy shoots in that final inning played the brother act to perfection with the gathering darkness, and the Cubs did not even have a chance to look dangerous. The Rube started off by mowing down Jimmy Archer on strikes, something he had been unable to do in the daylight. Next came Lou Richie, who had previously gathered two of the Cubs' six swats, and also breezed out, making Marquard's tenth victim of the afternoon. Jimmy Sheckard, with two passes tied to his belt, was an easy out on his grounder to Herzog, and then the Giants did their little act. It was a shame to take such a hard-fought game on such a pair of fluky bingles, but it counted as much as a victory won on clean hitting.

By lighting a match and getting close to the score card, it can be seen that Becker is up. The sound of a bat colliding with the ball, some motions by Zimmerman and Saier, and Becker's return to the bag after overrunning first base, show that he beat out a hit. Next comes Merkle with a bunt, and a figure in white can be seen flitting along to second base. Devlin finally locates the whitewashed plate and proceeds to swing after Richie has wound up. While Zimmerman is gathering the ball out of the darkness and pushing it along to Saier at first base, that figure in the light uniform can be seen pulling up at third base. Old boy darkness was getting nearer every minute.

The score card said the next fellow was Fletcher. There was a thump of the bat against the ball, the lily-white sphere bounded along the lawn as Joe Tinker rushed in to grab it, then it took a sharp dip of the finger tips of Tinker's glove and Becker raced across with victory.

Hidden away in the recesses of the concrete benches during the greater part of the exciting battle were three athletes who longed for freedom on the coaching lines, where they might tell their brother athletes how to win. The trio consisted of Johnny Evers, Johnny McGraw, and Larry Doyle. All were doing time under special sentences from Umpire Klem. Evers took a verbal shot at Klem while passing the umpire on his way to the first base coaching line at the beginning of the fourth inning, and the shot struck home so sharply that Johnny's journey ended near the plate. He was quickly chased back where he could rest his shoulders against the concerte for the remainder of the game. In New York's half of the same inning Devlin was called out on strikes with the bases filled and none out. From his position on the third-base coaching line McGraw fired some caustic criticism at Klem, and he was soon the lonesome figure in a parade to the New York bench. He ordered Captain Larry Doyle to take up the burden which he had been forced to vacate, but Larry didn't get very far. While passing Klem he delivered a wordy jab which also took effect, and he arrived at the bench about the time McGraw crawled in. During the remainder of the struggle players on both teams were unusually quiet. The pitchers thought some harsh things about Klem's judgment, but kept the ideas to themselves.

Marquard started off badly by walking Sheckard, but came back and fanned Schulte and Tinker. Zimmerman was easy on a foul fly to Fletcher. The Cubs were retired quietly in the second inning, but they scored their first run in the third. With one out Richie bounced a sizzler off Marquard's glove and moved up on Sheckard's second stroll. Schulte's single over second base scored Richie. The other run came in the fourth on Zimmerman's single, Doyle's sacrifice, and Hofman's drive to right field. In the next six innings only three Cubs reached first base, and Zimmerman, who doubled in the sixth, was the only one of the trio to reach second. He was stranded there.

Schulte gave the 20,000 fans a scare in the eighth, when he hit what appeared to be a home run into the left-field stand. It was foul by a narrow margin, and the game was saved.

The Giants had some rosy chances which slipped away for the want of a hit. Devore came up in the third inning with two on bases and one out, the result of a hit batsman and a pass, but he flied to Schulte. Herzog then had his chance, and he also lofted to the home run artist. A hit batsman, a pass, and a bunt choked the corners in the fourth before a Giant had been retired. Devlin fanned, Fletcher forced Snodgrass at the plate, and Meyers scratched a hit which scored Becker. On the same drive Merkle overran third base, stumbled over Latham, and was an easy out. A bunt and two passes filled the bases in the fifth with two out, and Merkle flied to Hofman. A pass to Devlin, Fletcher's double, and a wild pitch gave the Giants their second run in the sixth inning. In this chapter Fletcher was thrown out by Tinker at the plate, trying to score on Marquard's short grounder. This was the last chance to score the Giants had until the tenth.

SALLEE'S PITCHING WINS.

Brooklyn Gathers Only Seven Hits and One Run Off Cardinals.

St. Louis opened a series with Brooklyn yesterday, winning the initial game, 6 to 1. The visitors' victory is to be credited mainly to Sallee, who not only pitched well but fielded his position in excellent form. The visitors batted Knetzer freely and ran wild on bases, placing six steals to their credit, as Bergen had an off day in throwing. Score:

Pirates Break Tie in Ninth.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—After playing a fine uphill game to-day Philadelphia was defeated in a ninth inning rally by Pittsburgh by 10 to 7. Steele and Chalmers, who started the game, were driven off the rubber in one inning. They were succeeded by Camnitz and Moore. Hall, formerly of the Tacoma, Wash., club, pitched the last two innings for the home team, it being his major league debut. The hitting of Magee, who made a home run, a double, and a single, featured the contest. The score:

The Engine that Supplanted the Finest in the World

A NEW factor has entered the automobile world. A factor of such vital importance of such dominant force—that it is recognized as a revolution in motor car history. That factor is the "Silent Knight" engine.

In the world's best cars this new type engine has displaced the power plants which made those cars pre-eminent. The finest engines that the world has ever known have been supplanted by the Knight. In England, France, Germany and Belgium—always the cradles of motor car development—the leading makers have admitted the supremacy of the Knight. And now the Stearns adopts it in this country.

The Choice of Royalty

Cars equipped with this motor are everywhere the choice of Kings—Emperors—of those accustomed to the best the world affords. In every country the greatest car now uses the Silent Knight—The Daimler in England, the Mercedes in Germany, the Panhard in France, the Minerva in Belgium and in America the Stearns.

Where It Excels

Silence—power—simplicity. The elimination at one stroke of all the shortcomings of other engines. The ability to steadily improve with use. In short, that is the new Stearns-Knight.

Power far greater than is possible in other engines of equal size is produced. All complications are done away with. In their place is a silent, sweet running engine—an engine whose action is so gentle, so silky, that a spin behind the wheel is a revelation.

It gives the owner an engine far in advance of anything before produced—an engine that is always silent and vibrationless—that takes a sharp hill at slow speed or rushes it with quiet, irresistible power. An engine that runs silently along on high, barely turning over, yet with a touch of the throttle leaps eagerly to any speed desired. It offers an engine that never complains—that answers instantly to the throttle—an engine that is alert, quick and willing—that is never slow nor sluggish. An engine that minimizes gear shifting.

It gives the owner an engine that takes him 'cross country at an even, tireless gait—that spurns hills without falter or tremor, that creeps silently through crowded streets or springs willingly to the call of the open road. The "feel" of the engine—the touch—the response—all furnish a new sensation to the motorist—a sensation of lightness, of eagerness.

And above all the Stearns-Knight grows better with the years. The longer it is run the smoother its operation, the more power developed. It is simplicity itself—nothing complicated, nothing exposed, nothing to adjust. Power is produced in a quiet, steady flow—produced in an engine so silent and vibrationless that experts often cannot tell when it is running. Not only when the car is new, but after years of service.

Where It Differs

In the Stearns-Knight, action is not dependent upon ordinary valves such as used in all other 4-cycle American cars, with cam shafts, springs, stems, timing gears and the attendant complications, trouble, noise and loss of power. Instead, in each cylinder are two thin cylindrical shells of iron—called "sleeves," one inside the other, sliding smoothly up and down in a film of oil. These sleeves have ports in the side and as they pass each other produce positive valve openings, impossible to secure in any other way.

The action of these sleeves is silent and must always remain so. There is no noise and nothing to get noisy.

The valve openings are certain and positive. Valves cannot carbonize or seat improperly.

The entire movement is positive. No dependence is placed upon springs.

Briefly, the new motor is

There are no complications—
No timing gears, cam shafts, poppet valves, springs or stems.

There is no loss of power—
Valves do not wear, compression does not lessen, power is not wasted.

There is no guesswork—
Action is not dependent upon springs—it is absolutely positive.

Efficient in the extreme—

RENEW THE LINING OF YOUR AUTO TOP

Linings of automobile tops soon become faded, spotted and streaked. A most valuable discovery is the RUB-ON AUTO TOP LINING DYE, which quickly re-dyes the lining, penetrating the cloth in all directions, insuring an even color. It is easily applied with a sponge and cannot wash out when the top is wet. THE RUB-ON renewer is manufactured by the Rub-on Varnish Co., 368 Elm St., Buffalo, N. Y.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 21.—Jack Warhop lost his own game in the eleventh inning to-day by attempted strategy which went wrong. The score was 5 to 4 and none out. Gainer opened the Detroit half of the eleventh inning with a hot grounder to the left of the second sack, for which Knight made a grand try, but missed. Baumann bunted and Warhop threw to second too late. Stanage also bunted, and Warhop repeated his trick, filling the bases. Then Bill Donovan smashed a grounder to Gardner. The second sacker dashed in for it, hoping to throw to the plate in time to prevent a tally. In his haste he "booted" it and the game was over.

It was a real ball game, abounding in brilliant fielding and good batting and pitching. The best fielding skit of the afternoon was a stop by Gardner of a sizzling low hopper from Drake's bat in the seventh inning, on which he forced Delehanty and doubled Drake. Without this play there would have been no need for extra innings, for Crawford was on third, by virtue of his single and Delehanty's. Cobb already having flied out, Gardner's feature ended the inning.

The entire Yankee outfield indulged in fancy running catches. Knight made several fine stops and throws. Warhop pitched in grand form most of the time. So did Bill Donovan. Bill had two bad spots, but at the finish was going at top speed.

Senators Win in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.— Chicago's loose fielding was greatly responsible for Washington's victory to-day, 7 to 4. Scott pitched a good game, but Olmstead and Mogridge were hit freely. Johnson was in fine form, having but one bad inning. The score:

WILLIE JONES WINS.

After a lapse of several months the Olympic A. C. of Harlem resumed its weekly stags last night, and the final bout between Tommy Houck, the Philadelphia bantam, and Willie Jones of Brooklyn, resulted in one of the best contests seen at the popular club in some time, but the Brooklynite was entitled to a decision by a safe margin.

A slow start was largely responsible for Houck's defeat, as he did not show his usual style of attack in the first session, and when the Brooklynite landed several hard blows it gave him courage, and he started to force matters in which he landed many hard smashes to the body.

It was purely a case of Houck's cleverness and some hard punches pitted against rough tactics on the part of Jones, who always bored in with his head down, and played constantly for the body. His rugged work soon began to tell on the Quaker, and his stomach showed marks of hard blows and was responsible for his lack of ability to come back much in the closing rounds.

Intercity Relay Race for Schoolboys.

Commissioner Raymond A. Pearson, in charge of the New York State Fair, through John T. Norton, Director of Athletic Events, has extended to the schoolboys of New York City and Brooklyn an invitation to send a representative team of four boys from each borough to compete against representative teams from the public schools of Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester, and Buffalo in a half-mile relay race, the teams to consist of four boys, each boy to run 220 yards. To be eligible boys must have attended school during the last regular term, and must be vouched for by the school Principal or teacher. The prizes for this event are solid gold medals to the members of the first team, silver medals to members of the second team, and bronze medals to members of the third team. A committeeman will accompany the teams and see that they are properly boarded on trains, both going to the fair and returning. The elimination trials for this race will be held in Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester, and Buffalo, as well as New York and Brooklyn. The [illegible] for the New York team will be held at De Witt Clinton Park on Wednesday, Aug. [illegible], and the Brooklyn try-outs will be held at [illegible] athletic field on Thursday, Aug. 31. FINALS FOR POLO CUPS.

Destroyers and Milburn's Team Win Matches at Narragansett.

Special to The New York Times.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 21.—There were two matches in the National polo tournament, which was continued this afternoon on the grounds of the Point Judith Club. The first event was the final in the series for the Joseph B. Thomas Silver Cups between Aiken and the Destroyers. The Destroyers won the match by the score of 16 to 6, and after giving 5 goals by handicap.

The second match was the final in the series for the Narragansett championship and for the Gladstone Cups between two teams formed by J. M. Waterbury and Devereux Milburn. Mr. Milburn's team won the final and the cups by a score of 7½ to 6½. The line-ups:

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The Northwest disturbance has moved to the northeastward of Lake Superior, but pressure continues low in the Missouri Valley and the Southwest and has fallen considerably in the lake region.

Over the East the weather was fair except for showers in the South Atlantic States. A strong high pressure area with much lower temperatures follows the disturbance and in the Northwest temperatures are ten to fifteen degrees below the seasonal average. In the central East and Southeast portion of the country the temperatures were moderate, while in the Southwest they continue high.

It will be considerably cooler by Tuesday night in the Missouri and Upper Mississippi Valleys and the lake region and cooler Wednesday in the Ohio Valley generally. It will be somewhat warmer Tuesday in the Atlantic States.

Winds along the New England Coast will be southwest; Middle Atlantic Coast, south to southwest; south Atlantic Coast, mostly northeast.

Steamships departing Tuesday for European points will have moderate winds, mostly southwest, with fair weather to the Grand Banks.

FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND WEDNESDAY.

Eastern New York and New Jersey—Fair, slightly warmer Tuesday; Wednesday unsettled, moderate south to southwest winds.

New England—Fair Tuesday, warmer in west portion, Wednesday fair; moderate winds, mostly southwest.

Eastern Pennsylvania—Fair, warmer Tuesday; Wednesday unsettled; light to moderate south winds.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1910.	1911.		1910.	1911.
3 A. M.	63	63	4 P. M.	76	73

TENNIS RECORD ON NEWPORT COURTS

Field of 202 Entrants Reduced One-Half in Opening Day's Playing.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 21.—America's lawn tennis classic, the thirty-first annual deciding of the all-comers national championship singles on the turf courts of the Casino to-day created new records. The bump field of 202 aspirants for the crown worn by William A. Larned for six years, at one fell swoop dwindled to half that number. Nothing of the sort has ever been accomplished on the courts here in any previous year. A total of 88 results went on the board. Then the defaulting pencil got to work and 38 players who had not appeared were eliminated, thus making the tally 74 matches in the first round which was thereby cleared and 14 matches were decided in the second round. The summaries:

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Renewed Selling Carries Market Down Sharply Under the Lead of Union Pacific.

PURPOSE OF RETRENCHMENT

Harriman Lines Seek to Adjust Cost of Operation to Gross Receipts—Effect Would Be Beneficial.

Union Pacific again took the lead yesterday in a reaction which carried that stock down 4 points from Saturday's close and brought lesser losses to a number of the other active stocks. There appeared to be less urgency about the selling than was the case with much of the liquidation which occurred prior to the recovery which set in last Thursday, but prices yielded rather easily and did not show much resiliency. There was a recovery after the morning decline, but before the close the decline set in again, and in some of the leading stocks the final quotations were the lowest of the day. Trading was lighter than on most days last week, and the downard movement was not as general as on most of the recent days when the market was weak. Despite the 3½ point net decline in Union Pacific and losses approximating 2 points in several other important railroad stocks and a loss of 1⅛ points in United States Steel, it did not appear that the pressure upon the market was by any means as great as during the selling which recently forced prices down to the lowest prices of the year. Outside buying of stocks, however, continued light, and the market showed that it was not in a position in the face of renewed bear operations and some selling of long stock to retain the moderate improvement which occurred toward the close of last week.

The settlement of the English labor troubles, it had been hoped, would help to create some improvement in market sentiment, but the adjustment reached over Sunday between the English railroads and their employes, and the further settlements arrived at yesterday failed to exert any influence in this market. In their present mood traders seem more inclined to put their trust in any adverse influence upon the market than to count much on the effect of any favorable development. This is one of the results of recent market experiences and of the fact that underlying the whole of the recent decline there has prevailed a feeling of discouragement in quarters from which support is usually accorded to the market in periods of unsettlement. This attitude on the part of traders helps to account for the interpretation which was put yesterday upon the news contained in dispatches from the West that the Union Pacific in pursuance of a plan of retrenchment was laying off a number of men. The successful carrying out of this plan will mean that net earnings will benefit to the extent to which these retrenchments offset declines in gross earnings. While the decision to cut down expenses concentrates for the moment attention on the fact that gross receipts have been falling off on the Union Pacific as well as on many other roads it also directs attention to the fact that by the heavy expenditures of the past the Union Pacific has put itself in a position to curtail expenses at a time like the present. It is a strong feature of the position of any road that it is able to adjust its expenses to the volume of its gross earnings. Of late wage increases and other increased expenses imposed upon the railroads, including high cost of material, have lessened their ability to maintain the customary proportion between gross earnings and expenses. If the Union Pacific, through the retrenchment plan now being put into effect can adjust its expenses to its current gross receipts, it will accomplish a result directly opposite to the inferences which were being drawn on the Stock Exchange yesterday from the news of Union Pacific retrenchment. The decline in gross earnings, which has called for this policy of retrenchment is not a new development, and the road's purpose to curtail expenses is by way of applying a cure for the loss in gross receipts so far as the cure lies within the power of the company's management.

If yesterday's expectations are fulfilled Congress will adjourn to-day and temporary relief will be had from one of the adverse influences under which the market has been resting. The action of the market yesterday, however, contained no suggestion that the financial community was attaching special importance to the mere adjournment of Congress. Doubtless the reason for this was that the close of the special session brings with it no indication that the coming regular session will put an end to the Congressional activities which have been disturbing sentiment in the financial district unless, indeed, the idea embodied in the proposal of Representative Littleton and in one or two other similar proposals gains sufficient headway between now and December to hold out the hope that the question of corporation regulation will at the regular session be considered constructively rather than destructively.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Union Pacific was under heavy selling pressure on the Consolidated Stock Exchange from the opening of business, affected by the announcement of the company's plans for retrenchment of expenses. The whole list was influenced adversely by the Union Pacific news, with Reading and Steel common particularly prominent in the early decline. There was much disappointment among traders because of the non-response of the market to the approaching adjournment of Congress and the over-Sunday announcement of the settlement of the British railway strike. The heaviest dealings were on the forenoon break in prices, but while the trading quieted somewhat later, there was little rallying power displayed. Transactions totaled 77,206 shares, distributed over a list which included fifty-three different stocks.

Declines General, Though in Most Issues Some Recovery Is Made Before Close.

BOND LIST IS WEAK, TOO

Fractional Declines from Opening in Three of Four Issues Appearing—Mining Shares Made Substantial Losses.

Declines were general in the Curb stocks yesterday, although in some of the more active issues the close was a little better than the low levels. Standard Oil and Kerr Lake made low records for the year. The former, after moving sluggishly, closed at the bottom, 595, which was even with the first price of the day. Kerr Lake sold off from 4⅝ to 4½, and closed at 4⅝, after sales of 1,000. Nipissing was also weak, selling from 8¼ down to 7⅞. The close was at 8, after sales of 1,500. British Columbia sold off from 4⅛ to 4, and Giroux from 5 to 4⅞, closing at 4⅞. Greene-Cananea sold off from 6⅛ to 6⅛. Trading in the bond list was limited to four issues. Of these, three, New York City 4½s, New York, Westchester & Boston 4½s, and Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph 5s, made small declines from the opening prices.

Transactions reported yesterday in the outside market, with opening, high, low, and last prices, were as follows:

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Position of Bond Trading.

In the long run, it is expected in some banking quarters, the decline which has taken place in the stock market will help the bond market through purchases made by those investors who, to avoid the risk of fluctuations such as the stock market has lately experienced, will give their attention to bonds rather than to stocks. Meanwhile dealers in bonds report that while the investment demand for bonds is not as brisk as it has been in some earlier periods of the year, it is far from stagnant. What investors seem disposed to insist upon, and to insist upon now perhaps more than at any time in the past, is that their bond investments shall yield them a fairly high return, a higher return, at all events, than investors have unquestioningly accepted in the past. This is by no means a very recent disposition on the part of purchasers of bonds, but it is being emphasized more and more in the experience of the bond houses.

* *

Selling Investment Securities.

Some of the business which has recently come to the houses which make a specialty of distributing bonds has grown out of the losses which have been incurred in the stock market and which have in some instances necessitated the sale of standard investment bonds by operators who had been caught in the decline in stocks. There has been enough of this sort of selling to make it one of the features of the recent dealings in bonds. The details of some of these transactions have become known in the street, but of a larger number all that is known is that bond houses have been asked to distribute holdings of bonds for the account of persons who never meant to sell them, and who were forced to do so because they had ventured too far in a stock market which, as events proved, was face to face with a severe decline.

Union Pacific.

In the dispatches from Omaha telling of the Union Pacific's retrenchment, starting with the laying off of 2,500 men, the statement, for which the office of the General Manager was given as authority, that "in no month in the last ten has the Union Pacific made money," was palpably wrong. It is less than two weeks since, following the Directors' meeting at which the regular dividend was declared, the income figures for the fiscal year ended June 30 were officially announced. The surplus earnings on the Union Pacific's common stock were put at $36,047,208, which was $5,476,481 less than in 1910, but represented a percentage of 16.64 on the common stock, or more than 6 per cent. in excess of dividend requirements, notwithstanding the [illegible] the custom to apply on the 10 per cent. annual dividend disbursement 6 per cent. out of operating revenue and 4 per cent. out of investment income. The earnings for the year just closed totaled $17,651,212 from transportation, or 8.15 per cent., and $18,395,996 from investment, or 8.49 per cent. The income from the latter source showed a falling off of only about $575,000. In 1910 the combined income was 19.1 per cent. Presumably the Omaha misstatements in their correct form were meant to refer to the declines in net earnings, and, in many months, in gross. In the fiscal year gross earnings decreased by $1,244,984, and an increase of $3,066,609 in operating expenses correspondingly cut into net earnings.

* *

Retrenchment.

In cutting down its forces the Union Pacific is doing no more than following an old rule. Quick response to changes in conditions was a fixed Harriman policy, and the Union and Southern Pacific have had opportunities since the financier's death to demonstrate that there has been falling away from this practice.

Texas Oil Off Again.

After its rally of last week, by which it recovered 10 points of the two-day decline of 15½ points, Texas Company stock became again yesterday the weakest issue in the list. At one time it was off 9¼ points, wiping out practically all of last week's rally, but before the close made some recovery and closed at 90, a net loss of 6 points. The renewed weakness of the stock gave rise to a rumor that the company would make an official statement to stockholders. At the office, in the Whitehall Building, it was explained, however, that the only statement to be expected was the annual report, which is due in about a week. The shares, which are now selling at 90, have been as high as 136½ this year. The stock has been on a 10 per cent. basis since June, 1910, when it was reduced from 12 per cent. in connection with the distribution of a 50 per cent. stock dividend. The next dividend is due Sept. 30, and has not yet been announced. The disbursements for each quarter have not usually been announced in the past until within the month of distribution.

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS.

Cheerful Tone on London Exchange Owing to Settlement of Strike.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Money was plentiful and discount rates were quiet to-day.

The Bank of England obtained the bulk of the $3,250,000 South African gold available in the open market.

The settlement of the railroad strike imparted a cheerful tone to the dealings on the Stock Exchange, and home rails gained from one to two points on bear covering and investment buying during the forenoon. About half this improvement was lost in the afternoon. Consols gained ⅛ and Kaffirs and rubber shares closed harder. A small failure in the mining section had no effect on the general market.

American securities opened steady and a fraction higher, and during the first hour advanced under the lead of Canadian Pacific. Prices at noon ranged from unchanged to 1⅜ above parity. Later Wall Street selling caused a smart setback of from 1 to 2½ points, and the market closed weak.

Money, 1½ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 2¼ per cent.; for three months' bills 2⅜ per cent.

Gold premium at Madrid, 8.45; at Lisbon, 7.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Price movements were uncertain on the Bourse to-day, owing to the Moroccan negotiations.

Three per cent. rentes, 94f 60c for the account.

Exchange on London, 25f 27c for checks. Private discount rate, 2¼ per cent.

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—Prices closed slightly higher on the Boerse to-day. Trading was quiet.

Money, 2¼ per cent.

Cotton Exchange Closed Sept. 2.

Two of the Exchanges in the financial district have already acted upon the question of granting an additional holiday on Saturday preceding Labor Day, which custom has all but confirmed. The Cotton Exchange has voted to close, but the Coffee Exchange will remain open. The Coffee Exchange has decided against a holiday because of the interest in the September contract, deliveries on which it is presumed might be interfered with.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Stockholders of the Fourteenth Street Bank, which this month changed its name to the Security Bank, have ratified the absorption of the Twelfth Ward and the Nineteenth Ward Banks. The new bank will have a surplus of $500,000, capital of $1,000,000, and deposits of between $14,000,000 and $15,000,000.

F. S. Miller of Memphis has applied for membership in the New York Cotton Exchange.

L. L. Benedict, Jr., has become a member of the Stock Exchange firm of L. L. Benedict & Co., 1 Wall Street.

STOCKS OUT OF TOWN

Weakness Here Influences Prices in the Principal Centres of Stock Trading.

LOCAL ISSUES ARE DULL

Trading Generally in Small Volume, but Sentiment Is Influenced by Declines in Arbitrage Issues.

While trading was for the most part dull in the out-of-town markets, and activity confined chiefly to the issues for which the principal market is found in New York, the declines here had their influence on purely local stocks.

On the Chicago Exchange most of the trading was in the industrial issues. Sears-Roebuck fell back after an early upturn and Swift & Co. shares were off slightly. The weakness in New York had as usual its effect on sentiment. Fairly large transactions were recorded in public utility corporation bonds.

The decline here was reflected to a moderate extent on the Philadelphia Exchange. The breaks in United States Steel, Reading, and Lehigh Valley caused such issues as Cambria Steel, General Asphalt preferred, Lehigh Navigation and Union Traction to develop sympathetic weakness. The volume of dealings in United States Steel overshadowed everything else by far. During the first hour alone approximately 6,000 shares appeared on the tape.

The Boston market opened steady and some gains were recorded in the early trading, but later in the day realizing appeared in the active issues. Arizona Commercial declined to 3½, North Butte to 24½, Amalgamated to 60⅝, and Lake to 26. The market closed irregular at the decline.

The market in Baltimore remained sluggish, and while price changes were small, the tone was heavy.

Yesterday's transactions on the various out-of-town Exchanges as reported to THE NEW YORK TIMES, were as follows:

COMMODITY MARKETS.

WHEAT.—The undertone was firm during the entire session and excepting momentary hesitation displayed at the outset, the result of disappointment at the Liverpool cables, fair gains prevailed during the day. In the American Northwestern and Canadian markets strength was greatest with Winnipeg closing from 1⅛c to 2⅛c higher, Minneapolis about 2c higher, while Chicago and the local market closed at only fractional advances.

The unusual gain at outside points was due to reiteration of advices claiming unfavorable results from thrashing operations of the new Spring wheat, while cooler weather in the Canadian wheat belt and official predictions of probable light frost there were important influences. Furthermore, with the termination of the foreign labor difficulties an improved export inquiry was expected, although yesterday's sales amounted to only eight loads of wheat at outports.

Bearish factors had little or no effect, and the influence of highly favorable Canadian wheat advices was small, probably nullified by the apprehension of frost and lack of novelty. Rains were reported in India, which will be of benefit, and as a whole there is a disposition to view the foreign crop situation with more optimism, although it is realized that Russia is still an unknown quantity. It is generally believed that the outcome of the Russian crop and the development of the Argentine crop, the latter of which has received a large start, will largely determine the extent of export demand this season.

Snow made the condition of Spring wheat 55.3c against 61.5c on Aug. 1, claiming that thrashing returns showed general disappointment and that damage from rust was underestimated, with indications of 195,000,000 bushels for crop as a total against 231,000,000 bushels last year. The visible supply decreased 1,650,000 bushels, and aggregates to 52,000,000 bushels against 32,000,000 last year. World's wheat exports were 10,800,000 bushels against 9,000,000 last week and 13,000,000 last year.

Cash wheat No. 2 red quoted at 95½c to arrive costs, insurance and freight New York elevator, export basis, and 96½c free on board afloat for export. No. 1 Northern Manitoba, $1.09½; No. 1 Northern Spring, $1.13¾; No. 2 hard, 99½c.

CORN.—Notwithstanding the strength in wheat, corn was heavy. Weather conditions were favorable, with good rains in parts of Kansas and Missouri, while predictions were for showery and unsettled weather throughout practically the entire belt. Crop advices are still conflicting, but the outlook is generally believed to be brighter than on the last Government report. Some claims were that the Southwest was endeavoring to resell corn, while the country movement was in slightly larger volume. Demand, on the other hand, is still fair. Snow issued a rather bullish report, but its effect was slight. The condition was placed at 69.7c against 70.8c as of Aug. 1. The visible decreased 847,000 bushels for the week, totaling at present to 4,793,000 bushels against 2,673,000 bushels last year. Cash No. 2 Western quoted at 71½c elevator domestic basis.

OATS.—Prices were firm with small net gains scored. Speculative demand showed improvement and country offerings are limited, with absorption good. The strong feed crop situation evinces itself in the demand for cash oats. Snow estimated the crop at 812,000,000 bushels, or 315,000,000 bushels under that of last year. Cash standards quoted at 44c; No. 2 white, 44½c; No. 3 white, 43½c.

PROVISIONS.—The list was firm. Packers were giving support, and some investment buying was reported. Cash demand is fair, but speculation is small, with sentiment rather bearish.

COTTONSEED OIL.

Demand continues of fair proportions, but it was evident that buyers were forced to contend with more liberal offerings. Some of the selling was generally credited to refining interests, although the total amount of hedge pressure now being experienced is still comparatively light. Less favorable cotton crop advices from the Southwest and a steady to firm lard market, together with a good foreign demand, are features not inviting to bear pressure, although it is still asserted that the crop outlook as a whole is good, and foreign demand is less urgent, while it would be only natural for hedge sales to increase on the scale up as the season advances.

COTTON.

There is evidence of the market becoming a more two-sided affair, with sentiment rather mixed. Bulls contend that higher prices are warranted with the sensational damage claims from Texas, basing their assertions also on the recent severe decline in prices and the belief that at current levels consumptive demand will be enormous. On the other hand, those favoring a lower range of values point to the heavy and early movement of new cotton, arguing further that the deterioration now being experienced is receiving its usual exaggeration and then again is at the expense of a crop promise which is exceptionally favorable as a whole.

Opening levels were 3 to 14 points higher yesterday, due to the good Liverpool cables received, partly reflecting the settlement of the English labor difficulties. Crop reports from the Southwest at hand before the session started were bullish, with a dispatch from Habersham King stating that in his opinion three-quarters of the Texas crop was deteriorating daily and that conditions were alarming. Later he wired that all over the belt, except for the Southwest, the crop promise was excellent. Generally this was the view taken of the crop outlook, with the opinion prevalent that good showers in the States of Texas and Oklahoma would materially allay apprehension. Pending the Government report on Sept. 1, crop dispatches are anticipated to continue of so conflicting and unconvincing tenor.

The early gain in values was shortlived, there being considerable pressure from the South and from Wall Street, while the buying from shorts and for the account of some spot interests, in conjunction with a fair foreign demand in the future market, was inadequate to absorb offerings. However, toward the close of the session selling pressure exhausted itself and prices again scored a partial rally.

Export demand for cotton continues slow, but is expected to improve with a betterment in the foreign situation. Home trade conditions, on the other hand, are still bearish, although curtailment is reducing stocks, and in some lines of dry goods a slightly better undertone is observed.

Late cable advices reported rains in India. The Mercantile Cotton Crop Reporting Corporation in its revised report gave the condition at 81.4, with an estimated yield of approximately 13,500,000 bales. Houston receipts yesterday were 22,000 bales and Galveston 11,000 bales, with 14,000 bales expected at Galveston to-day. Southern spot markets were unchanged to ⅛c lower. New York spot cotton quiet and unchanged; middlings, 12.50c.

COFFEE.

Coffee met active selling, closing at a net decline of 10 to 14 points on sales aggregating 44,000 bags. The movement was inspired largely by a decline of 1 franc at Havre, and and an increase in receipts. Warehouse deliveries of Brazilian coffee at United States ports continue to run light, amounting last week to 74,345 bags, against 82,446 the previous week, and 223,575 for the corresponding week last year. Hamburg was comparatively steady, being unchanged to ¼ franc lower, while Brazil was 50 to 75 reis lower.

RAILROAD ECONOMIES AFFECT FEW LINES

Union Pacific Retrenchment Said to be Advisable Because of Business Conditions.

CROP OUTLOOK IS BETTER

E. T. Jeffery of Denver & Rio Grande Says the West Is More Optimistic Than the East.

The reason assigned here for the orders sent out from Omaha for strict retrenchment on the Union Pacific, with intimations that the same policy will be extended to the other Harriman lines, is the general dullness in trade, actual and in prospect for the Fall.

The poorer crop conditions shown by the latest Government report is not considered a very important factor in the situation, as Kansas and Nebraska are about the only States traversed by the Harriman lines in which this deterioration has taken place. Further West the weather conditions, including the rainfall, have been much better. Those familiar with Union Pacific territory say that the continued stagnation in trade is due rather to tariff agitation, especially as affecting the wool and beet sugar industries, which are important there.

The intimation that other roads in the Northwest would soon follow the example set by the Harriman lines and lay off many men this Fall met with skepticism among railroad men here yesterday, as most of these roads have already reduced their expenditures to a minimum. The theory that a general movement was at hand toward a reduction in labor forces was generally discredited.

A high official of the Harriman system said yesterday that no such stringent reductions as those on some of the other roads had been made heretofore on the Union and Southern Pacific. Their physical condition, he said, was now better than it ever had been before, and these roads were consequently in just the opposite position to that pictured by those connected with other lines.

Officials here, however, were inclined to doubt that any such number as 2,500 men, as estimated in the Western dispatches, would be affected.

As against the strong tendency to retrenchment in the Northwest, reports of improvements on the Gould roads and moderate optimism as to business came yesterday from E. T. Jeffery, President of the Denver & Rio Grande, just back from an 8,000-mile trip over his line, the Western Pacific, the Wabash, and parts of the Missouri Pacific, which took him through to the Pacific Coast. Mr. Jeffery said that nowhere did he hear expressions of pronounced pessimism from merchants and other business men, with many of whom he came in contact. The consensus was that while there is a lull in trade, the volume of business is about equal to that of the same time last year. In manufacturing lines, Mr. Jeffery said, he found a general falling off. The output of coal in Utah and Colorado is the smallest for some years. While the political agitation that has been in progress for some time is generally deplored by Western business men, it had not, Mr. Jeffery said, been productive of the same degree of pessimism as in the East.

As to crops, Mr. Jeffery said the probable final yield of Winter wheat was pretty well known, and Spring wheat had been damaged considerably in some States, but the corn crop of the United States as a whole would, in his opinion, exceed the ten-year average.

Mr. Jeffery said the average condition of the Wabash was the best since he has been connected with the system, and because of the expectation of an active movement of traffic, 30 locomotives, 1,200 freight cars, and some passenger equipment had been ordered. Speaking of the Missouri Pacific from Kansas City to Pueblo, Mr. Jeffery said four-fifths of it was in good condition and the rest would be put in the same shape by Nov. 1. Fixing up the slides and straightening the embankments are in progress on the Western Pacific. The Denver & Rio Grande was found in good average condition. Heavy rails are being laid on the main line, and ten miles of double tracking has just been completed. The low-grade line between Pueblo and Lawsonburg, constructed jointly by the Denver & Rio Grande and the Colorado & Southern, will be completed about Dec. 1.

TO HEAD BOSTON EXCHANGE.

Henry Hornblower Nominated for President to Succeed L. B. Greenleaf.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—Henry Hornblower of the banking firm of Hornblower & Weeks, 60 Congress Street, is the nominee for President of the Boston Stock Exchange. Harry H. Gay of Gay & Sturgis, brokers, received the nomination for Vice President, and Sidney Chase was renominated for Treasurer. The election will be held the last Monday in September.

Mr. Hornblower is absent on a trip in the West, and will return about Sept. 1. The nominations are equivalent to elections. Mr. Hornblower will succeed Lyman B. Greenleaf, who has been President of the Exchange since 1896.

AGREE ON MONEY BOARD.

Congress Will Let It Report Finally March 31, After Hearings.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The National Monetary Commission will close its work on March 31 next. The Senate to-day accepted the House amendments to the bill and it was then ready for the President's signature.

Before entering upon the preparation of its final report the commission will give the financial and business interests of the country an opportunity to be further heard. The hearings will begin in October and probably will be held in various cities.

Ratify Chicago Elevated Issue.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—A special meeting of stockholders of the Northwestern Elevated Railroad Company was held this morning, and the proposal authorizing an issue of $25,000,000 first mortgage bonds was ratified. The Trustees of the Chicago Elevated Railways voted nearly all of the company's capital stock. The bonds will be turned over to the Trustees and held as security against money advanced to retire about $19,000,000 4 per cent. mortgage bonds on Sept. 1, and to liquidate floating indebtedness. None of the bonds will be offered to investors, it is said.

DROP ARIZONA SMELTER SUIT

Delamar and Vogelstein to Pay Losses, Others Being Eliminated.

Judge Lacombe of the United States Circuit Court, upon the consent of counsel representing all the parties to the litigation, yesterday ordered the discontinuance of the suit brought by Crocker & Wickes, as counsel for J. Kearny Rice, trustee in bankruptcy of the Consolidated Arizona Smelting Company, against Joseph R. Delamar, John L. Elliot, Ludwig Vogelstein, George W. Middleton, Charles W. Morse, and John F. Carroll, without costs.

Messrs. Crocker & Wickes said the defendants had agreed to settle for what they thought to be a reasonable amount. They will pay general creditors at the rate of 65 per cent. on each claim, Victor Morawetz and Hooley, Learned & Co. having withdrawn their demands.

As Messrs. Morse, Elliot, and Middleton are unable to pay and Carroll is not liable under the New Jersey law, Delamar and Vogelstein will have to make up the losses.

TRADE DULL, OMITS DIVIDEND

Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company Explains Business Conditions.

In explanation of the omission of the quarterly dividend on the company's preferred stock for the current quarter, President R. L. Lemoine of the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company has issued a letter to stockholders. It states that the company has suffered more or less from the general depression in common with all of the manufacturers of iron and steel, and that the low prices make more necessary than ever the keeping of the plants at full efficiency.

"The studies thus far made to this end indicate that considerable outlays will be involved," the letter concludes. "The management, therefore, have concluded to temporarily take care of these extraordinary expenditures from earnings, and confidently expect the improvements and economies that will be effected will result in such material reduction in costs as will greatly strengthen the company's position."

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Two West Side Plots Sold for Immediate Improvement—Good Demand for Private Dwellings—Investors buy Tenement House Property—Mrs. H. B. Duryea Sells Edgehill.

What little activity there was in the realty market yesterday centred in the upper west side, where two plots were sold for immediate improvement.

On the corner where Riverside Drive turns into Seventy-second Street, and one block south of the Schwab mansion, L'Ecluse, Washburn & Co. sold for Georgia L. Banner the plot 37.7 by 97 by 100 by 35.5, known as 2 Riverside Drive. The buyer will improve the site with a private dwelling.

Further north on Washington Heights the One Hundred and Eightieth Street Company sold through W. D. Morgan the northeast corner of Pinehurst Avenue and 180th Street, a vacant plot, 100 by 100. The buyer is James J. Martin, who recently sold the five-story apartment, 58 by 100, at the northeast corner of 186th Street and St. Nicholas Avenue. The buyer, it is understood, will begin at once the erection of a high-class elevator apartment covering the entire plot.

Demand for Private Dwellings.

Miss Florence T. Van Buren has resold through Pease & Elliman 53 East Seventy-third Street, a four-story dwelling, on a lot 17.6 by 100.2. This is the third sale of this property in three weeks.

The same brokers have also sold for Mrs. A. L. Ward 165 West Ninety-fourth Street, a three-story dwelling, on a lot 14 by 100.8.

Harold Binney has sold to Arthur R. Gray of Richfield, Conn., 114 East Twenty-second Street, a three-story dwelling, on lot 20 by 98.9, between Lexington and Fourth Avenues.

Twenty-first Street Loft Trade.

Spear & Co. and the Berman Realty Company negotiated the sale of the twelve-story loft building 136 to 140 West Twenty-first Street for the Yawl Realty Company to Harry N. Dine. In part payment the buyer gave 66 and 68 Seventh Avenue, Brooklyn, which he acquired recently from Maurice B. Mendham in part payment for the Alexander Hamilton apartment at Broadway and 161st Street.

Buys East Harlem Tenement.

Charles Salomone has sold for Edward C. Sheehy to Michael Fraina, the southeast corner of 115th Street and Second Avenue, a four-story tenement with store, on a plot 21 by 75.

Porter & Co. have re-sold for Ella S. West to an investor the five-story triple flat located at 335 East Ninety-fifth Street, on a plot 30 by 100.

Bronx.

James J. Haggerty has sold for Mary Raichle to Patrick and Ellen Sullivan, the two-family frame dwelling 1,420 Vyse Avenue.

Alexander Sulkin sold to a client for R. S. Howard 1,390 Clay Avenue, a one-family house, on a lot 25 by 80.

Mrs. Duryea Sells Edgehill.

De Blois & Eldridge have sold for Mrs. Herman B. Duryea, her place known as Edgehill, on Beacon Hill Road and Harrison Avenue, Newport, R. I., with large dwelling and stable, together with twenty-two acres of land, to Arthur Curtiss James of New York. This property was sold about eleven years ago, at which time Mr. Duryea was much interested in yachting, and purchased this property on account of its harbor privilege. The house was built originally by George Gordon King from plans by McKim, Mead & White.

Suburban.

L. H. Nicholson & Co. have sold at Lyndhurst, N. J., to Charles F. Liebmann for Ernest Rogers, a six-room house, on a plot 30 by 180 for $3,500; also to Bernard V. Reinecke for John H. Burke, a six-room house on Front Street, on a plot 33.3 by 100 for $3,000.

Arverne Property Brings Good Prices.

The sale at public auction of the Arverne Hotel, Arverne cottages, Arverne Casino, bath houses, beach front, and two vacant plots on Summerfield Avenue, which was conducted by Joseph P. Day, auctioneer, on the front porch of the Arverne Hotel, last Saturday, at 2:30 P. M., brought out a very large gathering of people interested in real estate along the Rockaway Peninsula.

The Arverne Hotel was sold to L. Rodney Berg, representing a client, for $37,500. The Arverne Casino, Italian Gardens, bath houses, and beach rights, were offered next and were sold to L. M. Mosauer for $56,000. The Arverne cottages were sold to Henry Prince for $19,500. Parcel No. 1, a vacant plot on Summerfield Avenue was sold to L. Rodney Berg, representing a client, for $7,812. Parcel No. 4, a vacant plot on Summerfield Avenue was sold to L. Rodney Berg, representing a client for $5,500.

Building Loans.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has made a building loan of $850,000 to Henry Corn's Broadway and Twenty-first Street Company on the property at the southwest corner of Broadway and Twenty-first Street, recently acquired by Mr. Corn in trade for the Clarendon building at Fourth Avenue and Eighteenth Street.

The Guarantor Realty Corporation has placed a loan of $36,000 on the building located east side of Crotona Avenue, 150 feet north of 183d Street, for the Furrer Construction Company.

Subway Loop Property at Auction.

Joseph P. Day will offer to-day at 12 o'clock noon, in the Vesey Street Salesroom, by order of the Public Service Commission for the First District, a plot covering 12,618 square feet, located on the northeast corner of Broome Street and Cleveland Place, opposite Police Headquarters, a block north of Grand Street. The property carries a permanent easement for the subway loop section which passes under it, and was acquired by the City of New York for subway purposes.

Leases.

S. Osgood Pell & Co., have leased the second loft in 27 West Thirty-eighth Street to John Pollinger; also the studio on the sixth floor to Kano Oshima. These leases complete the renting of the building.

The Guarantor Realty Corporation has leased for a term of five years the store, 118 East Fourteenth Street from Baum & Medicus to Charles Rose; also the southeast corner of Essex and Delancey Streets, for the United Hat Stores Company to the Maury Shoe Company for a term of five years; also the store, 1,597 Broadway for C. R. Teaboldt & Co. to Rosenthal Bros., for a term of years, and the store at 1,243 Broadway for a term of five years to H. B. Kaiser, Incorporated.

M. & L. Hess have leased for Edward J. McGuire, attorney, the three-story and basement building at 152 West Twenty-first Street to Miss France Hamilton; for Stewart, Howe and May Company, the second loft at 297-303 Mercer Street, to the Ecuadorian Panama Hat Company.

Moore & Schutte have leased for John T. Dooling, 524 West 140th Street, a three-story and basement dwelling to a client for a term of years.

Notes.

The J. P. Whiton-Stuart Co. were the brokers in the sale of 124 East Sixty-fifth Street for James A. Roberts, trustee of the Thomas Stevenson estate.

M. L. Keveney of Brooklyn is the buyer of the dwelling 165 West Eighty-eighth Street, sold recently by Miss Helen Machin through Pease & Elliman.

BROADWAY TO AMSTERDAM AVENUE

Eighty-sixth to Eighty-seventh Street

You will find that the Belnord has a number of extra points of superiority among apartment houses of the first rank.

For instance, every room in the Belnord is an outside room; it is the largest apartment house in existence, covering an entire city block and being 12 stories high, and it incloses the largest court.

The inner rooms look on to Belnord Court and its grass plots, shrubbery, walks and playing fountains. This miniature park has an enchanting air of peace and quiet. The simple idea of locating the engine rooms deep under the central court obviates noise and vibration.

Every apartment includes the most modern accessories for comfort and convenience. Apartments contain from 7 to 11 rooms at rentals of $2,400 and up. The Belnord service is perfection. Interested parties are welcome to inspect the Belnord.

Reservations may now be made for October 1st.

CHANCERY SALE—In Pursuance and by virtue of decrees of foreclosure and sale in favor of THE NEW YORK TRUST COMPANY, complainant, made and entered by the Circuit Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division, and of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Northern District of Ohio, Western Division, and of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern District of Ohio, Eastern Division, which decrees were dated on the 24th day April, A. D. 1911, and entered in said Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division, May 4th, 1911, in said Northern District of Ohio, Western Division, May 6th, 1911, and in said Southern District of Ohio, Eastern Division, May 19th, 1911, in causes pending in said respective courts, and which were entitled: The New York Trust Company, Complainant, vs. Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company et al., Defendants; Knickerbocker Trust Company, Complainant, vs. Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, Defendant; William J. Courtney et al., Complainants, vs. Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, Defendant; (Consolidated Cause. In Equity); the causes pending in the Circuit Court of the United States for the Northern District of Ohio, Western Division, and in the Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern District of Ohio, Eastern Division, being ancillary to the cause pending in the Circuit Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division: NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the undersigned, Special Master Commissioner of said courts, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder on THURSDAY, THE FIFTH DAY OF OCTOBER, A. D. 1911, at twelve o'clock noon, standard time, of said day, at the former Delray Station Building of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company on River Street, in the City of Detroit, County of Wayne and State of Michigan, being on the property described to be sold, as an entirety in one parcel, all the properties by the said decrees directed to be sold, to wit:

ALL the properties by the said decrees declared to be covered by the General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage from the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company to The New York Trust Company, dated May 2, 1905, and by the said decrees directed to be sold, being

First—All the property which in the said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage was described as follows—namely:

"All and singular the following described railroads situated in the States of Michigan and Ohio, to wit:

1st—The line of railroad formerly owned by the Detroit Southern Railroad Company and previously owned by the Ohio Southern Railroad Company, The Lima Northern Railway Company and the Detroit and Lima Northern Railway Company, comprising all and singular the line of railroad from the City of Detroit, Wayne County, State of Michigan, through the Counties of Wayne, Monroe and Lenawee, in the State of Michigan, and through the Counties of Fulton, Henry, Putnam, Allen, Auglaize, Shelby, Logan, Champaign, Clarke, Madison, Fayette, Highland, Ross, Pike, Jackson, Gallia and Lawrence, in the State of Ohio, to the Village of Rockwood in said Lawrence County, and all branches, additions and extensions thereof, including the branch or branches extending from said main line at Jeffersonville, Fayette County, northeastwardly through Fayette and Madison Counties to Sedalia, and from said Jeffersonville, southwestwardly through Fayette, Greene and Clinton Counties to Kingman, in said State of Ohio.

2d—Also all that parcel of land in River Rouge, Ecorse Township, Wayne County, Michigan, being a portion of Private Claim 45, described as follows: Beginning at the point where the boundary line between the lands of the Solvay Process Company and those formerly owned by the River Rouge Improvement Company (which line is marked by three monuments, one near the border of the River Rouge, one upon the edge of the right of way of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company, formerly the Detroit Southern Railroad Company, and one near the bank of the Detroit River) is intersected by the southerly line of the property conveyed for railroad purposes to the Detroit and Lima Northern Railway by the Solvay Process Company by deed dated February 20, 1900, recorded in Liber 512 of Deeds, page 449, Wayne County Records; thence northerly along said boundary line 50 feet; thence southwesterly at right angles to said boundary line along the southerly line of the right of way of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company, formerly the Detroit Southern Railroad Company, 405 feet to a point in the Short Cut Canal of the River Rouge Improvement Company, which point is in a line drawn parallel to and 30 feet distant northerly from the dock line as now established on the southerly side of said canal near its easterly end; thence southerly at an angle of 87 degrees 58 minutes to the left or southerly about 2,000 feet to the point where said line intersects the harbor line of the Detroit River as now established by the United States; thence at an angle of 112 degrees 38 minutes to the left or upstream 1,818 feet to a point; thence to the left or northerly at an angle of 67 degrees 27 minutes 1,015 feet to a point; thence at an angle of 12 degrees to the right or north 384 feet to a point; thence at an angle of about 26 degrees 15 minutes to the right or north about 495 feet to a point in the southerly line of the right of way of said Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company, formerly the Detroit Southern Railroad Company, which point is opposite to and 66 feet distant measured along the radius through Station now or formerly 544 of the centre line of the track of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company, formerly the Detroit Southern Railroad Company, from the point of compound curve of a 2 degree curve to the left, which last point is in the north line of said right of way; thence along the southeasterly line of said right of way to the place of beginning. Also, so much of the land beneath the waters of the canal aforesaid as is included by the said lines of the right of way of said Railway Company if extended across said canal, and by the line in said canal which forms the southwesterly boundary of the land aforesaid, containing 51.67 acres, more or less, including all land lying between the right of way and bridge of said canal of said Railroad Company as now located, the harbor line of the Detroit River, the line aforesaid in the Short Cut Canal, and the northeasterly boundary line heretofore described, together with the hereditaments, appurtenances and riparian rights thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining, subject only to the exceptions, restrictions and conditions contained in the deed of said property, dated February 20, 1902, between the Solvay Process Company of Solvay, New York, and the Detroit Southern Railroad Company, recorded in Liber 537 of Deeds, page 609, of Wayne County, Michigan, said property having been acquired for and become an appurtenance of the railroad and property first above described, and being now used as such.

3rd—Also all and singular the right of way and line of railroad formerly of the Iron Railway Company, extending from the Ohio River, in Upper Township, Lawrence County, Ohio, to the south line of Jackson County, Ohio, including its lines from Ironton to Centre Station, from Ironton to Sarah Furnace, from Aetna Station to Ellisonville, and the Bartels branches and other spurs, branches and feed tracks appurtenant and belonging to said property, all in said Lawrence County, Ohio, and also the branch of said railway now completed from a point in its main line at or near Lawrence Station, in said Lawrence County, through said county into and through the County of Scioto, into and through the County of Jackson to a connection with the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company at or near Jackson, all in Ohio, using in part for such connection, the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern Railroad Company by virtue of a certain lease or agreement with said company, and all other property formerly belonging to said Iron Railway Company or now owned and used in connection therewith, together with all and singular the property of every kind and description now owned and used in connection with said railroad, and all and singular the powers, franchises, rights, privileges and immunities belonging thereto.

4th—All of the following classes of property now owned or held by the Railway Company, or hereafter acquired by it or its successors from the unexpended balance of cash remaining as hereinbefore recited, and appertaining to any of the said railroads or properties described above in paragraphs first and third, inclusive:

All the road bed, rights of way, station grounds, railroad yards, terminal grounds, and all other lands, lands under water, docks, wharves and riparian rights, all tracks, spurs, branches, side tracks, bridges, viaducts, docks, culverts, fences, depot, station houses, elevators, warehouses, engine houses, car houses, coal houses, wood houses, machine shops, and other shops and all other buildings or structures.

All locomotives, tenders, cars, and other rolling stock and equipment of every kind.

All tools, implements, machinery, wood, coal, oil, fuel, and other supplies.

All the privileges and franchises connected with or relating to any of said railroads, or to the construction, maintenance, use or operation thereof, whether now held by the Railway Company or hereafter acquired by it or its successors as aforesaid; and all and singular the tenements, hereditaments, and appurtenances, to the said premises belonging.

Also all the rents, issues, profits, tolls, and other incomes of all the property which shall from time to time be subject to this indenture.

And, also, all the estate, right, title, interest, property, claim, possession, and demand whatsoever as well in law as in equity which the Railway Company may now have or it or its successors may hereafter acquire by the means aforesaid in or to or of the same and every part thereof, meaning to include, among other things, all property of whatsoever nature acquired under the following recited deeds or instruments in which said Railway Company is grantee, all dated May 1st, 1905; the above mentioned indenture executed in pursuance of the said decree of foreclosure in the said suit of New York Security and Trust Company, Trustee, complainant, against Detroit Southern Railroad Company, defendants; deed and bill of sale from Detroit Southern Railroad Company; deed and bill of sale from Samuel Hunt, Receiver of the Detroit Southern Railroad Company; deed and bill of sale from Otto T. Bannard as Purchasing Committee as aforesaid."

Excepting from the foregoing described property so much thereof as, upon an exchange of certain depot property at or near Springfield, Ohio, was conveyed by the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company and its receivers to the Cincinnati, Sandusky and Cleveland Railroad Company, the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway Company, and the Columbus, Springfield and Cincinnati Railroad Company.

The lands thus conveyed to the Cincinnati, Sandusky and Cleveland Railroad Company were in the deed thereof described as follows:

"The real estate in the City of Springfield in the County of Clarke and State of Ohio, upon which said Company and its predecessors have heretofore constructed, maintained and operated certain railroad tracks, the center lines of which tracks are more particularly described as follows: From the intersetion of the North Line of Monroe Street with the West Line of Linden Avenue measure northwardly along said west line of Linden Avenue three hundred and twenty-one and five tenths (321.5) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of sixty-nine degrees and fifty-two minutes (69 degrees 52 minutes) one hundred and seventy-three and nine-tenths (173.9) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of seven degrees and four minutes (7 degrees 4 minutes) seventy-five and seven-tenths (75.7) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of two degrees and twenty-six minutes (2 degrees 26 minutes) fifty (50) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of five degrees and twenty-four minutes (5 degrees 24 minutes) fifty (50) feet from the place of beginning; thence from said place of beginning along the last described course fifty (50) feet; thence northwestwardly at angle to the left of five degrees and fourteen minutes (5 degrees 14 minutes) fifty (50) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the right of five degrees and fifty-one minutes (5 degrees 51 minutes) one hundred (100) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the right of ten degrees and eleven minutes (10 degrees 11 minutes) seventy-seven (77) feet to a point of switch; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of fifty-eight minutes (58 minutes) seventy-three (73) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of three degrees and fifty-five minutes (3 degrees 55 minutes) one hundred (100) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of six degrees and fifty-six minutes (6 degrees 56 minutes) eighty-six (86) feet. Also from the above located point of switch northwestwardly at an angle to the right of four degrees and thirty-five minutes (4 degrees 35 minutes) seventy-three (73) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of six degrees and thirty-three minutes (6 degrees 33 minutes) one hundred (100) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of nine degrees and fifty-one minutes (9 degrees 51 minutes) eighty-six (86) feet to a point one hundred and fifty-eight and three-tenths (158.3) feet south of the intersection of the north line of Washington Street with the west line of Spring Street."

The land thus conveyed to the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company was in the deed thereof described as follows:

"Real Estate situate in the City of Springfield, in the County of Clarke and State of Ohio, to-wit; a part of outlot Number 8 (8), old number five (5), beginning at an iron bar driven down at a point in the west marginal line of Spring Street as now opened ninety-five (95) feet more or less southwardly from the south side of Washington Street as now opened; thence southwardly along said west marginal line of Spring Street sixty-five (65) feet to a point where an iron spike is driven down; thence north eighty-nine degrees (89 degrees) west on the north boundary line of premises conveyed to A. D. Rogers by deed dated May 16th, 1887, by William White and wife and recorded in the Deed of Records of said Clarke County in Volume 87, at page 101, one hundred and forty-six (146) feet; thence north sixty-five (65) feet to the south boundary line of real estate belonging to the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company; thence east along said south boundary line one hundred and forty-six (146) feet to the place of beginning, being the same real estate acquired by the Ohio Southern Railroad Company (the predecessor of said company) by condemnation proceedings as recorded in the records of the Probate Court of said Clarke County in volume eight, at page 267."

The land thus conveyed to the Columbus, Springfield & Cincinnati Railroad Company was in the deed thereof described as follows:

"The real estate in the City of Springfield in Clarke County in the State of Ohio upon which said Company and its predecessors have heretofore constructed, maintained and operated a certain railroad track, the center line of which track is described as follows: From the intersection of the north line of Monroe Street with the west line of Linden Avenue measure northwardly along said west line of Linden Avenue three hundred and twenty-one and five-tenths (321.5) feet; thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of sixty-nine degrees and fifty-two minutes (69 degrees 52 minutes) one hundred and seventy-three and nine-tenths (173.9) feet for the place of beginning. Thence from said place of beginning northwestwardly at an angle to the left of seven degrees and four minutes (7 degrees 4 minutes) seventy-five and seven-tenths (75.7) feet, thence northwestwardly at an angle to the left of two degrees and twenty-six minutes (2 degrees 26 minutes) fifty (50) feet."

Subject, nevertheless, as to that part of the foregoing described property known as the Ohio Southern Division, being the portion of the railroad extending from Lima in Allen County, Ohio, to Rockwood in Lawrence County, Ohio, with a branch in Fayette and Madison Counties to Sedalia and a branch in Fayette, Greene and Clinton Counties to Kingman, to a certain mortgage or deed of trust dated June 1, 1901, made by the Detroit Southern Railroad Company to Central Trust Company of New York, as trustee, to secure an authorized issue of bonds aggregating in principal the sum of four million five hundred thousand dollars, payable March 1, 1941, bearing interest payable semi-annually, at the rate of four percentum per annum, under which mortgage bonds to the aggregate principal sum of $4,495,000 have been issued and are outstanding, and upon which interest is due from the said mortgagor since September 1, 1910; and also subject, as to certain portions of the equipment and rolling stock in said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage described, to the lien of certain car trust leases executed between the Detroit Southern Railroad Company and the Mercantile Trust and Deposit Company of Baltimore and others to secure payment of certain car trust notes or obligations not exceeding the aggregate principal sum of four hundred thousand dollars.

Second: The properties, including leases, which upon the exchange of certain depot property at or near Springfield, Ohio, hereinbefore referred to, were conveyed to the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company, and which properties, including leases, are described as follows:

"The following described Real Estate situate in the City of Springfield in the County of Clarke and in the State of Ohio, to-wit: From the intersection of the North Line of Monroe Street with the East Line of Limestone Street measure Northwardly along said east line of Limestone Street two hundred and fifty-seven and four-tenths (257.4) feet for the place of beginning. The first named Lessor above nevertheless reserves the right to construct and maintain across the above described Second Parcel a track in consequence of which there will be a crossing of said track with the track which said Lessee is to construct on said Second Parcel about two hundred and fifteen (215) feet East to Spring Street.

Together with the unexpired term thereof with the right, title and interest therein and thereto of the said The Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, subject to all the terms, provisions and agreements in said lease contained; and also all the right, title and interest of the said The Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company and the said Receivers thereof in and to that certain memorandum of agreement between the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company of the first part and The Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company of the second part, dated the 15th day of August, 1907, relating to and concerning the property described in the aforesaid lease."

Third: The locomotives numbered by the receivers of the said Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company as 88 to 91 inclusive and 100 to 119 inclusive, the last mentioned twenty locomotives subject however to an equipment lease from the American Locomotive Company.

Fourth: The following described small parcels of real property and the following described equipment, to wit:

The Gravel Pit property at or near Springfield, Ohio, described as follows:

Being part of Sec. 3, Twp. 4 Range 9 M. R. S. beginning at a stone planted as a monument at the S. E. corner of a certain tract of land conveyed to J. D. L. Snyder by Sarah E. Bechtle and others and recorded in Vol. 69, pages 2 & 3 of Clarke County Deed Records; thence S. 79 degrees W. 59.72 poles more or less to a stone monument at another of said Snyders corners; thence South 15 degrees E. 78 poles more or less to a stone planted as a monument on the north side of a street 40 feet wide running East & West; thence N. 79 degrees E. 59.72 poles more or less to another stone planted as a monument on the North line of said street; thence North 15 degrees W. 78 poles more or less to the place of beginning containing 29.48 acres of land more or less; and being the same real estate conveyed to said Charles O. Straub by deed of Charles A. Newcomb and others dated Jan. 9, 1907, and recorded in Vol. 155, pages 587, of deed records of said county.

The following described parcel at or near Waverly, Ohio:

Situated in the County of Pike, State of Ohio, and in the Twp. of Pee Pee and in Survey No. 490, beginning at a point in the Center of the Waverly and Beaver turnpike being a corner to the lands of Charles P. Schaussell, Henry Gorman, Henry B. McKenzie and the South Line of the Right of Way of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Ry. Co. thence South 75 degrees E. 67 poles with said Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Right of Way to a point in said line which is also a point in the westerly line of the N. & W. Ry. Right of Way; thence with the line of said Norfolk & Western Ry. line S. 82¼ degrees E. 8 poles; thence leaving said railway line S. 70 degrees W. 45 poles and 4 links to the S. E. corner of garden lot fence; thence with the line of said garden lot N. 9 degrees, E. 8 poles to the N. E. corner of said garden lot fence; thence with another line of said garden lot fence S. 70 degrees W. 19 poles and 5 links to the center of the Waverly and Beaver Turnpike, thence with the center of said Turnpike N. 7 degrees W. 34 poles to the place of beginning containing 8¼ acres more or less.

All the equipment described in the equipment leases to the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company from the Mercantile Trust and Deposit Company of Baltimore, Trustee, dated October 1, 1902, the lease from the American Locomotive Company dated September 15, 1909, and the lease from the American Locomotive Company dated January 14, 1911, in each instance subject to the terms of the particular lease in question.

Fifth: All other lines of railway and additional mileage of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company, and other property of any kind and nature which on May 2, 1905, was owned or held by said Railway Company or thereafter acquired by it by means of the said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage bonds, or with the proceeds of the sale or disposition thereof, or from the fund of two million five hundred thousand dollars mentioned in the recitals of the said mortgage and referred to in sub-division 4th of the description of the property mortgaged contained in the said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage.

The said Master Commissioner will accept no bid of less than $2,500,000, which minimum sum was fixed by the Court in the said decrees in order to prevent a sacrifice and to protect the interests of all concerned as the least sum for which the said property should be sold. He will not accept any bid unless the bidder shall forthwith place in his hands at the time of bidding, as a part of his bid and a pledge to make the same good if accepted and the sale confirmed, the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars in cash, certified check or certificate of deposit approved by the Master, which sum shall be forfeited in case the bidder, if successful, shall fail to make good his bid and comply with the terms of the said decrees and of any orders thereafter made as to future payments or otherwise. But the same shall be applied on the purchase price in case of such compliance, or returned in case the bid is not successful or the sale shall not be confirmed by the court. Nor will the Master accept a bid unless the purchaser shall, upon making his bid, pay to the Master for deposit in the registry of the said Court the sum of $11,769.80, or such other sum as shall be adjudged to be due to the Tiffin and Northwestern Railroad Company on the matters set forth in its intervening petition in the said suit; provided the said sum shall not have been paid by the receivers or other parties to the said suit prior to the said sale. If the bid of the purchaser is not accepted and the sale to him confirmed said last named deposit shall be returned to the purchaser; otherwise the said fund shall be held subject to such orders as the Court may make on the said intervening petition. The right of the court is reserved to reject any bid and to retake and resell the property or any part thereof upon failure of the purchaser to comply with any order of the Court as to the payment of the remainder of the purchase price or any part thereof, or upon failure of the purchaser to comply with any condition of the sale or any order of the court in that regard.

There shall be paid in cash of the price at which the said properties shall be sold in addition to the amounts paid at the time of the sale, such further portions of the purchase money as the court shall direct. The remainder of the purchase price may be paid either in cash or in claims payable under Article 3 of the said decrees, or in receivers' certificates payable under Article 3 thereof, or in the said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage bonds with overdue coupons thereof, or in Consolidated bonds with overdue coupons thereof, at such proportion of value as the holders thereof would be entitled to receive thereon on distribution of the proceeds of the sale in case the purchase price were wholly paid in cash.

All taxes and assessments upon the properties sold and all said receivers' certificates, and all claims payable under said Article 3 of the said decrees will be allowed out of the purchase money where the purchaser produces proofs of such liens and claims and receipts for the payment thereof, or surrenders such certificates. The Special Master will, in his discretion, accept, temporarily, instead of the actual delivery of the said bonds and coupons or receivers' certificates, the certificate of any trust company, satisfactory to him, that it holds the said bonds and coupons or receivers' certificates subject to the order of the said Special Master, and will deliver them to him on demand for cancellation or other disposition.

The said Master, in pursuance and by virtue of the decrees of foreclosure in favor of Knickerbocker Trust Company, complainant, made and entered by the said Circuit Courts of the United States in this advertisement of sale first mentioned, dated and entered on the same days and in the same places as the said decrees in favor of The New York Trust Company, complainant, will also at the same time and place offer for sale and in separate parcels all other lines of railway and additional mileage of the defendant Railway Company and other property of any kind and nature which has been constructed or acquired in whole or in part by means of said Consolidated Bonds or with the proceeds of the sale or disposition thereof; subject only to purchase money liens thereon as in said Consolidated Mortgage set forth, not including in said property, however, any property which is subject to the prior lien thereon of the said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage (all of which said property subject to said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage, is to be sold under and pursuant to the preceding provisions of this notice); one hundred shares of the stock of the Toledo Southern Railway Company and ten hundred and fourteen shares of preferred stock of the Ann Arbor Railroad Company, being certain property of the said Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company included in the mortgage or deed of trust from that company to Knickerbocker Trust Company, complainant herein, dated May 2, 1905, to secure certain bonds designated as Consolidated bonds. The Master will accept no bid for the said shares of stock from any bidder who shall not place in his hands or deposit with him at the time of making the bid, as a pledge that the bidder will make good his bid if accepted by the Court, the sum of twenty-five dollars per share in cash, certified cheque or certificate of deposit approved by the Master, which sum shall be forfeited in case the bidder if successful shall fail to make good his bid and comply with the terms of the said decrees, and any orders thereafter made as to future payments or otherwise; but which said sum shall be applied on the purchase price of the said stock in case of such compliance, or will be returned in case the said bid is not successful or the sale shall not be confirmed by the court. The right of the court is reserved to reject any bid and to resell the said stock, or any part thereof, upon the failure of the purchaser to comply with any order of the Court as to the payment of the purchase price or any part thereof, in cash or otherwise, as may be directed. If either the said properties, not, as aforesaid, subject to the General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage, or the said shares of stock, shall be purchased by or on behalf of the holders of the said Consolidated Bonds, the remainder of the purchase price over and above the amount in cash required to be paid at the time of sale, may be paid either in cash or in receivers' certificates, or in claims payable under Article 3 of the aforesaid decree of The New York Trust Company, or in said Consolidated Bonds and overdue coupons thereon, at such proportionate value as the holders thereof will be entitled to receive thereon respectively on distribution of the proceeds of such sale, in case such purchase price were wholly paid in cash.

Any person proposing to purchase at the said sale either the said railway properties or the said stock, is referred to the said decrees in this notice specifically mentioned, for a more full and complete description of the property, rights and franchises therein directed to be sold, which it is proposed to sell in accordance with the foregoing notice, and also for the terms and conditions upon which the sale of the said properties, rights and franchises shall be made. The said three decrees in favor of The New York Trust Company, complainant, are exact duplicates of each other, and the said three decrees in favor of Knickerbocker Trust Company, complainant, are exact duplicates of each other, and all of the said decrees may be found filed and recorded in the offices of the Clerks of the United States Circuit Courts at Detroit, Michigan, Toledo, Ohio, and Columbus, Ohio, respectively, and which are subject to the inspection of the public generally. Certified copies of the said decrees will be in the possession of the said Special Master at the time and place of sale and may be inspected by interested persons or bidders.

SURROGATE CITATION.

KING, MARY A.—The People of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent.—To EDWARD FARLEY, SAMUEL A. THORP, JULIA V. THORP WALL, JENNIE A. THORP BOHEN, and WALTER R. THORP, CARRIE FOOTE, JOHN B. SEDORE, ELIZABETH BROWN, and all the other heirs and next of kin of MARY A. KING, late of the County of New York, deceased, if any there be, whose names and places of residence are unknown and cannot after diligent inquiry be ascertained by the petitioner herein:

Send greeting: Whereas, MARY F. THORP of the City of New York has lately applied to the Surrogate's Court of our County of New York, to have a certain instrument in writing, dated the eleventh day of August, 1904, relating to both real and personal property, duly proved as the last will and testament of MARY A. KING, late of the County of New York, deceased, therefore, you and each of you are cited to appear before the Surrogate of our County of New York, at his office in the County of New York, on the second day of October, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend the probate of the said last will and testament.

And such of you as are hereby cited, as are under the age of twenty-one years, are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof we have caused the Seal of the Surrogate's Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed.

[L. S.] Witness, Hon. ROBERT LUDLOW FOWLER, a Surrogate of our said County of New York, at said county, the 2d day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

DANIEL J. DOWDNEY,
Clerk of the Surrogate's Court.

RUSSELL & PERCY, Attorneys for Executrix, 32 Nassau Street, New York City, N. Y.

LEGAL NOTICES.

SURROGATE'S COURT, COUNTY OF ORANGE.—In the matter of the application for letters of administration of the goods, chattels, and credits of JOHN MARSH, deceased.

In pursuance of an order of the Surrogate of the County of Orange, in the State of New York, made in the above entitled matter, notice is hereby given, according to law, to all persons having claims against the estate of John Marsh, late of the Town of Wallkill, in said county, deceased, and the creditors of his estate, that on the 18th day of September, 1911, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the office of the Surrogate of the said County of Orange, in the Village of Goshen, N. Y., I, the undersigned, intend to apply for letters of administration of the goods, chattels and credits of the said John Marsh, deceased, to be issued to me as sole administrator; and at that time and place I shall apply to have the amount of my bond as such administrator fixed at double the amount of the claims of creditors against the said estate, under the provisions of Section 2,664 of the Code of Civil Procedure of the State of New York, and that they are required to present such claims [illegible]

Dated [illegible], 1911.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES.

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT for the Southern District of New York.—In the matter of the application of JOHN P. GILBERT CO., JOHN B. WALKER, and CHARLES NEIDLINGER, that THE FERGUSON CONTRACTING COMPANY, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of New York, be declared an involuntary bankrupt.—Order to show cause.

Pursuant to the petition this day presented to this court by J. Van Vechten Olcott, Receiver for the above-named bankrupt, heretofore appointed by this court,

Let the Winston-Salem Southbound Railway Company, James Talcott, Scott Bros., Keystone Contracting Company, Magic City Construction Company, J. L. Culp, N. L. Lancaster, Carolina Portland Cement Co., The Whitney Company, Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke Company, E. I. Du Pont De Nemours Powder Company, Tucker & Carter Rope Company, D. H. Reeves, F. B. Littlejohn, L. W. Whitesides, C. P. Harmon, and McCrary & McCrary of Lexington, North Carolina, his attorneys, Overman and Company, V. Wallace & Son, Salisbury Hardware & Furniture Company, and all persons and corporations having or alleging any interest in the fund payable by the Winston-Salem Southbound Railway Company to the above-named bankrupt or to J. Van Vechten Olcott, Receiver of said bankrupt, as a result of the completion of two certain contracts between the Winston-Salem Southbound Railway Company and the bankrupt and a certain contract between J. Van Vechten Olcott as Receiver of the above-named bankrupt and the Winston-Salem Southbound Railway Company for the graduation and masonry on Sections 44 to 52, inclusive of the Winston-Salem Southbound Railway in the Counties of Davidson, Stanley, and Montgomery in the State of North Carolina, and all persons claiming or alleging any claim against the Winston-Salem Southbound Railway Company growing in any way out of the work aforesaid, show cause at a Stated Term of this Court to be held on the 23d day of August, 1911, or any day to which it may be adjourned in the United States Court House in the Post Office Building in the Borough of Manhattan, City, County, and State of New York, at the opening of court on said day or days, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and why the fund of $65,340.38 should not be paid to J. Van Vechten Olcott free from all liens and claims against the Winston-Salem Southbound Railway Company to be applied by the said J. Van Vechten Olcott as prayed for in said petition, and why the alleged liens of the E. I. Du Pont De Nemours Powder Company, the Carolina Portland Cement Company, the Virginia Iron, Coal & Coke Company, and all other alleged liens should not be disallowed and why an allowance should not be made to said Receiver and his attorneys in and about the completion of the said Winston-Salem Southbound Railway contracts, and why an injunction should not issue out of this court directed to the persons above named and all other persons, firms, and corporations restraining them and each of them from bringing any proceedings against the Receiver or the said Winston-Salem Southbound Railway Company on account of any matter or thing growing in any way out of the contracts aforesaid, and it is further

Ordered that notice of this motion be given by publication of this order twice a week until the 23d day of August, 1911, in The New York Times and the Winston-Salem, North Carolina, Daily Sentinel, and by mailing a copy thereof to every person above named, and to every known creditor of the bankrupt at the post office address stated to be his on the books of the bankrupt, or otherwise known, and by furnishing such persons as shall apply therefor with a copy of the petition and order herein, and it is further Ordered that notice of this motion be given by personal service in the usual way on all persons or parties who have appeared in this proceeding.

Dated New York, August 1st, 1911.

GEO. C. HOLT,
District Judge.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS

Acid Cylinders for University of Kansas Free—Other Decisions.

The University of Kansas was successful yesterday before the Board of United States General Appraisers in a contention regarding the classification of cylinders containing liquid sulphurous acid. The acid was imported by the University for scientific purposes. The customs officials admitted the acid free, but exacted duty on the cylinders on the ground that they are "unusual" coverings. Judge May states in his decision that the usual coverings of merchandise held to be free of duty are likewise entitled to exemption. The General Appraiser reaches the conclusion from the record in the case that the coverings are not unusual, and accordingly sustains the protest. The Surveyor is directed to reliquidate the entry in harmony with the findings of the board.

Another case involving the line of demarcation between usual and unusual coverings related to straw bottle covers or "jackets." They were imported by William Lanahan & Son. The straw covers were assessed for duty under Paragraph 463 of the Act of 1909, and claimed to be duty free or dutiable at the same rates as their contents. The local Appraiser made a report to the General Board in which he stated "in view of the fact that the majority of bottles imported at this and other ports are not contained in straw jackets, or covers, it would seem that such jackets have ceased to be usual coverings for bottles."

Judge May, in sustaining the claim of the importers and reversing the customs officials states that the goods to be dutiable under the provision for unusual coverings must be proved to be both unusual and designed for use otherwise than in the bona fide transportation of their contents. As the Government failed to convince the board that the jackets have any use after being separated from the bottles, the importer's protest is upheld.

The board has sustained in part claims filed by the Henry Neil Chemical Company, relative to chemical glassware. The merchandise includes measuring pipettes, etched with lines and flowers, and cuevettes, or absorption cells. Duty was assessed on the pipettes and cuevettes at the rate of 60 per cent. ad valorem as being blown and decorated. Both classes of merchandise were claimed by the protestants to be entitled to enter at 45 per cent as "manufactures of glass." Judge Sharretts holds that the pipettes are blown and ornamented and fall within the provision in the law for such goods. The cuevettes, however, he rules are not blown and should be allowed to enter at the rate of 45 per cent.

FIVE-HOUR ATTACK ON THE NEW CHARTER

Many Speakers Assail It at the Hearing Before the Legislative Cities Committees.

ALDERMANIC CHAMBER FULL

Too Much Power Given the Mayor and It Is Agreed He Should Be Removable—Only One Praises the Bill.

For five hours yesterday—at the first hearing in the Aldermanic Chamber of the City Hall before the Cities Committees of the Senate and Assembly on the proposed new charter for this city—the provisions dealing with the powers and functions of the Mayor, the Board of Estimate, the Board of Aldermen, the Borough Presidents, and the Commissioners of Accounts were under fire. During every minute of the hearing those Tammany members who have appeared as apologists for the Cullen-Foley Charter bill were on the defensive, and some of them showed their chagrin and vexation plainly by heckling those who appeared to oppose its passage.

Among the crowd which appeared scarcely one had a kind word to say for the proposed charter. In fact, there was only one and he was a man representing certain real estate interests, who in the last Mayoralty campaign came out as a strong advocate for the entire Tammany ticket. He spoke very briefly. All the others denounced the Cullen-Foley Charter bill as a backward step in the government of the City of New York.

Robert S. Binkerd, Secretary of the City Club, who was spokesman for that organization and other civic bodies in Queens, caused a flurry at the afternoon session by declaring that the charter bill was replete with jokers and offering to submit a list. The offer was not accepted. These were the points in the bill which came in for special criticism from almost every speaker before the two committees:

The requirement of the Mayor's separate approval of contracts for new subways.

The failure of the charter framers to provide any method for the removal of the Mayor, other elective city officials, and Borough Presidents, when found derelict in their duties.

The making of the Chairman of the Aldermanic Finance Committee—Tammany's leader in the Aldermanic board—a member of the Board of Estimate.

The bestowal on the Board of Aldermen of veto power over all sorts of appropriations.

The transfer to the Secretary of the Board of Estimate of the function of preparing the tentative budget and making it possible to leave the Controller out of the Board of Estimate Committee under the supervision of which the budget is to be prepared.

Giving the Mayor the power to order the destruction of city records.

Depriving the Commissioners of Accounts of the power to start investigations of city departments on their own initiative, and limiting them to action directed by the Mayor.

General objections were made to the provisions raising the salaries of the elective city officials during tenure of office, and it was urged that no charter contemplating a sweeping readjustment of the functions exercised by elective city officials should go into effect until after a new city election had been held.

Deputy Controller Douglas Mathewson, the first speaker, offered eleven amendments, dealing chiefly with sections of the charter having to do with city finances. He opposed the section rendering all issues of corporate stock subject to the approval of the Aldermen as a backward step that would retard public improvements, and recommended that the provisions in the present Charter under which the Board of Estimate may authorize such issues be substituted. He launched a spirited attack on the Mayor's absolute veto on transit contracts.

"The present Board of Estimate," said the Deputy Controller, "was elected to solve the rapid transit problem. The Mayor was not elected with the understanding that his separate approval of such contracts should be required. He was elected merely as a member of the board. The understanding of the voters was clear that this was a Board of Estimate matter, and it should be left with this board. I propose an amendment substituting the exact language contained in Sections 241 and 242 of the present Charter for this section in the proposed new charter."

Alfred R. Conkling, representing the Realty League, of which he is second Vice President, objected to the provision installing the Aldermanic Finance Committee Chairman as a member of the Board of Estimate. He also objected to giving to the Mayor, when absenting himself from the city, the right to designate for sixty days a member of the Board of Estimate or the head of some city department to act as Vice Mayor. Mr. Conkling thought that the designation, at most, should hold good for thirty days.

Frank C. Baker, representing the Brooklyn League, with allied organizations, opposed giving the Mayor absolute veto in transit matters.

"There ought to be some manner by which his veto could be overcome," said Mr. Baker.

"Why should we have in the New York City Charter a provision which does not exist in the charter of any other city in the State?" asked Assemblyman James J. Hoey, a strenuous Tammany advocate of the Charter.

"I believe such a provision should be in every charter, or perhaps incorporated in the general law," answered Mr. Baker. "All public officers should be accountable in some manner to a superior authority. I am not an advocate of the recall—I believe that would be going too far. But I think we ought to go back to the provisions of the present charter for the removal of the Mayor and other elective officials."

Mr. Baker voiced also the general objection that a charter taking away some of the powers of elective officials and shifting them to other officials should not be put into effect until after there had been a new city election.

Louis Windmüller, who said he represented the Chamber of Commerce of Queens, asked that the adoption of a new charter be put off for another year, that the present committees be continued, and that the Mayor be called upon to add some laymen to perfect the proposed charter.

"That would improve it, perhaps," he said. "Too many lawyers have been at work on it."

Assemblyman Foley pointed out that more than $100,000 had been spent in the last four years in an attempt to prepare a new charter for the city.

"A million dollars would be cheap if it would give New York City a sensible and a decent charter," Mr. Windmüller replied.

At the afternoon session the only man who had something to say in unqualified praise of the charter made his appearance. He was Joseph H. Schwab, representing the Real Estate Owners' Protective Association. He thanked the members of the two committees for giving the taxpayers an opportunity of voicing their views regarding the merits or demerits of [illegible] of the budget.

When Robert S. Binkerd, Secretary of the City Club, was heard, [illegible] became lively the moment he began. Mr. Binkerd took issue with the contention that the Mayor already had the absolute power of veto in transit matters under the present Charter and the Rapid Transit act.

"No Mayor has ever acted on the contention that the Rapid Transit act made his separate approval of contracts necessary," said Mr. Binkerd. "It is grossly improper to give to one man, who cannot be removed, insuperable power to determine the city's transit policy, thus taking it away from those who were elected for that purpose in the last city election.

"It is a very curious thing that these powers were not vested in the Mayor in the original so-called 'Gaynor' charter, but that only after the Mayor has found himself in dissent with a majority of the Board of Estimate, which up to that time had been considered to have power to act upon it, it is proposed definitely to confer upon him the power to prevent their action being effective by a dictum which cannot be overcome.

"What you are seeking to do in this charter is to annul to a large extent the result of the last city election, which was not a thing forced down your throat by Republicans up-State, but was the deep thinking of the people of this city in one of the most momentous elections ever held. If you are going to do this, it would only be fair to submit it to the people at a referendum before it takes effect."

Laurence A. Tanzer, representing the Citizens' Union, the last speaker, submitted objections in detail, covering largely the ground that had already been covered by those who had preceded him. He was asked to submit these in form of amendments.

"We have no amendments to submit," he replied, "because we know of no amendment or set of amendments which will cure the defects in this charter. It is so defective that it is not a fit instrument for the government of the City of New York."

"Then you are merely wasting the time of the committee," retorted Mr. Hoey angrily.

"If you have come here to jam through a charter I am wasting not only the committee's time but my own," said Mr. Tanzer.

The hearings were then adjourned until this forenoon, when the Finance and Law Departments will be considered.

The committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to present its resolutions on the proposed city charter is composed of James G. Cannon, Chairman; John H. Fleischer, Alfred E. Marling, John R. Dunlap, Julius A. Futeley, and Charles L. Bernheimer.

NO MORE PUBLIC CUPS.

Individual Glasses in Schools, Factories, and Hotels After Oct. 1.

The Sanitary Code ordinance, which comes into force in New York City on Oct. 1, abolishes drinking cups in public places and the hotels, public schools, railroad stations, and theatres.

Assistant Manager Stewart of the Waldorf-Astoria said yesterday that girls attired in white will be stationed near the four drinking fountains in the foyer to serve water in individual glasses to thirsty guests free of charge.

James B. Regan, proprietor of the Hotel Knickerbocker, said the fountains would be discontinued, and water will be served free in the restaurants and bar.

The managements of the Plaza, St. Regis, Gotham, Ritz-Carlton, Belmont, Manhattan, Astor, Rector's, Savoy, Netherlands, Martinique, Holland House, and other prominent hotels have adopted the same plan.

Individual drinking cups are to be obtained at the Pennsylvania Station by dropping a penny in the slot, and the same system will be carried out at the Grand Central Station.

Children will have to provide their own drinking cups at school. The theatres will discontinue the fountains, but retain the boys who serve water in the auditorium between the acts.

It is expected that the new sanitary law will be felt most in schools and factories, as it will be a violation of the law for any person to loan his or her drinking cup to another.

PICNIC OF WILSON BOOMERS.

Noted New Jersey Democrats Expected at Outing on Wednesday.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 21.—The annual outing of the Woodrow Wilson Democratic Club at the Inter-State Fair Grounds on Wednesday next will be largely attended.

Among the guests will be United States Senator James E. Martine, Congressman James A. Hamill of the Ninth New Jersey District, Prof. Winthrop M. Daniels of Princeton University and member of the State Board of Public Utility Commissioners; Col. William Libbey of the Faculty of Princeton University, ex-Mayor Frank S. Katzenbach of this city, who nearly won the Governorship four years ago, and Mayor Walter Madden, who will retire to private life to-morrow, when the new commission assumes the reins of City Government.

It is expected that the boom of Mayor Madden for the nomination for Sheriff will be formally launched at the outing. He will be unopposed for the nomination.

The Republicans will have a primary contest for the Shrievalty, as two candidates are already in the field. They are Assemblyman Charles S. Mather of Mercerville and former Assemblyman Bertrand L. Gulick of Ewing township.

WORD OF OVERDUE SAXONIA.

Cunarder Has Had Trouble with Her Boilers—In To-day.

Officials of the Cunard Line said yesterday that a wireless message had been received from Capt. Benison of the Saxonia to the effect that she had been having trouble with her boilers since leaving Gibraltar, and he expected to arrive at Quarantine at 8 A. M. to-day. The Saxonia was due here last Saturday, having sailed from Gibraltar on Aug. 7, but she could only make eight knots an hour at the latter part of the trip.

She has 24 first class, 80 second class, and 450 steerage passengers.

Jewish Worship in Gentile Church.

The Congregation Chaari Zedek will occupy temporarily during the coming Jewish holidays the edifice of the New York Presbyterian Church at Seventh Avenue and 128th Street. The Congregation Chaari Zedek is the third oldest Jewish congregation in the city, having worshiped here more than seventy years, and recently sold its property, which was at 38 and 40 Henry Street. A site for its new home is under favorable consideration, and plans for its erection are being prepared.

A MIX-UP OF MURPHYS.

Thomas, Using a [illegible] Potato as a Missile, Ropes More Murphys In.

Thomas Murphy, who labors at odd jobs and [illegible] in the neighborhood of his home, [illegible] Wyckoff Street, Brooklyn, announced to some of his friends several weeks ago that, inasmuch as he had always heard potatoes referred to as "murphys," he was sure that one of his ancestors, the Murphys of Ireland, must have discovered the first of those mealy mouthfuls; so he made it his proud custom to carry in his pockets and show off at every opportunity as a family emblem, two almost immaculate murphys of the vegetable variety.

Last night Thomas Murphy, with his two murphys walked into a candy store kept by Mrs. Elizabeth Murphy (unrelated to either Thomas or the potatoes), at 199 Hoyt Street, and asked for a package of cigarettes. When he got them, he started briskly out of the store. Elizabeth Murphy—in whom also courses some of the hot blood and martial spirit of the first discoverers of potatoes—was at his coat-tails in a moment, clamoring loudly for the price of the cigarettes!

Instead, Thomas Murphy turned around and taking deliberate aim threw one of his two murphys into one of the two eyes of Mrs. Murphy. Then Murphy and his remaining murphy whizzed out of the store and down Hoyt Street with Mrs. Murphy and a gathering mob of small boys close behind. At Bergen Street Policeman Peter Murphy added a further element of potato to the chase, and presently, a block further on, brought Thomas Murphy to the ground. It was all Policeman Murphy could do to keep Mrs. Murphy from transplanting Thomas Murphy to the sphere of his ancestor, the late lamented discoverer of potatoes.

The whole troop of Murphys—Peter Murphy, Mrs. Murphy, Thomas Murphy, and Thomas Murphy's murphy—were presently in the Butler Street Station, where Lieut. Thomas Murphy (who is absolutely unrelated to potatoes) happened to be on the desk. Thomas Murphy, a prisoner, boastfully admitted to Lieut. Murphy that he had thrown a murphy into the face of Mrs. Murphy, but said it served her right for having had the insolence to ask a Murphy to pay for cigarettes. He was locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The Man in the Tower Takes His Last Drop

FINAL CLEAN-UP SALE
All $25, $22.50 and $20 Suits now $14.50
All $40, $35 and $30 Suits now $20.50

It is the final fall in prices in the most fashionable clothes of the year.

The very last drop there will be in these suits this season—because there will be no more suits to drop.

You can wear many of them up to Thanksgiving—or later still if you are going South.

And you can carry them over and break in a new Spring with them.

We can't. The rules of the game wont let us.

It would be as embarrassing to us to be caught with one of these suits next Spring as it would be to the ordinary man to be caught without a suit.

Everything included except the evening clothes.

Imported and domestic weaves. Counterparts of the things the exclusive tailors—not the manufacturers—used this year.

And made expressly for the New York man.

Mixtures, blacks and blues, serge and flannels—still ample in variety but not too great in numbers.

It is a fashion event for the man that lies in wait or the man that's a little late.

For the man that can use a good thing at any time, it's a feast—but it wont come back.

It's the last drop.

Next Sunday's Times

will contain another amusing letter of

Pliny the Youngest on a Joy Wagon

The letters of this lineal descendant of the famous Plinys of ancient history have just been discovered by J. W. Foley. The first, published recently in The Sunday Times, was received with such delight that there is little doubt that a large following will await the second letter next Sunday.

The Pictorial Section will contain fine reproductions of the following:

Scenes in London's Big Strike.
First Encampment and Pageant of Girl Pioneers.
Russian Dancers Who Are Delighting Europe.
Well Known People at the Newport Dog Show.
Glacier Gives Up Relics of Party Ingulfed 41 Years Ago.
The Fatal Carlton Fire in London.
Aviators Pay the Death Penalty at Chicago Meet.
Well Known in Society.

And two full-page reproductions of paintings:
Greeting to the Republic (by E. Boutigny) and Expectation (by Josef Israels.)
